REFLECTING — Tom and Rosemary Starchild, at home in the San Anselmo apartment that symbolizes their return to society, look back on the years in which they dropped out and seek to explain the lessons of their years among the beatniks and, later, the flower children. One thing, Starchild noted the other day, is the achievement of independence of the social structure while functioning within it. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

EX-DROPOUTS BACK

'Communities, Not Communes'

By PATRICIA PERRY

In the beginning of the era of the flower children, Tom and Rosemarie Starchild dropped out of society. They lived in a commune in Hawaii, often hungry, always penniless, in their effort to escape from society.

They learned much, and have attempted to use their experiences since they dropped back into society two and a half years ago by enrolling in the College of Marin.

"We learned," reflected Tom in their apartment home at 32 Humboldt Avenue, San Anselmo, "that communes don't make it. Communities do."

"Communal living requires a very mature attitude towards living," explained Rosemarie, "there were 30 to 40 people in the commune, usually not more than 16 at one time, and everyone learned just how immature they are in regard to social relationships. It is very confusing . . . When people live in a family they have a definite role . . . In a commune you're not a father, or a mother, or a daughter or a son, you're confused about who you are supposed to be."

The Starchilds are now a very definite family with their 3-year-old daughter Amra. They have loved living in the hillside neighborhood of San Anselmo with friendly neighbors, and regret having to leave this fall when they transfer to Sonoma State to continue their architectural studies.

"The community is really the basic part of our thinking in architecture," said Rosemarie, "we want to design relevant homes, schools and parks that fit the way people really live."

The Starchilds completed their lower division work at College of Marin with the aid of the GI Bill (he was in the Navy for four years) food stamps, and expert budgeting.

Their income is $300 a month, plus $90 worth of food stamps for which they pay about $30. Most of the money goes on rent. They shop twice a month and call food stamps "real, no matter what people say about them."

"We learned when we were living in the woods in Hawaii how to shop," recalled Tom. "Someone would arrive with some money and we'd go down and buy 10 pounds of flour and 10 pounds of lard, things that would carry us the longest."

And Rosemarie — though finding it hard to support three in Marin on $360 a month — recalls when they lived alone in the hills of Hawaii, existing by scavenging the bushes for abandoned K-rations after Army maneuvers.

Even today after years of college in an affluent suburb, Tom, at least, looks like everyone's idea of a hippie. His hair is long, he sports the beads and beard and robes associated with the flower children (although he remembers he used to consider himself a beatnik).

They are a close couple, sharing the same interests and outlooks, even the same astrological sign. Tom describes their joint ambition to become architects as "an attempt to synthesize our lives, so it's not a compromise of just one of us doing what he or she wants to do."

Rosemarie admits there have been times when she's been

Ehrlichman, Haldeman Tied To Cover-Up Of Watergate

Mitchell Tabs Nixon's Top Aides As Involved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John N. Mitchell testified today that former presidential advisers H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman were among those who had an "active concern" last year in hiding the truth about Watergate and other criminal acts. (Another story, page 10.)

The former attorney general, during a third day of questioning by the Senate Watergate Committee, said he believed that both campaign and White House officials helped shield President Nixon from the full story of the "horrors" involving his subordinates. "Is it your impression that the President was being misled by that (White House) group just as you were misleading the President?" asked Samuel Dash, the chief committee counsel.

"I believe that would be, would certainly be, the impression I would have," Mitchell replied.

Mitchell, Nixon's campaign manager until two weeks after the June 17, 1972 bugging arrests at Democratic headquarters at the Watergate, said he had discussed the situation fully with Haldeman and Ehrlichman sometime last year, although he said he could not give a date.

"And there is no doubt in your mind that Haldeman and Ehrlichman were taking an active role themselves in attempting to keep the lid on?" Dash asked.

"They had a very active concern just as I did," Mitchell replied, contending that he didn't know in "what ways they participated in implementing it."

The committee, in its sixth week of hearings, met privately this morning to discuss whether to subpoena Watergate-related documents from the White House —documents that Nixon has said he will not provide. Further discussion on the subpoena question was postponed until the hearings recessed for lunch.

Both men —Nixon's closest confidantes until their resignations from the White House staff April 30 —have denied any knowledge of the affair until this past spring.

"You did speak to Haldeman and Ehrlichman in 1972?" Dash asked Mitchell.

"That is correct," he replied.

"And those discussions concerned how to keep the lid on?"

"There is no question we did discuss problems that would arise if those parties in the White House who were involved in some of these activities would come forward ... with all the information they had," Mitchell replied.

Shortly before the lunch break, Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., signed a document identified only as a communication for the White House.

A source close to the committee said it was a letter to the White House related to the committee's efforts to obtain White House papers on the Watergate. There was speculation that it represented an effort for a compromise on the issue.

Contrary to the sworn testimony earlier of ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III, Mitchell said he believed Dean did conduct a Watergate investigation for the President.

"Did you ever ask him?" asked Dash.

"I'm not sure I put it in the San Rafael Annex Plan Given Nod

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night tentatively approved a proposal to annex the Country Club tract to the city of San Rafael.

The commission's 3-to-1 vote was conditioned on receiving legal clearance from the county counsel's office on points raised by area residents opposed to the annexation.

The commission said the predominantly residential area must first be prezoned by the city and a special service district created to upgrade the water system to city fire department standards.

Voting in favor were Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., Arnold M. Baptiste, and Hugh G. Marchant. Commissioner Roy Farrington Jones cast the lone dissenting vote, while colleague Lawrence Mulryan was disqualified from voting because of his position on the San Rafael City Council.

According to Tracy Friedman, assistant executive officer to the commission, a standing-room-only audience in the county supervisors' meeting room appeared split 60-40 against the annexation.

Friedman said the county counsel's office will report next month whether the residents' legal concerns are valid.

The annexation was requested by Jane Levinsohn of 21 Lunada Court, who argued last night that the area needs city services, especially fire protection.

Currently first call fire response is provided by the county's grass fire truck stationed in Santa Venetia.

Both Baptiste and Arrigoni in endorsing annexation told the audience the county is not equipped to provide structural fire protection. The city is, they

Faire Environmental Report Is Challenged

Sonoma County filed suit yesterday in Marin Superior Court to halt plans for locating the Renaissance Pleasure Faire on the Veronda Ranch at the county line.

The suit attacks the environmental impact report submitted by Renaissance Centre Inc. and the Marin County Board of Supervisors handling of it. Sonoma asks the court to void Marin's approval of the report.

The Sonoma supervisors have opposed the project on 270 acres of the Charmaine Veronda Ranch next to Highway 101 at San Antonio Creek, saying Marin County will reap the benefits while the traffic problems fall to Sonoma County.

The fair is expected to draw 7,000 cars per day on the six weekends it operates in late summer and would cause "intolerable" traffic conditions in the area south of Petaluma, according to Sonoma County officials.

Traffic plans call for northbound patrons to travel to Petaluma, reverse direction and enter the site by traveling south on San Antonio Road. Plans also call for making San Antonio Road one-way to funnel all exiting traffic south on Highway 101 where northbound patrons would reverse direction at Novato. Sonoma supervisors have said they have no intention of cooperating by changing travel directions on San Antonio Road.

The suit directly challenges the environmental impact report on the project as accepted June 12 by the Marin supervisors. The suit charges that the firms that prepared the report were employed by Renaissance Center Inc. and that the report is "merely a self-serving document rather than an objective, unbiased analysis of the envi-

Judge Finds Bedayan To Be Sane

By GEORGE NEVIN

Brent William Bedayan, accused of gunning down three members of a Mill Valley family, today was found capable of understanding the charges against him and cooperating in his defense.

Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court made the finding at the end of an hour-long sanity hearing in which it was revealed Bedayan thought one of the murder victims was beaming "waves or pain" at him.

At the hearing's conclusion Broderick ruled that Bedayan is sane for the purposes of the trial, despite doubts of a Kentfield psychiatrist on the point.

Preliminary motions on jury selection for the case were to be held this afternoon with actual selection due to start at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Earlier, Dr. Bernard Bradman had testified that Bedayan is a schizophrenic paranoid who thinks that everybody, including Bradman and Bedayan's public defender, is a member of the Mafia, and "out to get him."

This delusion, Bradman testified, would make it "extremely

$1.5 Million Budget Adopted In Larkspur

The Larkspur City Council last night adopted a fiscal 1973-74 budget of $1,506,621, up $23,713 from this year's total of $1,482,908.

The new spending program will leave the city's tax rate unchanged, according to Asst. City Mgr. Harlan Barry.

It's expected, said Barry, that the council will set the tax rates at its Aug. 15 meeting at $1.98 per $100 assessed valuation for Larkspur (in the Larkspur Sanitary District) and $1.48 for Greenbrae (in Ross Valley Sanitary District).

Last night the council, which had already fixed salaries and materials and supplies budgets at earlier sessions, chopped $51,500 from the city's capital outlay spending.

Barry said councilmen turned down the Larkspur Library Board's request for $50,000 for buying land for a new library, and for a site study.

The council felt such a purchase would be premature, said Barry, because after the new Larkspur General Plan is adopted a capital outlay program for all public facilities will begin. The plan probably won't be adopted until later this year, since all cities have been given until next Jan. 1 for completion.

Also chopped from the budget was the park and recreation commission's request for $8,000 to improve tot lots on Los Sombras and Corte Morada, both in the county area of Greenbrae.

The book budget for the library was reduced from $20,000 to $14,000, said Barry.

The council added unlisted spending to the budget total, he reported, including $1,000 for air conditioning and $1,500 for a new public address system, both for the council chambers.

The council also voted to spend $8,000 on repairing sidewalks that have been damaged by the large "heritage" trees of Larkspur, principally redwoods. A sum of $2,000 was alloted for planting street trees in Larkspur's down town area, said Barry, with the city's park and recreation commission getting to choose varieties which won't eat up the sidewalks.

Barry said the combination of cuts from capital outlay, plus salary raises given to city employees, reduced the preliminary budget figure of $1,540,066 by $33,445.

Attorney In Voiceprint Case Hit For 'Coercion'

By LARRY MOWELL

A Marin Superior Court judge today angrily ordered the attorney for Stephen C. Chapter to stop subpoenaing prosecution witnesses for a $110 million lawsuit and criticized the filing of the suit on the eve of the bomb threat trial of Chapter.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Vernon F. Smith told Judge E. Warren McGuire his first wintess, Lt. Ernest Nash of the Michigan State Police, was served with a summons yesterday and said such actions have a "potentially coercive effect."

"To say the least, a $110 million lawsuit could have the effect of spoiling one's morning," Smith said. The judge, however, showed no levity, as he cut off the response of attorney Robert L. Moran.

The defense attorney labeled Smith's suggestion of coercion "improper conduct" and said Smith should have checked the purpose of the suit filed Friday in San Francisco before making the claim.

"He may have been relying on his common sense, Mr. Moran," the judge said. He called AIR DISASTER — Rescuers carry a body, wrapped in a white blanket, away from the wreckage of a Brazilian jetliner that crash-landed in flames outside Paris. The toll in yesterday's crash rose to 122 when one of the 13 survivors later died in a French hospital.

Paris Crash Pilot Hailed As Hero

SAULX - LES-CHARTREUX, France (UPI) — The pilot of a Brazilian Varig airliner was hailed today as a hero for the skilfully executed crash landing of his flaming airliner.

Rescuers who rushed to the wreckage in a lettuce field outside this Paris suburb said the victims died strapped in their seats, choked unconscious by fumes and then burned by the flames that started in a restroom and flashed through the aircraft, fed by the emergency oxygen system.

Firemen who brought out the blackened bodies said many were in the correct position for a crash landing—heads down and knees together.

Doctors fought today to save the lives of the seriously ill among the 12 survivors of the Boeing 707 jetliner. One survivor died in a hospital today, bringing the official death toll to 122.

All the survivors were crewmen. Among the badly injured was the pilot, Gilberto Araujo Da Silva, hailed by Frenchmen today as a hero for guiding the plane past rows of houses to a safe landing.

"He was nerveless—a hero," said one news broadcast.

The plane was only two miles —90 seconds flying time—from Orly Airport at the end of a 5,800 mile flight from Brazil when it ditched, "like a bomb," according to one witness, because of a fire which a survivor said started in a rear toilet, apparently as a result of a short circuit.

A local farmer who was among the first to reach the plane said: "I got into the cockpit and two crew members were unconscious in their seats, their faces black. The passenger compartment was silent."

"A fireman tried to get to the door but was beaten back by the smoke," another farmer said. "It was like a furnace. Then I covered my head with my shirt and got in... It was quiet in the passenger area and I could not see much for the smoke but I think they had been killed already, first by the smoke, then the flames."

The crash was the worst in France since June 1962, when an Air France Boeing 707 crashed on take-off from Orly Airport, killing 131 persons.

Varig said 117 of the victims were passengers, among them an entertainer, the highest ranking civilian politician in Brazil, a world champion yachtsman and the other four crew members.

One crewman was French, but the airline did not report any other foreigners on board. Most of the persons on the passenger list were Brazilian.

The jetliner was carrying 134 persons on a flight from Sao Paulo to Paris when da Silva radioed an emergency message to Orly airport saying, "There is trouble here with reactors." He did not explain what he meant.

With da Silva's emergency message, Orly officials swung into action, spraying foam on the runway and ordering firemen and ambulances to stand by.

"We have fire aboard," da Silva then radioed.

With that, Orly went on red alert. All airport traffic was stopped to let the crippled plane land. It never made it.

"He was only 90 seconds...-from the runway," one official said.

Hoffa Wants Union Presidency Back

DETROIT (UPI) — James R. Hoffa said yesterday he hopes to recapture the international presidency of the Teamsters Union, which he relinquished after he was jailed for mail fraud and jury tampering.

In order to do this, the 60-year-old former Teamster chief must first free himself from restrictions of the 1971 presidential commutation of his 13-year prison sentence. He had served 58 months. He said he plans to seek court relief in September.

Social Security To Increase Next Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Social Security benefits for almost 30 million Americans will increase by more than 5 per cent beginning in June 1974.

President Nixon signed the compromise legislation authorizing the benefits increase yesterday. The measure would also increase to $12,600 the maximum wage base on which social security taxes are imposed on wage-earners.

"The critical feature of this bill ... is an increase in social security benefits of more than 5 per cent next year in order to meet the rising costs of living," Nixon said in a written statement issued by the White House.

White House officials estimated that the benefits increase would range between 5.6 and 5.8 per cent, with the first checks to be paid in July of next year.

The legislation also provides:

—That the amount of money an individual may earn without a reduction in social security benefits would increase from $2,100 to $2,400 —effective next Jan. 1.

—Increased welfare benefits for more than six million aged, blind and disabled recipients. The increases, also intended to compensate for advances in the cost of living, lift the monthly payments from $130 to $140 for an individual and from $195 to $210 for a couple, starting next July.

—That states must supplement federal welfare benefits to make sure no recipient receives a benefit cut when welfare programs shift from state to federal operation at the end of this year.

The social security increase was attached to an amendment on a minor bill passed by Congress in the closing hours before it began its July 4th recess.

The measure was a compromise which the administration agreed to accept after threatening to veto a more generous version.

Nixon objected to one section of the new bill postponing until Nov. 1 the effective date of regulations, adopted by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), to limit the social services which states may provide under progorams requiring a federal reimbursement.

"As the Congress knows, neither I nor my predecessors have been able to accept such a 'coming into agreement' because it infringes on the essential responsibility of the President and the executive branch, and on the separation of powers doctrine," Nixon said.

In separate action yesterday, Nixon signed legislation extending temporary increases in railroad retirement benefits from June 30 until the end of this year. This measure also permits men with 30 years of railroad employment to retire at age 60 with full pension.

Governors Won't Back Power Grid

RAPID CITY, S.D. (UPI) — Governors of midwest states have backed away from hard decisions on what the government should do about the fuel and power problems troubling their areas.

The annual conference of midwestern governors, which wound up yesterday, was preoccupied through its four-day course with the energy crisis and the need in the Midwest to get enough fuel to keep agricultural machinery going.

But the governors, in final action, torpedoed a resolution by Gov. Arthur Link of North Dakota endorsing pending legislation to establish a nationwide power grid system to provide wholesale electric power at what Link called "reasonable rates and with the least impact on the environment."

Their reasons were much the same as for an earlier turndown of the resolution of Wisconsin's Gov. Patrick Lucey backing a pipeline to bring Alaskan oil across Canada to midwest terminals.

The governors said they felt they simply did not know enough about the problems and possible solutions to take positive action this year.

Link said of the energy grid plan that it would provide "an interstate highway system for electric power to regions that need it most."

Lucey said the governors voting against him may have had "other considerations."

But Gov. Daniel walker of Illinois told Link "I'm troubled by this resolution because I haven't done my homework." Gov. Richard Kneip of South Dakota said "I just don't have enough knowledge to know where this legislation is taking us."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Julie On Watergate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower, the President's youngest and most vocal daughter, says she believes that important information about the Watergate scandal was kept from her father by his top aides.

"We can all learn from Watergate," Julie told reporters yesterday. "Presidents will be more anxious to know what's going on now."

She made her comments when she greeted 200 members of the National Association of Farm Broadcasters and their families at a reception in the state dining room.

"I can't really condemn the fact that my father didn't know," she said.

Peron Honored

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President Hector J. Campora restored a general's title and uniform yesterday to former President Juan D. Peron, who was stripped of his military rank 18 years ago.

When the military overthrew Peron in 1955, they appointed a special court that found the former president "unworthy" of membership in the armed forces. He was stripped of his rank and uniform in absentia.

Peron has been addressed as lieutenant general since Campora, a protege picked by Peron for the presidency, took office May 25. But a decree signed by Campora made it official yesterday.

G.I. Records Burn

OVERLAND, Kan. (UPI) — Hundreds of thousands of military personnel records were destroyed early today in a fire that extensively damaged a huge building used for storing government documents.

Employees said the only personnel in the building at time of the fire were those working at computer center on the fourth floor. No injuries were reported.

The FBI and other federal agencies refused to admit reporters through the front gates of the U.S. Military Personnel Records Center.

Black Chief Named

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — The City Council approved the appointment of Lt. Edward Kerr as the first black police chief of New Jersey's largest city yesterday. The council had previously rejected Kerr's appointment four times.

Kerr, who has served as acting police chief during the past six months, said he was worried before the vote that if the council rejected him a fifth time, "there possibly could have been some kind of confrontation in the city's streets," although he said he hoped that would not happen.

Uruguay Truce

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — This capital's morning rush hour returned to normal today with full bus service carrying workers back to factories that had been closed for more than two weeks by a general strike protesting the new rule by decree government.

Workers went to factories that had held out long after the general strike had began to crumble.

The decision to drop the strike, on the condition that the government release arrested labor leaders, was reached last night. Union sources said the government agreed to released the detained persons.

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Fair will open Monday for a two-week run featuring the traditional flower show, vaudeville acts and pari-mutuel racing.

The fair will be open daily at the Santa Rosa Fairgrounds through July 28 from 10 a.m. to midnight. The fair carnival will open July 17.

The fair will be open daily at the Santa Rosa Fairgrounds through July 28 from 10 a.m. to midnight. The fair carnival will open July 17.

The scene at the hall of flowers this year will depict an abandoned saw mill beside a millpond formed by waterfalls and rapids. Loggers' huts and ceiling high evergreen groves, a tunnel and large cave will complete the decorations.

Motorcycle races are scheduled for July 17 and 25, along with a destruction derby on July 22 and professional rodeo July 26, 27 and 28.

Daily doubles will be features on the fourth and fifth races. Twelve races are scheduled daily, including nine thoroughbreds, two quarter horse and one appaloosa. A total of 144 races will distribute $401,160 in purses.

Free vaudeville acts will feature the Pearce Sisters, Lou Jacklich, Abbey Rasor Orchestra, Guy and Ralna of the Lawrence Welk Show, singer Glen Ash and the Duane Dancers.

Agency Sets Closed Talk On Shepherd

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency board intends to hold a closed meeting to discuss controversial remarks made by its executive director at a recent meeting in Tamalpais Valley.

Executive Director Wallace K. Shepherd, reported yesterday that several Marin City residents complained the night before to the board that he had been out of line in discussing alleged criminal activity and drug use in Marin City at a meeting of the Tam Valley task force in June.

That meeting was held to discuss the possible building of an access road from Tamalpais Valley to Marin City.

He said that the board indicated it would call a closed session, the date still to be set, to weigh the complaint against him.

Shepherd said that the board also decided to take up at that closed meeting proposals to extend soon to expire contracts of its legal counsel Leland H. Jordan and a real estate consultant Douglas Meyer.

Shepherd said he had recommended that Jordan's contract be extended through 1974 and Meyer's through next December.

The board also voted unanimously to conduct all future meetings at the new agency headquarters at 47 Paul Drive in the Northgate Industrial Park. Meetings will begin at a new time, 8:15 p.m.

So many residents crammed into Larkspur's city hall Tuesday night for a public hearing on a new slope and hillside ordinance that the Larkspur Planning Commission set a special meeting for Monday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Planning director John A. Roberto said more than 90 people showed up either to protest or to advocate the tough new regulations.

Cause of the controversy is an ordinance which covers all land with a slope of 10 degrees or more - in fact, a large percentage of hilly Larkspur.

Roberto said the proposed ordinance is designed to preserve Larkspur's "natural backdrop" by using it as a tool to implement the open space element of the city's new general plan. It's also designed to reduce the hazards of hillside development, he said.

Roberto said much of the commission's meeting was devoted to a staff explanation of the proposed ordinance. It revises the method of calculating the degree of slope of land, requires a use permit for all structures within 100 vertical feet of a ridgeline, and if the average percentage of slope exceeds 25 degrees, building will require a use permit, no matter what the zoning.

One major impact of the legislation would be to reduce drastically the number of units which could be built on hillside land. Roberto said that while the R-3 zone now limits construction to 21 units per acre, if the land sloped the number of units would be severely cut — by how much hasn't yet been calculated.

Only four members of the public had time to speak, said Roberto, and two spoke in favor of the ordinance, two against, so the commission set the special meeting.

In other business the commission discussed four items under the housing element which will be included in the general plan: Density, growth, a range of housing prices, and encouraging families. The commission will continue working on the housing element at its July 24 meeting at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

An application by Esther Dodge for a use permit for 37 extra trailer spaces during the summer months at the Golden Gate Trailer Court, 2000 Redwood Highway, was continued to the July 24 meeting for staff to check state regulations.

Water Firm Takeover Considered

Stinson Beach County Water District directors favor an agreement to acquire the privately-owned Stinson Beach Water Co., but want several matters, including price, settled to complete the deal.

According to director John L. Lones, directors Tuesday night decided to tour the company's facilities at 9:30 a.m. July 19 to get a clearer picture of the company's assets and to better assess their valuation, Jones said.

"Our hope is that we can get the agreement settled so it can appear in November as a local ballot proposition," Jones said.

No cost figures are available, Jones said, adding that that is one of the areas of contention between district directors and the private firm.

In other action, directors hired Rick Beban of Stinson Beach as part-time public information officer at a salary to be determined and set 7:30 p.m. July 19 to hear a report from an engineering firm on the feasibility of a sewage treatment and disposal plant planned for Stinson Ranch. The meeting will be at the district office.

Cluchette Wins Hearing Delay

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A parole revocation hearing for John Cluchette, one of the "Soledad Brothers," was postponed indefinitely yesterday.

The hearing was put off while officials considered Cluchette's request that he be represented by an attorney. He was arrested two weeks ago after police came into posession of a photo showing him carrying guns, a violation of his parole terms.

The hearing could return him to prison to serve the remaining two and a half years of a 10-year burglary sentence.

Cluchette and two other black inmates, Fleeta Drumgo and George Jackson, were charged with killing a guard at Soledad Prison, and became a cause for black militants.

That led to the Marin County Hall of Justice gun battle and the trial of Angela Davis. Jackson was killed while trying to escape from San Quentin. Drumgo and Cluchette were acquitted of the guard's murder.

Cement Grinder Is Stolen From Site

An electric cement grinder of unknown value was stolen from a San Rafael construction site, police report.

Police said the mixer was taken from the Herrero Brothers work site at 1327 Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael between 4:30 p.m. Monday and 6:45 a.m. Tuesday.

Nixon Ignoring TV Watergate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is proceeding with the work of his office and devoting little time to developments at the Senate Watergate hearings, a White House spokesman said today.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, describing the President's mood as "good," said Nixon was not watching the Senate hearings on television but was getting written summaries prepared by his aides.

"The President is at work ... he is working on a number of subjects —the economy, a Cabinet meeting yesterday ...," Warren told White House reporters, adding: "I don't think I can come out and give you his temperature everyday."

Warren declined to comment on a recent Gallup poll finding that about 70 per cent of those questioned, believed Nixon was not disclosing all he knew about the Watergate affair.

Nixon has gone about his business at the White House since he returned Monday from an extended stay in California, spending much of his time working on his Phase IV economic program.

Warren ruled out an announcement on the new economic controls this week, but said he expected a presidential statement "relatively soon."

If he follows his pattern, Nixon may head for his Camp David, Md., mountain top retreat this weekend where he may make his decisions on curbing inflation in solitude.

Reporters pressed in vain for comment yesterday on testimony by former Attorney General John N. Mitchell that information was withheld from Nixon on the Watergate affair for fear it would hurt the President's re-election chances.

Mitchell's testimony is in line with Nixon's May 22 statement that he had no prior knowledge of the Watergate break-in and bugging or the subsequent coverup.

While Nixon's personal involvement was played down, he had at his command a team of six lawyers, headed by Leonard Garment and J. Fred Buzhardt, who were handling all legal aspects of White House involvement in Watergate.

Warren disclosed yesterday that former Presidential aides under investigation in the Watergate affair are no longer permitted to copy documents they worked on while they were at the White House.

He said that the new order against copying the documents went into effect May 23.

"They can come in and peruse papers on which they worked but they can't copy in any way," Warren said.

The new rule, Warren said, was to protect the confidentiality of Presidential documents.

It directly affected ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III and former aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman. The files of the three were placed under FBI guard April 30 but up to May 23 they had been allowed to copy papers needed for their appearances before the federal grand jury and Watergate committee.

TRIAL

Nash, whose voiceprint identification is the only evidence linking Chapter, the 28-year-old former telephone installer, to the bomb threat phoned in Feb. 1, 1972, to Pacific Telephone Co., was then recalled for further cross-examination by Moran.

Moran has quizzed Nash closely hoping to find crippling errors in his technique of voice identification. The defense in the trial without jury is trying to convince McGuire that the voiceprint technique is not accurate and that Nash and an assistant made mistakes, including misidentifying words and sounds on the tapes of Chapter's voice.

However, in testimony yesterday, Nash said he was certain Chapter made the two telephone threats that cost him his job with the telephone company.

The definite identification, he said, was based only on his original comparison of voiceprints of the bomb threat from a work order Chapter called in shortly after the threat was made.

A later test of different recordings produced a different result, Nash testified. The lieutenant said he compared the bomb threat with a court ordered recitation of the threat by Chapter and the same words spoken by a phone company investigator and two deputy district attorneys.

On Friday, he called Smith with a progress report. "Tentatively, it looks like it could be speaker number four," Nash said, but number four turned out to be Deputy Dist. Atty. John D. Posey Jr.

Smith, Nash said, told him it was not number four and the lieutenant completed the tests on Monday. He then concluded that number one, the recording of Chapter's voice, was "in all probability the one."

Nash said he then had his conclusion verified by Dr. Oscar Tosi, a professor of audiology at Michigan State University. The professor, whose studies are the basis for the claim that voiceprints are as accurate as fingerprints, was to testify this afternoon.

Nash explained that a positive identification requires 10 pairs of common sounds and less than 10 means a probable identification that would require further samples of the voice to verify.

In the Chapter work order tape, he said, he found seven sounds in common with each of the two bomb calls for a total of 14, but found fewer than 10 in the former installer's recording of the bomb threat.

He said the problem in the second recording was that Chapter "disguised" his voice by speaking rapidly and in a low tone. Nash conceded, "it is possible to prevent yourself from being identified if you disguise your voice."

However, he said, "the work order tape is a natural speaking voice."

Chapter was charged in September after Nash and his assistant, State Trooper Malcolm E. Hall of Michigan, had compared his voice and those of 17 other installers to that of the threatener. Chapter was then fired.

The calls were made to a phone used by installers to call in work orders.

ronmental impact."

The suit also charges that Marin violated the Environmental Quality Act of 1970 by not giving the general public or other interested public agencies adequate notice of the impact report hearing.

Prentice A. Fish, deputy Sonoma County counsel, said the suit may later be amended when Marin County actually grants a use permit for the project. He said Sonoma officials will oppose the permit request in every upcoming hearing before both the Marin County Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors.

Fish had originally considered filing the suit in a neutral county such as Napa, but decided a Marin County action would be more convenient for both sides. "The decision will be as fair in Marin County as anywhere," Fish said. "The Marin court system is above reproach."

The Marin county counsel's office is scheduled to reply to the complaint by Aug. 11, but Fish said a time extension may be permitted if the use permit decision is not made by that time.

Sonoma officials have also complained that development of the rolling countryside will spawn unwanted development in the area. In addition to the Renaissance village, the New World College West plans to locate its campus on an adjoining 200 acres of the Veronda Ranch.

The proposed annexation now goes to the San Rafael City Council for its approval, and ultimately to an election by the area's 500 registered voters.

The annexation proposal can be killed immediately if written protests are received from property owners representing 50 percent of the area's assessed valuation.

In other action last night, the commission rejected a request from the city of San Rafael that a one-year deadline for annexation of the Chin Ho and Black Canyon properties be extended. The deadline elapsed today.

tempted to quit school — the times, for instance, when they had to hitchhike to the temporary child care center at Greenbrae School with Amra, then hitchhike to the Kentfield campus, then hitchhike back to collect their baby daughter.

"But at the same time, I could see my quitting would separate our whole trip. And you don't need too much besides a place to live and food and friends."

The Starchilds — both originally from Marin — lived in Hawaii for five years, and for a while did light shows with mainland rock bands.

Why did they drop back into the mainstream again?

"We found out you can't get too far away because society starts coming after you," said Tom. "And education is necessary for mobility. People decide how far you can move in society by your education. After 10 years on the fringe, we figured we would be able to live the way we wanted."

Both artists, they've gravitated towards architecture because they feel they can use their experiences and long-developing philosophies in designing.

Asked if they didn't resent the loss of independence inherent in asking strangers for money or food in their hippie days they countered that they resent being dependent on conglomerates like Pacific Gas and Electric.

"We should work on independent systems, solar energy, different kinds of heating and cooling systems. Not hooked up to a nationwide system — that's where the hidden dependency of society breaks the surface."

The Starchilds were concerned when they started junior college that they might be too old. He's now 33, she is 29.

"I thought it was going to be a big gap," said Rosemarie, who attended San Rafael High School. "But College of Marin has such a variety of ages it never was a problem."

It was difficult, said Tom, "to turn my trip around from active to receptive ... in the world you always have to come on as if you know everything, at school you're there to say I don't know, tell me."

And Rosemarie said they found they had an active role to play in junior college: "It was almost part of our duty to share our experiences; more and more teachers are open to students giving them feedback."

Their experiences have taught them tolerance and patience above all, agree the Starchilds.

"We realized the scale of change," said Tom. "If I want to make some significant change in my behavior it may take six months. I realized I tended to expect it not to take any longer for a city or county to change, while, of course, it would take years. It's part of being mobile inside your perspective."

This semester Rosemarie was awarded scholarships by the Colleges of Marin Foundation and Women in Construction; she's pleased because it's the first time she's been able to make a contribution to their education. Next June, Tom's G.I. Bill runs out, but they're confident they can continue right through graduate school with loans and grants and scholarships.

"At first our parents thought we'd never keep it up," said Rosemarie. "Now they expect us to."

After questioning Frank J. Cox of the Marin Public Defender's office, Broderick said he is confident Bedayan trusts Cox enough to cooperate in his defense.

The 22-year-old Bedayan, a former lifeguard, is accused of gunning down Daniel Schallock, his father, Melvin J., 61, and his mother, Ruth E., 56, outside their Mill Valley home early on March 16 and then setting the house afire.

Tires, Wrench Are Taken From Station

Two tires and an impact wrench valued at $220 were stolen from Hook's Exxon Service, 902 Irwin Street, San Rafael, according to a police report.

Police yesterday said the thief entered the station between 6:45 p.m. Monday and 7:30 a.m. Tuesday through a window which owner Raymond D. Hook said had been previously broken and boarded shut.

Danes' Road Toll

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — More than 1,200 persons died in traffic accidents on Danish roads in 1972. A privately-run Committee for Greater Safety has demanded annual checkups of all automobiles and abolition of taxes and tariffs on materials used for auto safety.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Nelson Succumbs On Visit

Hazel Nelson of Novato, a teacher at Ross School, died Monday in a Kern County Hospital after collapsing in Bakersfield.

Mrs. Nelson and a friend, Virginia Shattuck, had left Marin the same day on a trip through the Western states.

A native of Byron, Neb., she had lived in California 30 years and in Marin County 25 years, residing at 178 Marin Valley Drive.

Mrs. Nelson had been a primary teacher at Ross School for 20 years. Prior to that, she taught in the Mill Valley School District. She was a graduate of the University of Nebraska and received her master of education from California State University at San Francisco.

She was a member of the Marin Chapter of the American Association of University Women and the Bay Area Council of the California Teachers Association.

She is survived by two brothers, Glenn Frye and Eugene Frye, both of Kansas and a sister, Fern Gillette of Westlake Village, Los Angeles County.

No funeral is planned.

BUGGING

form of that type of question," Mitchell replied. "We did have such a discussion and he said he had been in discussions with Haldeman and Ehrlichman but had not made a direct report to the President. He was going through Haldeman or Ehrlichman —one or the other, I don't recall which."

Last Aug. 29, Nixon announced that an investigation by Dean made at his request had indicated that no one in the White House or his administration had been involved in the Watergate affair. The White House later acknowledged there had been no such Dean report.

"He (Nixon) made that statement, as I recall, as having to do with the involvement of people in the White House with respect to prior knowledge or participation in the break-in at the Democratic National Committee," Mitchell said. "That statement, I think, was factually true at the time he made that statement so far as the information he had."

Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, challenged Mitchell's assertion that Nixon had "lowered the boom" on those involved in the scandal once he found out the truth. Mitchell said that both Haldeman and Ehrlichman had been swept from office.

"Oh, they were not removed, sir," Inouye said. "They submitted their resignations, and the President in accepting them with great reluctance praised them to the highest."

"I have a different interpretation of that, senator," Mitchell said.

"I just cannot see much evidence of this boom being lowered on any alleged participants in this tragedy," Inouye said sharply.

Mitchell said he had not talked with Nixon since a meeting March 22 in the White House Oval Office, which also was attended by former top White House aides.

Mitchell said, however, that he has had social contacts or "condolence calls" from persons close to Nixon, including the President's personal secretary Rose Mary Woods and multimillionaire Robert H. Abplanalp, the President's friend.

Dash asked if Mitchell ever had received promises of executive clemency.

"I hope, Mr. Dash, that with respect to matters in New York" —where Mitchell is under indictment —"the answer is absolutely not. With respect to matters down here, I trust it isn't necessary. The answer to the question is absolutely no," he replied.

Mitchell said he is aware only the President can grant executive clemency, and added he recalled that convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt sought executive clemency through former White House aide Charles W. Colson.

"My recollection was that Mr. Colson would exercise his best efforts to ensure executive clemency for Hunt," Mitchell said. "I believe my recollections were that there were assurances that Mr. Hunt would have executive clemency."

White House troubleshooter Richard A. Moore, who in high school played ice hockey with Mitchell, was summoned to follow Mitchell to the witness table.

MARION MacVICAR

Marion W. MacVicar, a Belvedere resident since 1943, died at Marin General Hospital after a period of failing health. She was 82.

Mrs. MacVicar was born in Woodbury, N.J., and spent much of her early life in Cambridge, Mass., where she married the late Guy M. MacVicar. They had four children.

The family traveled across the country seven times during MacVicar's job transfers until he became director of recruitment for Marinship in Sausalito in 1942.

Mrs. MacVicar was a homemaker for her family but served as an airplane spotter and field hospital worker for the civil defense in Sausalito during World War II. Many East Coast friends visited the family in their Sausalito and San Francisco home before going overseas in the Pacific.

The family settled in Belvedere after the war and Mrs. MacVicar became a friend to the many children living on Cove Road near their home who knew her as the "Cookie Lady."

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Frederica Hildreth of Mill Valley, Mrs. Charles Lindsay of Belvedere and Mrs. Ross Ashley of Greenbrae; a son, William MacVicar of Portland, Ore.; a sister, Mrs. Arthur Campbell of Orleans, Cape Code, Mass.; a brother, James C. Whyte of Wilton, Conn.; 16 grandchildren, and three great grandchildren.

Memorial services for Mrs. MacVicar will be held tomorrow at St. Stephen's Church in Belvedere at 4 p.m. Memorial contributions may be sent to St. Stephen's Church which Mrs. MacVicar served as a member of the church guild.

GUNWAL O. GULLIKSON

Gunwal O. Gullikson of San Rafael, a native of Norway and a construction worker who helped build both the Bay and Golden Gate bridges, died yesterday in a local hospital. He was 73.

He moved to Bismarck, N.D., at the age of 5, and lived there with his family until he joined the Marine Corps at 23.

He served with the Marines in many parts of the Pacific, and most extensively in China, where he did guard duty on the Great Wall of China.

After discharge from the Marines at the age of 27, he did not return to North Dakota, but settled in San Francisco in order to be close to the sea which he loved.

He moved with his wife, Alvina, to their home at 2254 Fifth Avenue in San Rafael five years ago.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Lorraine Simmonds of Novato; three sisters, Helen Sullivan of Denver, Annettte Suniga of Bakersfield, and Bessie Walseth of Washington; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral will be tomorrow at 1:30 at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be private.

THEONE TRICE

Mrs. Theone Trice, 42, a 33-year resident of Marin County, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness.

She and her husband Bobbie E. Trice, an employee of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph, had lived at 1250 Cambridge Street in Novato for 15 years. They had also lived in Mill Valley.

A native of San Francisco, she had spent all her life in California.

She was a member of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Novato.

She is survived by her husband, a son David E. Trice of Novato, her mother Mrs. Louis F. Flor of Healdsburg and her father, Matthew P. Rawlings of Redwood City.

Funeral is Saturday at 11 a.m. at Russell and Gooch Funeral Home in Mill Valley. Burial is to be private.

The family has requested that memorial contributions be made to Good Shepherd Lutheran Church.

Dixie School Budget Cuts Tax Rate

The Dixie School District board last night approved a $4,976,000 publication budget for 1973-74 and set a public hearing on the spending program for 8 p.m. Aug. 1 in the district office.

The budget is expected to require a tax rate of $3.98 per $100 of assessed valuation, down 40 cents from last fiscal year's $4.38 tax rate, according to Supt. Clifford W. Campbell.

The budget does not include a $577,000 reserve fund now in district coffers, Campbell said.

Campbell said the board approved the publication budget after granting 5 per cent pay raises costing $16,000 to district administrators, including junior high vice principals and principals, the personnel director and music coordinator, and kindergarten through sixth grade principals.

Also given a 5 per cent pay boost were the district's two psychologists, he said. Trustees decided to abolish the previous pay schedule for psychologist Jack Danielson, instead setting his annual pay at $20,848, and for psychologist Al Carr, setting his annual pay at $21,348, Campbell said.

Only the salary increases for Joseph Goff and Raymond Riley, assistant superintendents, and for Campbell, were left undecided, according to Campbell. The district will pay for salary boosts for the three out of reserve funds, Campbell said.

Other district personnel have already been given salary increases, funds for which are included in the publication budget, Campbell said.

The publication budget is designed to accommodate fewer pupils — 4,180 next fall as compared with 4,381 this month — and calls for the equivalent of only 185.4 full time teachers compared with 196 this year, he said.

Family Tells World Of Pride in Co-ed

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — When Debbie Lowe of Orlando, Fla., won the Miss Auburn election at Auburn University, her parents wanted the world to know how proud they were.

A billboard was erected at the Auburn city limits extending congratulations from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David M. Lowe, and her brothers and sisters.

State Rejects Tuition Plea By Dixie Parents

A request by the parents of a Terra Linda student that the Dixie School District pay the tuition of their son at a private school has been rejected by the state Dept. of Education, the district board learned last night.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell said the parents of Jeffrey Pitto had appealed to the state after the Dixie board rejected their request for payment, made because they did not consider the "educationally handicapped" program at Vallecito School suitable for their son.

(A new state law provides payment of private school tuition in cases where public school programs are ill-suited for a student's educational difficulties, with local districts paying what it would cost to provide a public school education.)

Campbell told the board last night that the state had rejected the Pittos' appeal of the board decision not to provide such tuition. The county board of education had also denied the request, according to Campbell.

The Dixie School District board also:

ORGANIZATION — Elected trustee Patricia Gryson board president, trustee Ruth Rosen vice president, and Campbell as board secretary.

MEETING — Said the board will meet on the second and fourth Wednesday of the month, as has been past practice.

APPOINTMENTS — Said trustee Coral Kay Beckman will be district representative on the Marin County School Boards Association, and nominated former Dixie trustee Dorothy Brown as delegate to the state school board association assembly.

MANAGERS — In accordance with state law, said 16 district administrators hold management positions.

GIFTS — Accepted a $4,843 gift from the Lucas Valley Home and School Club for Lucas Valley School; $580 from the Mill Creek Parents Club for Miller Creek School, and $337 from the Lucas Valley Student Council for Lucas Valley School.

PAINTER — Hiked the district painter's salary from $11,532 to $11,936, a 3.5 per cent increase.

PERSONNEL — Authorized employment of 79 classified employees for 1973-74.

SANTA MARGARITA — Announced receipt of $20,019 in state funding for the early childhood education program at Santa Margarita School.

LIBRARY — Said $5,000 will be spent for library expansion at Don Timoteo School.

ENRICHMENT — Approved a $400 tab for enrolling up to 40 district youngsters in the College of Marin's gifted student program.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. July 25.

CHICAGO, (UPI) — For Americans, this could be the 6,000th year of the dog.

Anthropologists, according to Encyclopardia Britannica, estimate that dogs were known in North America about 4000 B.C. They were migrants from Asia.

When the white man arrived, about 5,500 years later, they brought their own dogs but every Indian tribe already had them.

Fuel Still Hard To Find After Dark

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The general situation for gasoline supplies is considered improved but night closings are still a problem, the California State Automobile Association reported today in its weekly forecast of gasoline availability in California and Nevada through July 19.

Daylight drivers should have no difficulty if they keep their tanks above the half-full mark according to the report. Night and Sunday closings continue to be common.

Adequate supplies are reported for the San Francisco Bay Area but nighttime closings in suburban areas remain critical to night drivers.

Travelers on Highway 101 and Shoreline Highway should have no daytime problems but extreme caution is urged at night for the areas north of Santa Rosa and south of Salinas.

The same good daytime and poor nighttime conditions exist on Interstate 5 and Highway 99 with a brighter picture seen in Stockton where supplies are said near normal.

Highway users going to Lake Tahoe and Nevada are cautioned to exercise care at night in these areas and are advised not to depend on Sacramento and Stockton outlets for a fillup in the evening.

Stations which are open 24 hours in Nevada are on the increase according to the report. However the distances between towns in Nevada remains a primary consideration in nighttime driving the report said.

Tournament Set: Pong For Pot

A benefit Pong tournament - an electronic volley pinball game requiring contestants to out-blip each other - will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at MacArthur's Spirits, 218 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo.

Proceeds from the tournament will benefit California Marijuana Decriminaliation Corp., a non-profit organization, according to the group's co-chairman, Robert J. Markham of Fairfax.

Prizes donated by local merchants will be offered to contestants best able to manipulate knobs on a television-like screen that direct light rays at electronic dots, he said.

Compromise Offered; Bus Fare Hike Asked

A committee of Golden Gate Bridge District directors today offered a new compromise to Marin County Transit District for local bus service costs.

The finance-auditing committee at the same time appealed to the county's transit district to raise local bus fares from 25 cents to 35 cents.

At issue is a $742,000 bill from the bridge district for bus services within Marin that previously were estimated to cost $606,000. County transit district directors voted Tuesday to pay $50,000 of the $136,000 difference, but only on condition that there be no future charge for local passengers riding trans-bay buses.

The cost of this service was $171,000 last fiscal year.

The unanimous committee vote today was to accept the $50,000, but to collect the remaining $86,000 during the coming fiscal year.

Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum, a director of both the bridge and transit districts, said he will seek the transit board's agreement to pay the $86,000 as well.

The net result would be the county would pay the entire 1972-73 bill for local passengers on trans-bay buses, and nothing for the service in the new fiscal year.

Wornum said, however, he would be very reluctant to raise the local bus fare.

The committee's recommendation will go to the full board at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the toll plaza offices.

Marin Man Gets Highway Position

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan today appointed Marin Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere to a four-year term on the State Scenic Highway Advisory Committee.

Also appointed to the committee, which decides which state routes should be designated as "scenic highways," was James L. Sample, a Los Angeles billboard company executive.

Roumiguiere will receive no salary in the post, but will be reimbursed for expenses.

A 10-year-old Novato girl was the victim of indecent exposure about 5:30 p.m. yesterday in the street in front of Novato High School.

According to police reports, the man was sitting in a van-type truck, white over blue. He was described as a caucasian with brown curly hair, blue eyes, a mustache, about five feet, eight inches tall and weighing about 200 pounds.

Record Shark

Cotati May Exchange Sewer Plant Property

The Cotati Parks and Recreation Commission last night agreed to recommend that the city trade its old sewer plant property for a ten-acre park site.

Chairman Lee Gray said representatives of Morehouse Inc. have offered 10 acres of land on Myrtle Avenue in exchange for the nine-acre sewer plant land.

Mrs. Gray said the commission has been considering the Morehouse property for a park but thought it too expensive. She said the commission will urge the city to negotiate with Morehouse at the city council's July 19 meeting.

The city property, used as a corporation yard since Cotati sewage is processed at the Rohnert Park treatment plant, is adjacent to Morehouse headquarters in Rohnert Park.

Morehouse wants the property for a lake, tennis courts and recreation area, according to Mrs. Gray.

Commission members agreed the Myrtle Avenue land would make a better park, since it is more accessible to residents. There is also less traffic there than at the sewer plant property.

In other business, the commission decided to ask the city council on July 19 to establish a fund for a swimming pool in the Holiday Park area. Residents of that neighborhood told commissioners that several persons are willing to make large contributions toward a pool.

SUMMER ESCAPE — Rollicking youngsters romp at McNear's Beach as their parents soak up sun on the grass surrounding the pool at the county-operated bayfront park. Large weekend crowds, sometimes reaching 2,500 persons, often make grassy spaces precious as the summer ripens and Marinites seek some cool escape.

McNEAR, PARADISE BEACHES

Wall-To-Wall People In Parks

By PAUL LIBERATORE

On any hot weekend in Marin, wall-to-wall people jam the county's two bayfront recreation areas, McNear and Paradise Beach parks.

Weekend attendance during June at McNear Beach was up 50 percent over the previous June and up 10 per cent at Paradise Park, according to county parks and recreation department figures.

Those figures, however, do not tell the full story, according to James Vande Weg, assistant director of the department, because the first few weeks of June are not traditionally marked by high use, thus suggesting a heavier crunch to come.

For example, on the Fourth of July more than 2,500 sweltering Marinites crowded McNear Beach and another 2,000 left hardly a blade of grass uncovered at Paradise.

"When it gets that crowded, I don't see how people can even enjoy themselves," said Vande Weg.

McNear Beach can comfortably accommodate about 1,500 persons per day, although it has held its maximum, about 2,500. Paradise Park, designed for 500 patrons, should not squeeze in more than 1,000, Vande Weg said.

Parking at both places is limited. Although no one is turned away, parking, or the paucity of it, keeps crowds from exceeding the limits the parks can hold, according to Pierre W. Joske, parks and recreation director.

Oversize crowds, in addition to reducing visitor enjoyment, cause considerable wear and tear to park ground, especially grassy areas, Joske said. The sheer weight of masses of people squeezes the roots, leaving blades at the end of a busy day withered and downtrodden.

Department officials expect capacity crowds on most weekends as the summer ripens and residents seek some cool escape from breathless afternoons that are characteristic of summer and early fall.

Last season, Paradise Park operated at near capacity and while the 30-by-60-foot pool at McNear was always crowded with splashing bathers, landscaping and construction work on the beach and grounds kept many persons away.

"The swimming pool at McNear is the only pool in the county that you can walk across without getting wet," Joske noted dryly. "This year, McNear Beach is being overrun."

Paradise Park has the most usable space, about 18 acres, but it is more difficult to get to and doesn't have a pool. McNear covers about 25 acres, but only 12 or 15 are beach and grass and the rest is hillside.

But McNear, located off North San Pedro Road east of San Rafael, has a half-mile strand of beach. Paradise, off narrow, winding Paradise Drive northwest of Tiburon, includes a mere 700 feet of sand, supplemented by grassy terraced plateaus for sunbathing and picnicking.

As to the parking situation, the lot at McNear can accommodate 180 cars, and another 250 or so can squeeze along some portions of Cantera Way, which leads to the grounds. But much of Cantera Way is narrow and is posted "no parking." Citations for illegal parking cost $5. On busy days many parkgoers seem to feel it is a fair price, and ticket-writing is frequent.

"But on the Fourth of July there were so many cars parked illegally that patrolmen simply shook their heads and went away," Vande Weg said.

The county is contemplating some kind of honor system, in which motorists are allowed to drop off passengers on the park site then forage along the roadways for a space, Vande Weg said.

Crowded conditions at McNear Beach will be relieved with the gradual development of the proposed North Bay Front Park in the Gallinas Creek area, expecially if a 50-meter pool is approved there, according to Joske.

Paradise could be extended by using some land at nearby Tiburon Net Depot, where the Navy during World War II tended the nets that were strung under San Francisco Bay to repel enemy submarines.

The old net depot now is occupied by the Tiburon Fisheries Laboratory, a national marine research facility under the U.S. Department of Commerce and the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration.

The depot had been the domain of the Marin Minerals Technology Center, which was phased out of existence this year, the victim of budget cuts.

Shomura said present plans are to expand research activities at the lab by opening some of the facilities to scientists and students from the University of California at Davis and other schools.

The fisheries lab uses some of the buildings on the site and others are being held for possible use by the colleges, but Shomura said he could see no reason why the northern third or half of the depot's 35 acres couldn't be opened to the public.

All of the laboratory's usable buildings are clustered at the south end, as well as a long pier being used for scientific equipment and to tie lab vessels.

A long wooden dock paralleling the bayfront at the north could be used for fishing, once repairs are made to shore up the dock's creaking plywood deck, Shomura suggested.

Although the site has no beach, the sloping hillside could be terraced, similar to the terracing at Paradise Park, for picnickers and sunbathers.

Parking here would be a problem just as it is at the other parks. It may be possible to grade the crown of the hillside or build parking areas on a portion of flat surface behind the fishing dock, where a long, rickety tin warehouse now stands unused.

It has been rumored that these northern depot lands will be declared surplus by the federal government, giving the county an opportunity to acquire them for public recreation. But Shomura said he is recommending that idea be scrapped in favor of a long-term lease agreement with the county.

Joske said he will continue to negotiate with government representatives to work out details of a lease if the board of supervisors approves the plan. The board is expected to consider the idea this week.

McNear Beach could be expanded with the acquisition of about a five-acre parcel of Bayfront canyon south of the present park. Owned by Consolidated Rock Co., the land currently houses workers at the firm's nearby quarry. But, according to Vande Weg, this proposal is about two years away from becoming a reality.

An added 2.5 acres, presently roped off for grass planting, is expected to be opened in September.

Until expansion ideas are implemented, however, the bayfront parks, in Joske's words, will be bursting with "as many and more people than we can handle."

A Pledge To Pull Party Together

ATLANTA (UPI) — The new national chairman of Young Republicans pledged yesterday to begin a campaign to "get the people to understand" that Watergate and the Republican party are not synonomous.

Richard Smith of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., said the bugging scandal "hasn't demoralized the Republican party.

"Actually, it has had the opposite effect. We have been pulled together by adversity," said Smith, elected yesterday at the Young Republicans federation convention to a two-year term as head of the 450,000-member group.

The Young Republicans were expected to release a Watergate resolution today fully absolving President Nixon from any complicity in the bugging but advocating a television interview to answer "any and all questions" about the scandal.

The head of the convention's resolutions committee, Peter Chase of Beverly Hills, Calif., said all delegates to the Young Republican Federation convention classify themselves as "friends of Richard Nixon."

"But the confidence in the federal government and the executive branch has dropped to such a level that we feel the President must take some action to restore confidence," Chase said.

Smith, a 33-year-old administrative assistant to the minority leader of the Florida Senate, said he thought his election indicated the political beliefs of the Young Republicans, "the most conservative arm" of the Republican party.

Smith, national Young Republican treasurer for the past two years, said he thought the news media was "running Watergate into the ground" and clouding "legitimate acts of washing out the radical elements."

Yesterday's keynote speaker, Sen. James Buckley of New York, applauded Nixon's initial steps to counter inflation but said the President eventually "knuckled under" to political pressure.

Board To Appoint A Representative

The San Anselmo School District board will appoint a representative to the city parks and recreation commission when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in Red Hill School.

District trustees will also elect officers for 1973-74 and consider a request by Supt. Frank R. Elliott for a 5 per cent pay increase for district employees.

Graham's Crusade Runs Into Troubles

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Rev. Billy Graham's latest crusade doesn't get started until tomorrow, but already the tone of evangelist's visit to the Twin Cities is bittersweet.

Even before he started preaching, Graham was:

Threatened with a boycott by black clergy.

Promised picketing by both Baptist fundamentalists and atheists.

Moved to issue a news release assuring his followers he is not quite ready to end his open-air crusading.

Minneapolis and St. Paul are a sort of second home for the North Carolina preacher, who was president of the Northwestern Theological Seminary here for four years before he began his crusades in 1952.

Black ministers from the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance and the Minnesota Baptist Convention had announced before his arrival Monday they would boycott the crusade unless Graham clarified a statement he made during a March crusade in South Africa recommending castration for rapists.

He did. He said, as he has said before, that he regreetted the statement as soon as he made it. However, he told one reporter, "I'll be glad to apologize, but as one of my black friends, who is one of the greatest black leaders in America said, if you do, then you will be indicting the black people because they will take it you thought they were the ones most guilty."

Since Graham agreed to "demonstrate his repentance," as Rev. Amos Brown, the black ministers' spokesman, put it, the boycott was dropped, but other thorns remain.

In an airport interview on his arrival, Graham, who turns 55 in November, said his years were catching up with him and the Twin Cities crusade "may be one of the latter stadium crusades."

The pace of city and nation-hopping, he said, is dictating that he can't keep preaching "from second base" indefinitely. Instead, he said, he will increasingly turn to television.

By yesterday, however, a spokesman had issued a news release indicating that published reports of his retirement were premature and that by year's end he will have preached to more people than in any year of his career.

One of the groups that will picket the crusade is the Twin City association of the Minnesota Baptist Convention, a fundamentalist group, which voted in May not to support the crusade because Graham "has shown himself a friend of neoevangelical and liberal movements."

The other objecters represent a coalition of the Minneapolis Atheists Twin Cities Secularists and the Minnesota Institute of Philosophy. They said they would picket because of "the absurdity, in this day and age, of believing in ghosts, devils, demons and angels."

Nevertheless, Friday night's 8 p.m. opening services are expected to fill the 50,000 seats at the State Fairgrounds in St. Paul. The crusade will continue for 10 days.

Bolinas Water Rate Hike Dropped

By ANNE WEST

Phase III price controls will prohibit the increase in water rates recently approved by the Bolinas Community Public Utility District board and force revision of a $128,000 budget accepted for publication last night by directors.

Director Orville Schell reported that an Internal Revenue Service agent had visited the district office yesterday to cast doubt on the legality of both the latest rate increase (authorized June 27) and a previous increase in January of 1972.

Schell and District Clerk Lyman Robinson could identify the agent only as "Mr. Meek" — "but he was only meek in name," said Robinson.

He told them utilities charges were included in the price freeze, said Schell.

While the agent pointed out that Phase III will end on August 13, he also said it will immediately be succeeded by Phase IV price regulations whose provisions are not now known, Schell reported.

(This morning Ramon J. Meek, compliance officer for the revenue service in San Francisco, said he had investigated the price raise as a result of several complaints. He is notifying the district by letter that the rate hike is in violation of Phase III's Economic Stabilization Program and must be rescinded, at least until Aug. 13.)

Schell noted that the increased water rates were intended to help finance $37,000 worth of capital improvements in old and leaking water lines and at first proposed defiance of the price regulations.

"I want to know what Richard Nixon can do to us if we violate his price freeze," he declared. Schell added: "It's very hard to discuss a budget when you don't know how much income to expect."

Directors Paul D. Kayfetz replied that the district was in no position "either legally or morally to thumb our noses" at the order. Board member Mark Ireland suggested that the budget should stand unchanged until "a new set of facts come out of the fog."

With Directors William E. Niman and Marguerite K. Harris absent, the three-man board agreed to suspend the rate increase at least until September.

Kayfetz suggested that a tax increase, tied to the sewer improvements mandated by state order, could be imposed. But board members predicted the water line improvements will have to be postponed if the rate increase is not allowed.

The proposed 1973-74 budget of $128,000 is an increase over the current $116,422 spending plan, but expenditures in the past year exceeded estimates by $64,405, according to reports submitted by Robinson.

Some of the overrun was attributed to disaster operations during last winter's floods which caused heavy damage to the district's system.

The new tax rate will be $1.16 per $100 assessed valuation, up from last year's $1.105. The tax increase, according to Kayfetz, is permitted by Senate Bill 90 under a provision which makes allowance for inflation.

Major categories, with current budget figures in parenthesis, are as follows: salaries and wages of all personnel except directors, $42,458 ($46,926); maintenance, $6,000 ($6,000); office and general expenses, including directors' salaries, $22,190 ($15,080); capital expenditures, $57,352 ($48,416).

The capital budget includes $9,100 for miscellaneous items, $37,600 for water system improvements and $10,652 in a contingency fund.

Estimated revenues after adjusting for two more months at current water rates were $71,000 from water sales, as compared to last year's $65,960 and $57,000 from taxes, up from last year's $50,462 tax revenue.

Plans For Sewage Facilities Win Bolinas Board's Approval

Final plans and specifications for new sewage facilities were approved last night by directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District, but the board also learned that the system will not be operative until sometime next winter.

Director Paul D. Kayfetz told fellow board members waiting on federal and state approval for funding, then receiving bids and awarding contracts, mean it will be well into October before a contractor can start work.

"As a practical matter, we are not going to have a sewer system in and completed by the end of this year," Kayfetz said.

He also reported that Marin County officials are requiring the district to obtain a building permit for its laboratory and office building, a use permit for the sewer plant, and an excavation permit for sewage pond work.

The county will also require a permit under its Tidal Waterways ordinance for the downtown pump station, which is within the 100-foot boundary from the high tide line.

In addition, he said, the project must be approved by the North Central Coast Regional Conservation Commission, and obtaining these approvals may further delay start of the work.

Kayfetz said he had argued that the county could not ask another "co-equal" government agency for any permit except building permits.

The county counsel's office disagrees with this view, but will render a final decision today, he said.

Final cost estimates for the project have not yet been submitted by the engineering firm of Kirker, Chapman and Associates.

(District clerk Lyman Robinson said after the meeting that he expects a total cost of approximately $1.1 million.)

The board told the engineers to send cost figures along with the plans and specifications, to the State Environmental Protection Agency and the Federal Farmer's Home Administration (FHA) for grant approval.

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District board also:

CLOSED SESSION — After an hour's meeting to hear charges against the board and some employees, by maintenance men, announced the matter will be continued at a further closed session next Wednesday. Director Orville Schell said Frank O'Connell, manager of the Marin County Employees Association, had unofficially agreed to help tabulate "substantial" grievances concerning overtime pay, working conditions and hours.

ENERGY HOUSE — Endorsed an application for a $52,500 grant from the National Endowment of the Arts for an "ecotectural" house, proposed by architect Sim Van der Ruyn. The architect said the house, which would obtain its energy from on-site facilities, such as windmills and devices to capture solar energy, could be given to the district after testing.

WATER — Heard that state public health officials still refuse to allow emergency pumping of water from Pine Gulch Creek because of high coliform counts. The district is now pumping 150,000 gallons per day from the lower Arroyo Honda dam, according to director Mark Ireland, but is unable to fill one of its main tanks from that source. He said much of the water is being lost in leaks and could not say how long the dam supply will last.

Gas Stations Give Refunds

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Customers of two San Francisco Bay area gas station chains are getting refunds on a "first come, first served" basis because they paid too much to fill up their tanks.

Douglas Oil Co., a subsidiary of Continental Oil Co., and Jack Holland Oil Co., agreed to the refunds after an Internal Revenue Service investigation found they had overcharged customers by between one and three cents a gallon under federal wage-price guidelines.

The companies will refund a total of $22,572 to customers at 79 gas stations operated by the two chains.

Lanes To Close

The state Division of Highways announced today that traffic will be reduced to one lane east and westbound from the west gate of San Quentin Prison to the Larkspur City limits tomorrow from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. to permit widening and realignment of the roadway.

Principal Quits Library Board

Edward A. Allen has resigned from the Larkspur Library Board because of extra duties involved in his job with the Kentfield School District in the coming school year. Allen is principal of Greenbrae School.

Richard A. Kilbourne, Larkspur librarin, said the library board will recommend a successor to Allen to the Larkspur City Council at its Aug. 1 meeting.

At the library board's meeting Tuesday, George B. Frease was reelected chairman and Yopie Lewis secretary.

State Steps Into Closed Jury Choice

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — The California Attorney General yesterday asked the state Court of Appeal to stop attorneys from choosing of a jury in the privacy of a judge's chambers for the mass murder trial of Herbert W. Mullin.

The state wants the trial stopped until the court rules on the legality of the behind-closed-doors selection process. This is the first time in the state's legal history that closed jury selection has been ordered by the trial judge.

The attorney general's request came after Superior Court Judge Charles Franich said he would not bow to pressure to open up the hearing to the public or news reporters. There was no indication when the appeals court would rule.

Twelve jurors have been tentatively seated in the case against Mullin, 26, a former high school honor student who became a heavy drug user.

He is accused of killing 10 persons during a three-week death spree that began Jan. 25. He also has been named chief suspect in the stabbing death of a priest in a confessional in a neighboring county.

Ed O'Brien, deputy attorney general in Los Angeles, telephoned Franich and Santa Cruz District Attorney Peter Chang on yesterday to tell them unless the hearing was opened to the public he would file a writ to stop the entire trial.

"I don't subscribe to any pressure of this kind," Franich said of the telephone call. "It simply boils down to what is fair to the defendant... There's very little doubt in my mind we would not have gotten the answers we've gotten if the jury selection was open to the press and public."

Franich ordered the private sessions in his 20-by-20 foot chamber when jury selection began Monday because of what he said would be probing personal questions put to prospective jurors about homosexuality, mental disease and mental histories.

Food Prices Will Rise Sharply, Executive Warns Congressmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Today's record food prices are really "deceptively low," and consumers will be shocked when the food industry finally passes on the increases it has been absorbing during the temporary price freeze, a leading industry executive has warned Congress.

C. W. Cook, chairman of General Foods Corp., in a wire sent to all members of Congress July 3 and made public yesterday, warned the lawmakers not to be misled by rosy hopes growing out of Agriculture Department reports this week that farm production may set new records this year.

Cook said that because of past and present control systems, current retail food prices are based on raw farm product prices far below the actual current cost of raw products.

"When sharp commodity price increases are reflected at retail, as ultimately they must be, the resultant rise in food costs is certain to shock consumers...Even excellent crop prospects this year will not be sufficient to curb this spiral significantly," Cook warned.

"For these reasons...food prices are destined to rise sharply this year regardless of provisions for control that may be incorporated in Phase IV regulations. We believe the consuming public should be made aware of this distasteful prospect now because we fear many consumers expect food prices to hold steady or possibly decline once new crop estimates are in," Cook said.

President Nixon met for two hours with his cabinet yesterday on plans for a Phase IV anti-inflation program to follow the temporary freeze. A spokesman said the new plan will be announced "relatively soon," although no final decisions have yet been made on it.

Nixon said in a statement sent to Congress yesterday on the subject: "My ultimate goal —a goal I believe we can and must meet—is to return this country to a strong and free market system."

Agriculture Department officials, following release this week of a crop report forecasting increased production, said they expected some further increase in food prices after ceilings are relaxed. But they added the potential big harvest of grains and soybeans would ease the situation by spurring increases in livestock and poultry production beginning in the fall.

Cook said his forecast was based on the assumption that Phase IV would permit the food industry to pass all cost increases on to consumers. If it doesn't, he said, the result will be a sharp drop in food supplies because processors and distributors will slow their operations. He called for a temporary food export embargo and abandonment of import restrictions on dairy products.

The National Association of Food Chains, meanwhile, told the Cost of Living Council that a list of developing food shortages, reportedly caused by the 60-day price freeze, is growing longer. It said retailers "are receiving an increasing number of notices from their suppliers that deliveries of various products will no longer be made until prices can be raised to cover costs."

In many cases, the NAFC said, suppliers are shipping their own branded foods but cutting off supply of "private label" products which appear under retail store brands. The NAFC said this means that one result of the price freeze has been to leave only the higher-priced manufacturer brands of some items available on store shelves.

The Agriculture Department, meanwhile, said in a report that milk production in June fell 2.5 per cent below a year earlier as the ratio between feed costs and farmers' returns for milk fell to the most unfavorable level since 1955.

The Agriculture Department said yesterday that the Soviet Union has bought 7.854 million tons of American grain for delivery between now and next summer.

The U.S.-Japan Trade Council told Congress yesterday that recent U.S. government controls on export of soybeans will hurt both American farmers and Japanese consumers.

Jungle Trip

The highlight of Jungle Week in the Novato playground program will be a trip to Marine World on July 19. There is a fee for the children to take the trip. Deadline for sign up is 5 p.m., Tuesday.

HAVE YOU WRITTEN A BOOK?

A publisher's editorial representative will be in San Rafael in August. He will be interviewing local authors in a quest for finished manuscripts suitable for book publication by Carlton Press, Inc., well-known New York publishing firm. All subjects will be considered including fiction and non-fiction, poetry, drama, religion, philosophy, etc.

If you have completed a book-length manuscript (or nearly so) on any subject, and would like a professional appraisal (without cost or obligation), please write immediately describing your work and stating which part of the day (a.m. or p.m.) you would prefer for an appointment and kindly mention your phone number. You will promptly receive a confirmation for a definite time and place.

Authors with completed manuscripts unable to appear may send them directly to the representative (address below) for a free reading and evaluation. He will also be glad to hear from those whose literary works are still in progress. Please address:

Replacement For Hayakawa Named

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ending a nine month controversy, the trustees of the California State Universities and Colleges yesterday named Paul F. Romberg to succeed S.I. Hayakawa as president of San Francisco State College.

Romberg, 51, has been founding president of Bakersfield State College since 1967, two years before the school opened for classes.

Romberg "has succeeded in one of the most challenging positions in our system— planning and building an entirely new higher education institution known across the country for its innovative approaches to learning," said Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke.

PAUL F. ROMBERG
Heads campus

Hayakawa won national fame for his hard line stand against student demonstrators. He announced his resignation last October, but agreed to stay on until a successor could be chosen.

Romberg, a native of Nebraska, was a Marine Corps fighter pilot in World War II. He obtained his Ph.D. from the University of Nebraska in 1954, specializing in botany and genetics, and taught at Wabash College in Indiana and Iowa State, later serving as vice president of academic affairs at Chico State College.

He initiated several unique undergraduate courses at Bakersfield, which grew to 2,500 students during his presidency.

The trustees have been engaged in a struggle with the San Francisco State faculty over the appointment.

The faculty members were reportedly unhappy when the trustees named Hayakawa, who lives in Mill Valley, to the post in 1969, in the midst of turmoil by student radicals, without their approval.

In the search for a successor, the trustees set up a "rainbow committee" of trustees, administrators and faculty members to screen candidates. The committee was ordered dissolved in May. The trustees complained that the faculty members were leaking to reporters the identities of the candidates, causing some of them to withdraw.

The trustees turned the job over to a committee of three trustees, and the San Francisco State faculty was brought back into the process Tuesday, to pick from three candidates.

Dumke denied he was giving in to faculty pressure to reinstate the rainbow committee.

He said the faculty members were allowed to rejoin the selection process "only after the qualified candidates had been considered" and on the condition that they "agree to abide by the rules of the process as established earlier."

In another action, the board approved a pay increase package including raises of 7.5 per cent for some faculty members in the State Universities and Colleges system.

The board announced yesterday that campus physicians would be given the largest increases—25 per cent— and non-teaching campus employes would receive 13 per cent raises.

Faculty increases range from 5 to 7.5 percent, with full professors making $22,458. Chancellor Dumke and other high level administrators received a 5 per cent raise.

The increases are subject to a possible review by the state Finance Department and the federal Pay Board.

Cranston Aide To Visit Marin

A representative for Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., will meet with local government officials and private citizens tomorrow at the Civic Center.

Gerald Yoachum, Cranston's roving field representative, will meet with the board of supervisors, local mayors, environmentalists and labor union representatives during morning sessions to discuss mass transit, cost of living increases and suburban growth.

Yoachum will meet from 1 to 4 p.m. with citizens who wish to discuss issues or lodge complaints in the office of Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste. Persons wishing to meet with Yoachum may make appointments by calling the clerk of the board of supervisors at the Civic Center.

Stokes Pleads To Drunken Driving

WALNUT CREEK (UPI) — A plea of innocent was entered in Municipal Court yesterday for B. R. Stokes, Bay Area Rapid Transit District general manager who is charged with drunken driving.

He was arrested June 23 by the California Highway Patrol.

Milk Price Documents Are Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House has asked a federal court to reject the request of a Ralph Nader affiliate for dozens of memos concerning the government's controversial decision to increase milk price supports.

Acting on orders from President Nixon, White House counsel Leonard Garment urged the U.S. District Court in Washington yesterday to keep the memos secret on grounds of executive privilege.

Public Citizen Inc. plans to contest Garment's argument. Judge William B. Jones will schedule a hearing on the issue shortly.

The case could provide the first judicial test of the doctrine of executive privilege which Nixon has said he will invoke to keep secret presidential papers. The Senate Watergate committee has requested documents which the President has declined to provide.

Public Citizen Inc., affiliated with consumer advocacy groups organized by Nader, is seeking the memos as part of a lawsuit challenging the boost in milk price supports approved in March, 1971, by Clifford Hardin, then agriculture secretary.

"The release of the contents of such documents would be injurious to the public interest and to the constitutional doctrine of the separation of powers since the President of the United States is entitled to receive frank recommendations, opinions and considerations from his staff and subordinates in the discharge of his Constitutional powers," the White House affidavit said. "Any impairment of the free flow of considerations, recommendations, deliberations and advisory opinions to the President ... would adversely affect the public interest."

The Public Citizen suit centers around a boost in milk price supports from $4.66 to $4.93 a hundredweight approved March 25, 1971. The increase added more than $500 million to the income of dairy farmers, according to industry estimates.

Three dairy co-ops, Associated Milk Producers Inc., MidAmerica Dairymen Inc., and Dairymen Incorporated made campaign contributions totalling $422,500 to the Nixon political organization shortly before and shortly after the support increase was approved.

Strep Infections Top County Disease List

Streptococcus infections again led the list of communicable diseases in Marin with 63 cases reported last week according to county health officer Carolyn B. Albrecht.

Others reported were 13 cases of gonorrhea and one case each of mumps, syphilis, and tuberculosis.

College Board Delays New Budget Approval

Faced with a 1973-74 publication budget $763,987 higher than the record $24,476,311 tentative budget they approved two weeks ago, the Marin Community College District board last night refused to act.

Instead, reported district publicist Earlene Jones, trustees set a special meeting for next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 101 of the science center to consider the spending program.

The board was presented a publication budget of $25,220,671, a total which would require a local tax rate of $1.177 per $100 assessed valuation. This is a jump of 11.2 cents over the current rate of $1.065, which, combined with an increase in assessed valuation of 10 per cent, would mean a major rise in tax bills.

Most of the increases since June 27 are attributed to higher costs of construction (more than $10 million in the budget goes on capital outlay, much of it for the start on construction at Indian Valley Colleges) and to a "revised estimate" of the cost of employee retirement contributions and health insurance plans.

Mrs. Jones said the board didn't get to the publication budget until 10:45 p.m., and indicated they weren't prepared to work on a $25 million spending program at that late hour.

The Marin Community College District Board also:

ELECTION — Elected Francis Compton president, Gene Turtle clerk and Martin J. Dean vice president; set its regular meetings for the first and third Wednesdays of each month at 7:30 p.m. in room 101, science center.

TRUSTEE — Called for a special election November 6 to elect a trustee to take the place vacated by newly elected Elizabeth Deedy, who has been appointed to the state college board.

PERSONNEL — Hired Dr. Berne J. Holman to teach dental instructing; Paul J. Christensen to teach sociology; Steven C. Simon, psychology; Marie Rinehart and Marjorie L. Pirie as registered nursing teachers; Helen Fatt temporary life science teacher; Marilynn McCormick, library secretary at $672 a month and Pamela Mize, planning secretary, at $706 a month.

HOLIDAY — Changed the date of Lincoln's Day from Feb. 11 to Feb. 12, 1974.

INDIAN VALLEY — Postponed until its Aug. 11 meeting a decision on whether to spend $2,500 for a four-day "preservice institute at a retreat facility" for Indian Valley Colleges administrators and teachers.

EMERGENCY CARE — Decided to offer an emergency care course at College of Marin as requested by the Marin County Board of Supervisors and asked the supervisors for $1,000 to plan it.

NEW POSITIONS — Authorized hiring a Coordinator of Re-Entry Services to the handicapped, a Bilingual community liaison coordinator and a parttime typist clerk, using some Title I federal funds.

NURSING — Again deferred a decision on the registered nursing program's request for two more instructors, and told staff to come up with a proposal at its Aug. 15 meeting to solve the problem of supervising students when they're working in local hospitals.

AUDIT — Authorized Sleezer and Eckhoff to audit student loans for the 1972-73 school year at a cost not to exceed $3,500; a sum of about $200,000 in loans is involved.

ASCOM — Deferred action on an Associated Students budget until the special publication budget meeting Wednesday.

The Park Police Station Reopens

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — On the demand of voters, the Police Department reopened its Park Station yesterday although locks on cell doors are still missing in the refurbished buildings.

Both the Park Station — which is near Golden Gate Park —and the Potrero Station were closed in an economy move. But a proposition was passed at a municipal election demanding they be reopened.

Refurbishing at the stations is to cost $251,000.

Burglar Cuts Self In Unfruitful Try

A painfully unsuccessful burglar tried to break into the Paradise Coffee Shop on Paradise Drive today, Corte Madera police reported.

Patrolling officers at 4:28 a.m. found the rear door bolt had been half cut through with a cutting tool — and all over the nearby ground was blood. Police said they're sure the intruder cut himself badly and gave up the attempt.

Federal Prisons To Be Used By State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill permitting the state Corrections Department to contract with the federal government to confine state prisoners in federal penal institutions has been signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

A spokesman for Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, author of the bill (SB164), said the administration measure was aimed at allowing state prisoners to be placed in federal institutions when there is a shortage of state facilities.

Rent Meeting

The Marin City Tenants' Association will hold a meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Manzanita Center to explain to tenants how rents are computed in projects of the Marin County Housing Authority, Mary Brooks, Association President, announced.

MUSICAL MARATHON

Finale In Summer Concert Series Is Scheduled Sunday

The final concert of the Forest Meadows Summer Concert Series on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael will bring a marathon of music to Marin Sunday.

The music marathon will begin at 1:30 p.m. at Forest Meadows and will offer several hours of entertainment. Listeners are free to attend only those pieces they wish to hear, arriving and departing as they choose.

Five pianists will participate including Paul Denegri, a Marin Catholic High School student; Julie Jordan, a Dominican College junior; Richard Secrist, a student at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music; Bronwen Spencer, a senior at Terra Linda High School, and Dominican College staff member Judith Storss who will serve as an accompanist.

Mark Jordan, a student at Dominican College, will perform on the violin, John Tomlinson of the California State University at Sonoma will play the flute and soprano Rebecca Olivia Jones, a former music major at the California Institute of the Arts will sing.

A string quartet with Novato High graduate Rhonda Bingham and Tamalpais High senior Terrie Baune playing violins, San Rafael High senior Michele Mathewson playing the viola and Michele Bergman, Terra Linda High graduate as cellist and soloist will also appear.

Gates to the Forest Meadows will open at noon for families wishing to picnic before the concert.

The college is already planning to enlarge on this year's three-event schedule for an annual event in future years according to Mary Head, public information director at the school.

Counterfeit Security Ring Is Said Broken

NEW YORK (UPI) — Federal authorities said yesterday they had cracked an international ring dealing in $18 million in stolen and counterfeit securities whose members included an English lord's son, a reputed Mafia lieutenant and two Europeans who claimed they had contacts at the Vatican.

Five persons of the alleged 16-member ring were arrested yesterday. Four others already had been jailed and seven were being sought. No one connected with the Vatican was sought.

Officials of the Justice Department, its Joint Strike Force Against Organized Crime and the FBI said the ring had used murder threats in attempting to peddle the securities.

Ernest Shinwell, 54, son of British life peer Lord Shinwell, was being sought in the case. Vincent J. Rizzo, 41, previously identified by the government as a lieutenant in the "crime family" of the late Vito Genovese, was already in custody.

Arrested in New York was Peter Raia, 44, North Bergen, N.J., identified as the mastermind. Dominick Mantell, 55, Hollywood, Fla., was arrested in Florida, and Jerry Marc Jacobs, 29, Acardia, Calif., Evelyn Jacobs and Louis Gittleman, 67, both of Los Angeles, were arrested in California.

Also charged in an indictment returned Tuesday were William Benjamin, 64, Philadelphia; Human T. Grant, 64, London; Manuel Richard Jacobs, 54, Los Angeles; and Rizzo.

Authorities in the United States were searching for Pasquale Marino, 30, New York. Six others, Tomaso Amato, 38, Rome; Remegio Begni, 36, Rome; Mario Foligni, 38, Rome; Leopold Ledl, 38, Vienna; Marina Neubert, 51, Venice; and Shinwell.

The indictment charged that the ring stole approximately $3.7 million in securities from Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. and Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, both in New York, and from nine interstate mail shipments in 1970.

The indictment also charged that members of the ring tried to dispose of $14.5 in counterfeited securities "through alleged contacts of Ledl an Foligni at the Vatican in Rome." The Justice Department said no charges were brought against anybody connected with the Vatican.

The indictment said the suspects also tried to dispose of the securities in California, Belgium, Italy, Panama and Switzerland.

Attorney To Lead Port Commission

OAKLAND (UPI) — Attorney Thomas L. Berkley has been chosen to serve a one-year term as president of the Oakland Board of Port Commissioners.

Berkley, a UCLA Law School graduate and practicing attorney in Oakland for 30 years, yesterday succeeded H. Boyd Gaynor in the top post of the commission, which has jurisdiction over the seaport, Oakland International Airport, Jack London Square and a 300-acre industrial park.

Tour Checks On Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, commander of the U.S. Army in the Pacific, today toured central and northern South Vietnam, where Vietnamese have been fighting each other relentlessly since the cease-fire took effect almost six months ago.

Weyand, who was the U.S. commander in Vietnam at the time of the Jan. 28 cease-fire, is on an Indochina fact-finding mission on orders from Defense Secretary James Schlesinger.

He conferred for an hour with President Nguyen Van Thieu yesterday and leaves tomorrow for Phnom Penh. It was widely believed Weyand discussed with Thieu next month's U.S. bombing halt in Cambodia and the subject presumably will top the agenda during his Phnom Penh talks.

Minority Hiring Search Proposed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — To improve minority hiring practices in California public schools, local districts should not wait for ethnic applicants to appear but should initiate out-of-state recruitment programs, a state report said today.

The report, titled "A Design to Promote and Improve Minority Hiring Practices," was presented to the California Department of Education's monthly meeting by the Equal Education Opportunities Commission.

"The California public school system, with few exceptions, employs a disproportionately small number of teachers, counselors and administrators who are members of racial and ethnic minority groups," it said.

"Discriminatory hiring and promotional practices in the past, and to some extent at present, are responsible for this situation," the report added.

It called for "imaginative, aggressive and sustained action by district's staff to devise recruiting, training and career advancement programs that will result in increased minority and women representation ..."

In the area of recruitment, the report said, districts "cannot rely on conventional methods to create a fully integrated staff."

It said the district "cannot wait for minority applicants to appear. It must move out in affirmative recruitment programs, tapping all sources."

The report's suggestions included:

—"Specific recruiting efforts should be directed to minority group organizations and to particular geographic areas where specific minority candidates are likely to be found."

—"Out-of-state recruiting for certificated personnel should be concentrated in those geographic areas such as the South and Southeast where minority candidates are likely to be found."

The report also gave a break down on the percentages of minorities compared with their representation in the teaching staff.

The two largest minorities were Spanish surname, 16 per cent of all students but 2.6 per cent of classroom teachers and blacks, 9.3 per cent of all students but 5.1 per cent of teachers. Asians, the third largest minority, were an equal 2.2 per cent students and teachers.

MOSCOW (UPI) — The man Egyptian President Anwar Sadat calls "my Kissinger" opened talks today with Soviet leaders on the possible effects of U.S.-Soviet talks last month on the Middle East.

Religious Rally Jams Coliseum

OAKLAND (UPI) — Jehovah's Witnesses jammed the Oakland Coliseum yesterday for the opening session of a convention emphasizing the theme, "Victory Over The World Without Armed Conflict."

More than 40,000 persons showed up with Bibles under their arms and umbrellas to protect them from the sun in the sporting arena.

The keynote address was given by John O. Groh, a member of the board of directors of Kingdom Hall, the group's world headquarters in Brooklyn.

Martha Sticks By Story, Denies Calling Yesterday

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Martha Mitchell said today she still believes everything she has said about President Nixon and the Watergate scandal even though her husband has sworn Nixon was kept in the dark about the scope of the scandal. (See related story page 1.)

Mrs. Mitchell told UPI in a telephone conversation —as her husband John was starting his third day of testimony before the Senate Watergate committee —that "I stand on everything I've said previously."

In previous interviews, Mrs. Mitchell said the President should resign because of Watergate and asserted that "if John knew about it, then Nixon knew about it."

Mrs. Mitchell said she was calling today from somewhere in the South because she wanted to deny calling UPI's Washington bureau early Wednesday. "I haven't talked to a damned soul," she said.

MARTHA MITCHELL
Says Nixon knew

A woman claiming to be Mrs. Mitchell told a UPI reporter Wednesday: "I want you to know that my husband is absolutely correct in all of his testimony. He is completely honest. I'm standing completely beside him because I know he is telling the truth."

The former attorney general insisted repeatedly in his Senate testimony that he never told Nixon what he knew about the cover-up and that he was sure the President had no knowledge of the extent of it until last March.

Mrs. Mitchell said today she would reserve comment on her husband's testimony "until it's all over, but I'm mad that anyone would think that I did not stand by everything I've said in the past ... I stand on the whole shooting match — from A to Z."

"I want you to put out a denial," she said. "I'm sick and tired of people picking up the phone and saying they are Martha Mitchell." Mrs. Mitchell declined to say exactly where she was, revealing only that the location was in the Central Time Zone. Otherwise, she said only she was "down South running around, seeing old friends and getting a tan."

Asked why she chose not to attend the Senate hearings, Mrs. Mitchell indicated that she feared her presence in Washington now would cause too much of a commotion and that she would not have had enough protection.

Mrs. Mitchell was one of the first to call attention to the "dirty business" of politics in the Nixon re-election campaign that her husband directed from April to July last year. She publicly threatened to leave her husband after the Watergate incident unless he quit politics.

San Rafael Schools Budgets Give Raises

The San Rafael Board of Education has approved publication budgets for the elementary and high school districts after including funds for an additional 1.9 per cent pay hike for district employees.

District employees, who received a 3 per cent pay increase last May, were given the additional 1.9 per cent hike to match a 4.9 per cent increase in the cost of living in the Bay Area last year, according to Supt. Donald E. Leisey. Cost of the combined increases for the school system's 500 employees is about $395,000, he said.

The publication budgets approved Tuesday are essentially the same as the preliminary spending programs approved last month, Leisey said, attributing increases to federal and state funds received in recent weeks, and the 1.9 per cent pay hike granted Tuesday.

Approved for the elementary district is a publication budget of $5,174,573, a program estimated to require a tax rate of $2.70 per $100 of assessed valuation, down 24 cents from last fiscal year's rate.

Approved for the high school district is a publication budget of $5,959,601, a program estimated to require a tax rate of $2.10 per $100 of assessed valuation, down 4 cents from last fiscal year's rate.

Leisey noted that tax rate figures are not final and depend on the outcome of pending state legislation, which could change some provisions of the state's tax shift, school finance legislation.

It has also been pointed out that property owners may face higher taxes regardless of tax rate cuts because of higher assessed valutations.

Leisey said that the additional pay hike granted last night accounts for $75,000 in the elementary publication budget and $80,000 in the high school publication budget. The publication budgets were also fattened over tentative budgets approved last month with a $38,781 federal grant in vocational funds and a $23,985 state grant in early childhood education funds.

The board will hold a public hearing on the spending programs at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 6 in the district board room, he said.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

GOALS — Said district goals include long range cost saving, solving the problem of declining enrollment, development of individualized instruction and career, vocational, alternative and traditional educational programs.

ENRICHMENT — Learned that up to 40 district pupils may participate in a College of Marin enrichment program for talented students next fall, but took no action on a $400 tab for the program.

TRANSPORTATION — Adopted transportation schedules for next year after consolidating bus stops by eliminating 80 stops made on routes last year, a move aimed at saving $15,000 annually, according to Leisey.

CLAIM — Told Leisey to file in small claims court to collect $1,100 from parents of three pupils who smashed windows at San Pedro School last summer. The parents of four other pupils involved in the incident have already paid their share of the vandalism tab, according to Leisey.

PERSONNEL — Appointed the following employees: Thomas Anderson, bus driver, $7,983 annually; Beverly Closson, secretary, $7,928 annually; Marian Hanlon, secretary, $5,842 annually; Scott Hayes, administrative assistant, $19,362 annually; Tom Jones, mechanic, $8,832 annually; Louise Latham, teacher, $2,075 annually; Joy Oliva, secretary, $6291 annually, and Paul Wing, records clerk, $7,824 annually.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. July 24.

Child Injured When Car Rolls

A 3-year-old San Rafael child was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with a head injury and cuts suffered in an accident Tuesday on Highway 101.

The California Highway Patrol said a car driven by Sonja Olga LaVelle, 25, of 2063 Fifth Street in San Rafael rolled over up the freeway.

Mrs. LaVelle was not injured seriously in the crash but her son, Justine, was hurt while standing between the front and rear seats of the car.

'Quake Meeting

Trustees of the Lincoln, Laguna and Union school districts will meet jointly at 7:30 p.m. today in the Laguna School to hear Dr. William Knife of the state Department of Education talk on how the Field Act earthquake safety law applies to the three small wooden schools in the north end of the county.

Boy Saved From Death By Counselor

A Kentfield man, due to return tonight from a camping expedition, has been credited with saving the life of a San Rafael boy in a near-tragedy on the Stanislaus River.

Robert Bricca, 26-year-old counselor for the Young Men's Christian Association, rescued 9-year-old Scott Lisetor of San Rafael Friday when the youth tumbled out of a rubber raft in an outing through the river's rapids.

Lisetor, although wearing a life jacket, was dragged under by the rushing current and pinned under a submerged rock for three to five minutes, according to James Looney, executive director of the Marin YMCA.

Bricca, riding in the same raft, leaped into the water and swam to shore. He then ran back up the bank to a point where he could reach the helpless youth, and plunged in.

After locating Lisetor, Bricca freed him from the obstructing rock, and turned him over to another counselor, Lisa Morrison, 18, of San Rafael, who was on hand to assist.

She administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until a car was obtained to take the boy to a local hospital for treatment.

The boy is now at home and doing well, according to his mother, Joan Lisetor, Independent-Journal women's page writer. "Bricca performed an incredible act of bravery," she said.

Mexican Crash Said Pilot Error

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Aviation authorities said today pilot errors caused the crash of an Aeromexico DC-9 airliner June 20 that killed 27 persons, 14 of them Americans, near the tourist resort of Puerto Vallarta.

Civil aeronautics director Jose Rodriguez Torres said studies showed the plane was traveling too fast and was off course when it hit a mountainside.

Novato Recycling Depot Will Move

A new recycling depot behind Novato City Hall will open this weekend, replacing the current depot in the San Marin area, the recycling agency Survival, Inc., has announced.

The new depot will be open weekends from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Marin Youth Corps Receives Federal Aid

The Marin County Neighborhood Youth Corps office has announced that $130,500 in federal money has become available to hire 300 local youths to full-time summer jobs.

The move followed a recent New Jersey U.S. District Court decision that ordered the Labor Department to spend $239 million in funds voted by Congress but not allocated by departmental officials.

Youth Corps director James McKenna said yesterday that the money would be used to hire youths 15 to 18 years old for jobs in nonprofit agencies around the county.

The jobs should all be filled by next week, he said, and will continue on a full-time basis through Sept. 8. Workers will be paid $1.65 per hour for mainly clerical and maintenance jobs.

McKenna said that income level of the family is a major criterion for the program of youth hiring — the program will attempt to hire the ones that need the job money most.

Persons interested in applying for one of the jobs may do so at the youth corps office in the Civic Center, although many placements are done through schools and civic organizations, he said.

The Labor Department has also forwarded funds to the cities of San Francisco, Berkeley and Oakland, and Santa Clara and Solano Counties.

All That Chili, No Mama Mia!

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Interior Minister Pedro Richter ordered chili sauce and other spices eliminated from Peru's standard daily prison menus today because ministry sources said he considers them aphrodisiacs.

Richter, the sources said, took the decision after visiting a jail 375 miles southeast of Lima last weekend and sampling the food prepared for inmates.

Chili sauce, the sources said Richter decided, was not "appropriate for men who are forced to live a limited lifestyle." They said he told prison cooks to not "arouse their sexual desires constantly" by serving such spices.

The ruling affected about 15,000 prisoners.

Bids High For Ross Road Work

The Town of Ross has received a low bid of $54,705.40 from W.R. Forde of Greenbrae for pavement and drainage improvements on Poplar Avenue, according to Roy H. Hoffman, town engineer.

Other bids opened Tuesday were $55,880 from Maggiora and Ghilotti, $56,074 from Ghilotti Brother, and $65,625 from Bresman Dalecio.

Hoffman said he had originally estimated a cost of $54,000. He will recommend the low bid to the Town Council at its meeting tomorrow night.

Unclaimed Toll Junk To Be Sold

A public auction of a weird collection of semi-junk will be held Thursday by the Golden Gate Bridge District.

The hoard overflowing a storage room at toll plaza offices is all the unclaimed property left by motorists as pledges in lieu of tolls when they found they were broke.

The auction of almost 300 items will be at 4 p.m. in the board room, an annual event that usually attracts about 150 persons.

The collection is heavy with jewelry, clothing, lighters, tools and radios, but also includes a harp, three Chinese coins of uncertain denomination, box of tarot cards, can of dog food, can of picnic beans, machete, frying pan, snorkel, bottom half of a fishing pole, steam iron and Mickey Mouse wrist watch with no band.

One man even left his wedding band behind and never reclaimed it. And the anger of one motorist was evident — he left his side view mirror.

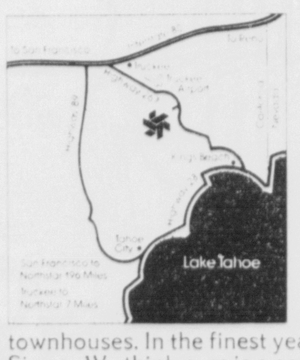
President Elected For Movie Academy

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Producer Walter Mirisch was elected president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, the academy announced yesterday.

Mirisch, who won an Academy Award for his 1967 production "In the Heat of the Night," was elected by the 35 other members of the board of governors to succeed Daniel Taradash, president for the past three years, who declined to run for a fourth term.

Introducing Northstar's new point of view.

Gold Bend Townhouse Condominiums.



The view sweeps across a conifer-covered valley to the mountains and beyond. Unobstructed now. Unobstructed forever. And the point is that construction has begun for this new group of mountain townhouses. In the finest year-round resort in the Sierra. We think ours is a point of view you'll like for a lot of reasons.

First, the Gold Bend Townhouse Condominiums themselves. Ruggedly beautiful like the setting itself, you can choose from two bedroom/one bath, two bedroom/two bath and three or four bedroom/two bath models. Naturally, each comes with every modern convenience plus the attention to detail so characteristic of Northstar.

What about the other reasons? How about the finest skiing in the area. And miles of riding trails. Plus tennis, swimming and more. And next, golf. Clearing has begun for the first nine holes. You might also be interested in our golf course homesites.

Two Will Stand Trial On Burglary Charges

Two Oakland men whose undoing was a discolored dollar bill have been bound over to Marin Superior Court to stand trial for burglary.

Judge Gary W. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court ruled Tuesday there is sufficient evidence to try Richard Anthony Weaver, 20, and John Robert Prater, 35, on a charge of burglarizing the William Ambrose home in Los Ranchitos June 21. The pair will appear in the higher court July 16.

Ambrose testified yesterday that a souvenir dollar bill once given to him by a business partner was found in the pocket of one of the defendants when they were arrested shortly after the burglary. The bank note was discolored from being exposed to tobacco smoke, Ambrose testified.

According to the Marin Sheriff's Office, Ambrose returned to his home at 91 Glenside Way and found a man loading loot into a car in the Ambrose driveway.

Ambrose blocked the driveway with his car, but the man escaped by ramming the car, pushing it and a pickup truck off a 30-foot bank.

Prater and Weaver fled the house on foot but were caught soon thereafter, the sheriff's office said. The driver of the getaway car, who escaped with more than $20,000 in loot, has been identified as Earl Frank Weaver, and a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Tam Valley Board Eyes Ballpark

A proposal to build a Little League baseball diamond at Eastwood Park has been presented to the Tamalpais Community Services District board.

Directors agreed Tuesday night to meet with representatives of the American League of the Little League organization at 7:30 p.m. July 24 to further discuss the proposed diamond, which would cover an acre of the five-acre park. Cost of the project was estimated at $25,000.

In other business, directors were told by a representative of Bell Savings and Loan, owner of the Marinview housing development, that $40,000 would be spent to improve sewer facilities at the development site.

The board adjourned until 7:30 p.m. July 24 in district offices, 305 Bell Lane.

Road Job Asked By Muir Beach

The Muir Beach Property Owners Association board wants the state Division of Highways to straighten out shoreline highway leading to Muir beach.

According to association spokesman Charles R. Felix, the board reached that unanimous conclusion Tuesday night, saying it's a mistake to think that taking kinks out of the road between Panoramic Highway and Muir Beach would result in floods of people coming to the beach.

"Our people have accidents there all the time," he said, "and we want something done."

He said that two representatives of the state Division of Highways were on hand to discuss the matter and promised to investigate it further.

No Drug Charges For Tiburon Men

No charge has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against three Tiburon men arrested in a drug case. The Marin District Attorney's Office said it will investigate the matter further.

The men, William M. Graham, 21, Donald D. Fannin, 25, and John R. Fannin, 30, were arrested Sunday on suspicion of possessing what Belvedere Police termed "a large quantity" of marijuana, hashish oil, cocaine and heroin.

NOVATO TREES TAKE A TRIP

Special heavy equipment lifts a 30-foot noble fir tree, together with a six-foot ball of dirt, out of the future right-of-way of Tamalpais Avenue in Novato. Four trees were relocated yesterday, to allow the widening of Tamalpais between Novato Boulevard and Center Road and the reconstruction of a bridge, at a cost of $172,063. The street will be closed in about two weeks. Center Road traffic also will be detoured while the stretch between Lu Sutton School to Wilson Avenue is widened at a cost of $149,025, according to engineer Michael S. Griffith.

Water District's Budget Is Down

A $7.8 million dollar preliminary budget for 1973-74 was presented last night to the Marin Municipal Water District board which briefly reviewed the spending plan but took no action.

The budget is less than half this year's $15.4 million spending plan because this year the district will spend only $1.2 million of the bond funds approved by voters in 1971 for improvements to its system. Last year $8.4 million of the bond money was spent.

Operating expenditures are also down slightly from 1972-73, from $6.6 and $6.3 million.

The budget includes a 5.5 per cent across-the-board increase for district employees. The number of employees will also drop, from 211 last year to 204. The district's engineering division will lose six employees, the decrease made possible because of the smaller amount of bond work to be done.

According to Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger, the operating budget should result in no increases in water rates since it can be financed through existing rates.

Revenues for 1973-74 will total $6.3 million, including $5.7 million from the sale of water.

Proposed expenditures, with last year's figure in parenthesis include: construction and maintenance division, $986,615 ($950,580); engineering, $258,005 ($301,655); water treatment and distribution, $951,920 ($897,210); land management, $108,810 ($83,955); financial, $1.1 million ($1 million) and administration, $250,485 ($230,110).

The district will spend $2.2 million for capital improvements. Of this, $1.2 million will be financed from 1971 bond funds and $542,320 will come from revenue.

Of the capital budget, $370,500 will go for improvement to the district's transmission system and $150,000 will be spent for tank and storage.

Miscellaneous capital costs, totaling $113,800, will include $44,000 for fluoridation equipment. A total of $63,725 is budgeted for new meters and the district expects to spend $137,300 for 23 new vehicles.

Costs of other equipment, from office supplies to mobile radio replacements, will be $32,125.

The board is expected to act on the budget at a special meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the district office in Corte Madera.

Young Girl, 12 Injured As Car Flips On Highway

A 12-year-old Mill Valley girl was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with injuries suffered yesterday in an accident on Highway 101.

Suffering a fractured nose and multiple scrapes and bruises was Terri L. Marvin of 210 Hawthorne Lane when the station wagon-van in which she was a passenger overturned on the highway and slid down an embankment, finally coming to rest against a tree.

The California Highway Patrol said the victim's mother, Victoria Irene Allen, 33, of the same address, was driving north when she turned the car to avoid another automobile, ran up on the center divider and the station wagon then turned over.

Neither Mrs. Allen nor her stepson,, Robert G. Allen Jr., another passenger in the car, was injured seriously.

Women Sought For Pageant

Application forms are available for the 11th annual "Miss Rohnert Park" pageant to be held Sept. 7.

The winner will reign over the three-day Founder's Day weekend through Sept. 9 and will appear at local events throughout the year.

Contestants must be Rohnert Park residents, never married and at least 15-years old. Application forms are available at the Rohnert Park Rexall Pharmacy or at the Exchange Bank of Rohnert Park.

Jack Eddinger, Rohnert Park chamber president, is pageant chairman and Audrey Choan will serve as director for the 11th year.

Bastille Day Art Show For Tiburon

An art celebration in honor of Bastille Day will be held in Tiburon next Saturday and Sunday in the old railroad yard outside the Pandemonium Store.

According to a Tiburon resident, Douglas Scott, who organized the show, it will feature 15 artists including Deanna de Chauron of Belvedere, Diane Beeston of San Francisco and William Barley of Tiburon.

$53,000 Approved For Impact Report

Directors of the Marin Municipal Water District yesterday agreed to spend $53,000 for an environmental impact report and preliminary financial statement on the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct, a future water supply project which the district plans to present to voters in November.

Two consulting firms — Arthur D. Little Inc. and Madrone Associates — have agreed to have a preliminary draft of the reports ready by Aug. 15.

Directors, who decided tentatively on Monday to put the aqueduct on the ballot rather than a local water supply project on Walker Creek in West Marin will make a final decision on a project on Aug. 22.

The consultants will also do a complete report on the Walker Creek proposal — ("just short of an environmental impact report," they told the board) so the board can take another look at that project before deciding.

The Marin Municipal Water District board also:

CONTRACTS — Awarded contracts for equipment to these low bidders: Groeniger and Co., $11,805 for cast iron fittings; Pacific Pipe Co., $2,753 for fittings; Pipeline Accessories Corp., $2,563 for bronze service saddles and Edward S. Walsh Co., $19,524 for gate valves.

EQUIPMENT — Voted to pay $8,441 to Don Presco Co. for modification to the Corte Madera Yard Office to house automated control system equipment.

CONFERENCE — Agreed to permit Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger to attend the American Public Works Association conference in Denver Sept. 15 to present a paper on "Growth Control and Planning." Director Ronald T. Stafford voted against the trip, saying, "There's a limit to how many junkets and meetings we should take part in."

Protest Frigate Defying Test Order

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI) — The New Zealand protest frigate Otago remained inside the declared prohibited area off the Mururoa atoll tonight, defying a French order for all ships and aircraft to leave the zone where France plans a series of nuclear tests which may begin this weekend.

New Zealand Prime Minister Norman Kirk compared his government's action in sending a warship into the zone with the British government's action in its "Cod War" with Iceland.

A Defense Ministry spokesman in Wellington said the frigate, carrying New Zealand Immigration Minister Fraser M. Colman, was patrolling up and down inside the 72-mile zone the French had ordered cleared.

Mururoa Atoll is in the Tuamotu archipelago, 720 miles southeast of Tahiti and about 4,000 miles northeast of Wellington.

The spokesman said the French minesweeper which had been shadowing the frigate had not reappeared and French military aircraft had not made any more sweeps over the ship.

Kirk told Parliament today the French government had been told New Zealand would hold Paris responsible for any interference with New Zealand ships on the high seas in the vicinity of Mururoa Atoll.

Replying to questions, Kirk said Paris would also be held responsible for any injury to New Zealand citizens caused by French action.

However, New Zealand had made it clear that the Otago would not be drawn into any confrontation by the actions of any private protest vessels, he said. The international protest ship Fri also is in the forbidden zone.

Later tonight in a nationallly televised debate with opposition National Party leader John Marshall, Kirk said the World Court told Iceland not to enforce the 50-mile zone. Iceland refused to obey and Britain sent in protecting warships.

"It's the same situation," said Kirk. The New Zealand protest frigate was in international waters that France had no right to block off, he said.

Marshall said protests should be made "without creating incidents which upset the French,"

"I'm concerned that the publicity and this confrontation will make the French more determined, more obstinate, more likely to go ahead. The French are very patriotic people, very determined to maintain the glory of France and all that and they may react the opposite way."

Kirk said he thought some tests would go ahead but he considered the protest could limit the number of tests and the size of the nuclear devices.

French Radical Party President Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber appearing later on the same program said he thought the French government was "trying to bluff away those (protest) ships."

"If a bluff, I am convinced that it is a bluff." Schreiber said, adding he believed the tests would not start as long as the protest ships were in the zone.

The latest speculation in Paris is that they might begin on the Bastille Day weekend starting Friday.

Speaking by radio telephone from the Otago Wednesday night, Immigration Minister Colman said morale was very high and there were no apprehensions about the nuclear tests as the crew were familiar with fallout techniques.

A QUICK SNACK

Any fisherman can tell you that patience is the most important virtue of fishing, but nobody told 2-year-old Jeri Lyn Persons. She couldn't wait to eat so she got a chicken leg to munch on while her friend, Chris Kleacher, 3, stuck to the matter recently at hand near Lake Jackson, Ga.

Reinecke 'Not Fearful' Of An Investigation Of His ITT Role

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke says he has "nothing to fear" from an investigation of his role in the ITT-Republican National Convention controversy.

Reinecke, a contender for governor next year, also told newsmen yesterday he has telephone bills proving he called then Atty. Gen. John Mitchell on June 2 and June 7, 1971, and said he believed they discussed the 1972 GOP convention planned for San Diego.

Reinecke said he wants his role in the controversy "wrapped up so we can get it off the headlines once and for all," adding "this thing has been dragging on for a year and a half."

"I have nothing to fear and welcome it as I have said before to have the FBI or (Special Watergate Prosecutor) Archibald Cox or anybody else to get in here and get this thing cleaned up once and for all and get rid of it," he said.

Sen. John V. Tunney, DCalif., Tuesday asked Cox to decide by Sept. 1 whether to seek a perjury indictment against Reinecke in connection with his testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee last year at International Telephone and Telegraph hearings.

In contrast to Reinecke's statements, Mitchell has denied in sworn testimony that he talked with Reinecke in 1971 about the San Diego convention and ITT's offer to underwrite it at a cost of $400,000. The Justice Department announced in July 1971 a settlement of a pending antitrust action against the firm.

Asked yesterday whether he also wanted a decision from Cox by Sept. 1, Reinecke replied, "Certainly."

"To use the term perjury implies that I am guilty of something of which I am not guilty," the Republican lieutenant governor said. "And, I just would like to make that very clear too."

Reinecke told a news conference in his office that telephone charges billed to him showed he called Mitchell in Washington, D.C., twice in June 1971 — once at 9:45 a.m. and the other at 7:11 a.m. The charges were $3.15 and $4.50.

Reinecke previously told reporters that he met with Mitchell in May 1971 and informed him of the ITT offer. Later, however, he testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee that he did not tell Mitchell about the offer until September after the antitrust settlement had been approved.

Two weeks ago, Reinecke reversed himself again and said he had talked with Mitchell by telephone in May or June of 1971. His disclosure followed in the wake of an interview he had with the FBI.

Reinecke told reporters yesterday that his "best recollection" of the calls involved an "updating of programs that we were working on."

"One of them was, of course, bringing the convention to San Diego," he said.

The convention subsequently was shifted to Miami.

The other calls, he said, involved California procurement of the space shuttle program and the government's loan to the Lockheed Corp.

Second Band Concert Is Set

The College of Marin Community Band will play its second outdoor concert of this summer on July 22 at 4 p.m. at the college.

The program will be presented on the main campus mall near the fine arts building - at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and College Avenue in Kentfield.

Conducted by John H. Myers, the band will play light classics and marches. A trumpet trio of Ken Manzella, Jon Pankin and Mike Calabrese will play "The Three Jets" by Chuck Bradford.

Innocent Plea To Burglaries

A Fairfax man accused of twice burglarizing Hill Junior High School in Novato has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court.

Following the plea of George Roberts Jr., 18, of 31 Willow Avenue, Judge Gary W. Thomas set a preliminary hearing for July 19.

Roberts is accused of entering the school in April, vandalizing several rooms and stealing a pass key, which he used to enter the school a second time June 14.

According to the Marin District Attorney's Office, Roberts and several other persons involved in the burglary took more than $1,100 worth of equipment and cash, some of which they later sold.

Charged POW 'Physically Unfit'

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (UPI) — A Navy hospital board recommended yesterday that Marine Lt. Col. Edison W. Miller, one of two officers facing charges brought by another ex-POW, should be discharged on medical grounds.

The board said Miller, the highest ranking Marine captured by the North Vietnamese, is medically unfit for duty because of injuries sustained during five years as a prisoner.

Commission Shifts July Meeting Date

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission has changed its July meeting date to July 18 at 1:30 p.m. at the Civic Center.

Normally, the commission meets on the fourth Wednesday of each month but moved it ahead one week this month to accommodate vacation schedules.

Sunken Treasure Beckons Divers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two former Navy aquanauts announced plans yesterday to use the recently perfected technique of "saturation diving" in a new attempt to salvage valuables from the sunken ocean liner Andrea Dora.

Christopher De Lucchi, 22, and Donald Rodocker, 27, will live for 10 days starting July 18 in a compression chamber resting on the Atlantic floor near the hulk 45 miles south of Nantucket Island.

De Lucchi, one of two Navy divers who made a world record dive of 945 feet off the California coast in 1972, said the limitations of traditional free diving caused previous salvage attempts to fail.

"Divers who used the SCUBA free diving method were hindered by decompression time limitations," De Lucchi said. "Divers could work only for about 20 minutes before returning to the surface via decompression waiting periods at various depth intervals."

By living in a "habitat" on the bottom, the aquanauts will have to decompress only once—when they return to the surface. They will set out from the 12 foot long chamber twice a day for a total daily work time of eight hours a man.

Their goal is a reported $1.1 million believed to be in the four banks aboard the Italian liner which sank nearly 17 years ago after she was rammed by a Swedish ship. She was left with a gash sliced through seven of her 11 decks.

Other underwater treasure aboard includes metallic sculpture, including a $250,000 silver plaque; two bronze propellers worth $35,000 each; a $10,000 anchor; silverware and china settings; paintings which still may be undamaged in their marine shipping containers, and souvenirs such as the ship's bell, wheel, log and plaque.

The icy water may have sufficiently preserved three cars—a Chrysler "idea car," a Rolls Royce and a Mercedes Benz—for them to be sold as relics.

"For all these years, the Andria Doria has been called the Mt. Everest for professional divers," Rodocker said. "We, too, are motivated by the adventure, the challenge and the rewards of treasure-seeking."

Among the obstacles encountered by past divers who have tried to recover the valuables have been sharks, thousands of fish who feed on the marine growth which has covered the hulls, and a jumbled interior like the movie "Poseidon Adventure" with eerie floating objects such as carpeting and furniture.

The project has cost $60,000 thus far with backing coming from private investors. Final costs are expected to reach $100,000.

A Delivery Man Talks To A Dummy

The newspaper delivery man was startled.

The man appeared to be "spaced out," or under the influence of drugs, thought the delivery man, Mark Wilson, of 1553 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, and he was wearing only a pair of blue coveralls despite the pre-dawn chill.

Wilson tried to make conversation with the man but he just stood there, unmoving, one hand on the doorknob behind him. So Wilson left and called the Marin Sheriff's Department.

When a deputy arrived, according to a report released yesterday, he quickly solved the riddle. The "man" actually was a life-sized mannequin.

Maintain Build-Up Of Arms: Zumwalt

OAK HARBOR, Wash. (UPI) — The United States needs to maintain an arms build-up at least equal to that of the Soviet Union for bargaining purposes at the negotiating table, the Navy's chief of operations Adm. Elmo Zumwalt says.

He told a news conference Tuesday it was important for the United States to keep itself abreast of new developments in case the Russians, in the future, decide to present a more aggressive foreign policy.

Bleach Kills Picasso's Grandson

ANTIBES, France (UPI) — Pablito Picasso, 24, grandson of the late artist Pablo Picasso, died at La Fontanne hospital yesterday three months after he tried to kill himself reportedly because he had been truned away from the painter's home.

Young Picasso swallowed chlorine bleach April 12 at the home of his mother in nearby Golfe-Juan and had been hospitalized in Antibes since then.

Only the dead youth's father, Paulo, the only legitimate child of Picasso, was allowed to enter Picasso's home at Mougins after the artist died and to attend his funeral.

Members of the family said Pablito became depressed because he was turned away from his grandfather's gate on instructions from Picasso's widow, as were all mourners except for Paulo and Picasso's local laywer.

Car Theft

A 1968 automobile has been reported stolen from Imported Motor Sales, 375 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael. Police said Calvin K. Blake, sales manager for the firm, reported that the theft occured between noon and 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Novato Parks Attendance Up

Attendance reached 64,545 during June in programs at the Novato Parks and Recreation Department programs, compared to 52,914 the previous June, Director Edward W. Adams has reported to the parks and recreation commission.

Adams said that there was a big increase in the use of parks since school is out.

The commission accepted a $600 gift from the Novato Garden Club to help the city with the landscaping at the prehistory museum on Novato Boulevard at Eucalyptus Avenue.

It set 8 p.m. July 25 at the parks and recreation conference room to study the parks element of the Novato master plan.

Manslaughter Trial Ordered

An 18-year-old Novato yough has been bound over to Marin Superior Court to face charges of manslaughter in the death of another Novatan.

Brian Allan Reuger will appear in the higher court July 18, Judge Gary W. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court ruled.

Benefit Party Slated Sunday For Inverness Music Festival

GWEN CURATILO
Soprano

A benefit party for the Inverness Music Festival will be given Sunday from 3 to 5:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al West in San Anselmo.

Soprano Gwen Curatilo and cellist Jed Barahal will entertain, and a silent auction is planned.

Reservations chairman is Carole Berg of Kentfield, who is also president of the board of directors of the festival, which will be held Aug. 11, 12, 18 and 19 at St. Columbas Church in Inverness.

MRS. CHARLES Sugarman of Mill Valley is chairman of the painting party being held today in the pediatric section of Mount Zion Hospital in San Francisco.

Members of the newly formed group, the Kangaroos, of which Shari Sugarman is chairman, are dedicated to supporting two new programs at the hospital, care with parents and family centered childbirth.

The painting of the pediatric section is the first project. Other members of the Kangaroos from Marin are Mrs. Sugarman's husband and Messrs. and Mmes. Craig Morris of San Anselmo, William Greenspan of Sausalito and Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Slayen of San Anselmo.

Laurel Rae Offenbach Will Marry Dale Lear

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Offenbach of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter Laurel Rae to Dale Lear of Redwood City.

Laurel is the sister of Rodger, Jim, Larry, Chris and Jodi Offenbach and the granddaughter of Mrs. Marko Cukrou of San Francisco.

She was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended the College of Marin. She is a teacher's assistant in the Redwood City school district.

Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lear Jr. of Redwood City and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lear of San Francisco and Mrs. A. Burns of Fort Smith, Ark. He is the brother of Wayne and Paul Lear.

He was graduated from San Carlos High School and Canada College. He attended the University of California, Santa Clara and is currently employed by American Regitel Corporation.

The couple plan an Aug. 26 wedding.

The Lord Is Her Shepherd

By DOROTHY NEWELL

"It was in 1960 when my daughter was 13 years old, and I was so wrapped up in despair, worrying about her college education and being alone with her, that I didn't get out of the house.

"All of a sudden I looked up to the Lord, and the clouds disappeared."

These were the words of vibrant Mrs. Cecil E. Vesy of Rocklin (Placer County) who spoke before the newly formed Marin County Christian Women's Club at the Alvarado Inn in Ignagio yesterday.

She was in Omaha, Neb., in 1960 and decided to move to New Jersey, where her parents and family members lived.

She worked for six years in public relations for an investment firm writing a newspaper column, where, she said, she just made enough money to meet her obligations. And when her daughter received her degree from college she said again, while watching a plane going overhead — why not fly around the country, and she said the Lord answered her prayers.

SHE STARTED work for Shell Oil Co., and started planning vacations for families. She traveled by plane, with headquarters in Los Angeles, advising people in San Francisco, Portland, Ore., or Boise, Idaho, how to travel by car, "to use more Shell products."

She was asked to make patterns for travel clothes — again she said, I talked to the Lord one night, and the next morning she came up with the idea of a poncho pattern long before they became popular, for the short, tall and also wide woman. She wrote under the name of Carol Lane and says she knows nothing about sewing. She also designed a pattern for a basic dress with a lace cage and showed how she gave ideas in her patterns for use of scarves.

Then, while still working for Shell Oil, where she traveled 80,000 miles a year, she decided to take an auto mechanics course. She was then asked to write another booket. She said she again went to bed at night, "asked the dear Lord to help her," and she said the next morning she came up with the idea, "what's a nice girl like you doing under the hood of your car" or "please lady, I'd rather do it myself."

After her daughter was through college and married Jane Vesy was alone. She said she thought she would like to have someone to share her life. She is also a grandmother.

IT WAS ON a plane trip from San Francisco to Santa Rosa that the pilot turned around and said "Fasten your seat belts." She related that she thought to herself, "Oh, Lord, I'm in love." Two months later she and the pilot met again and were married June 25, 1972.

Living many years in hotels, she had forgotten much about cooking, and her husband has two teen-agers.

She now gets up at 6:30 a.m. and is always running to the supermarket, she said, and sometimes prays to the Lord that the meals will be right.

Betrothed Girl Is U.C. Davis Graduate

Marta Lynne Pray of Gilroy, engaged to Robert-David James Thomson of San Rafael, was graduated from the University of California, Davis.

In a story Saturday announcing the engagement of the couple, Miss Pray was incorrectly identified as still attending the university.

Fashion Change

As fashion evolved into the elegant, classic looks being shown for fall, cultured pearl ropes evolved, too—into shorter and more believable necklaces in choker, matinee or opera lengths.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Finding Way Out Of Nightmare Helps Dreamer Back To Sleep

RAP: Am I weird?

When I have a nightmare that wakes me up shaking, I spend the next ten minutes making up a way out of the mess — a happy ending sort of — so I can go to sleep again and it won't bother me.

I know a nightmare isn't real and once you're awake, it's over, so am I a little nuts, working over the plot? — DREAMER AWAKE

D.A.:

Who isn't? Making a bad dream turn out right is the best way I know to tame a nightmare. — SUE

DREAMER:

HELEN AND SUE:

Which of your letters got the most response in recent months? — ASKING AGAIN

AA.:

The controversy over corporal punishment in schools won hands down (no pun intended) over the next runner-up: that letter from the unloved girl who wrote the anti-tribute, "What is a Mother?" (We were flooded with rebuttals from teen-agers describing their great mothers, and only two girls wrote, "We know what she means!")

Third in line were comments on our "outlandish" letter about how the auctioned-off black slaves "had it so good." Would you believe, half the answers agreed with the letter?. . . Which is a pretty sad commentary on "free" America!

RAP:

I wonder where the person lives who has "never known a child unjustly or cruelly punished by a teacher." Not in the State of Indiana, that's sure!

I knew a sixth-grade student here who was bruised black with six hard blows administered by the principal. Then the teacher who reported the boy got in his six whacks, while the mother was forced to watch. This "discipline" continued until the boy ran away. No one could understand why they couldn't do anything with him.

Teen-aged high school girls have been forced to bend over, touch their toes, while the principal swatted them on the fanny.

There are laws to protect children from brutality in the home, but if a child is sent from school to home with bruises, it's all in the interest of good education! — K.A.A.

DEAR RAP:

To my knowledge, we've never had a spanking at our school, because the school is made so interesting and vital that the children don't rebel. The few who try are soon stopped by the kids themselves. — LUCKY IN NEW JERSEY

RAP:

I say if kids disrupt the class, let'em be whacked! — STUDENT

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

Children with good training rarely need punishment at school.

Teachers must maintain control of their classes. I prefer that my child be punished physically where I can see the damge, than for a teacher to resort to verbal correction which leaves permanent scars emotionally — damage I may never know about. — R.M.O.

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of the Independent-Journal if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.

Millions Give Aid To Schools

NEW YORK (UPI) — More than two million persons donate services to their local schools in 3,000 programs in every state, the National Education Association (NEA) reports.

"The growth and scope of the school volunteer movement clearly demonstrates that early resistance has all but disappeared," says the NEA.

Freshen Up

To freshen up the home in the summer, replace worn-out or dusty looking lampshades and replace heavier cafe curtains with sheer nylon printed ones which permit daylight to come through.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES VERN GENTRY
July 7 wedding

Katherine Roth Bryan Marries James Gentry

Katherine Roth Bryan of San Anselmo was wed to James Vern Gentry of San Francisco Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mead of Piedmont.

Katherine is the daughter of Mrs. Jane Borland Edwards of Oakland and George William Bryan of San Francisco. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Philip Gentry of Visalia.

The bride's sister Mrs. Arthur Vern Pearson was matron of honor and Massimo Ruggiero of San Francisco was best man.

The bride debuted at the first Marin Debutante Ball in 1962. She was graduated from the University of California, Berkeley and the University of California at Los Angeles with a Masters Degree in education. She was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority.

The bridegroom was graduated from the University of California, Berkeley with a degree in architecture. He is employed at Bechtel Corporation.

The couple will live in San Anselmo.

Toastmistress Club Seats Mrs. Martino

Caroline H. Martino of San Rafael has been installed president of the San Rafael Toastmistress Club.

Mrs. Martino has served as secretary and vice president during her three years with the club.

Its purpose, she said, is to improve the individual members through study and practice in conversation, speech, group leadership and analytical listening. The club also attempts to foster a better appreciation of public speaking and to stimulate community service and responsible citizenship, she said.

Membership is open to any person interested in self-improvement, said Mrs. Martino, and plans for the year include increasing the membership and continuing with the objectives of the Toastmistresses.

Mrs. Martino, the wife of Peter Martino, is also a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin. She was graduated from Kent State University in Ohio with a degree in business administration and is employed with Gary Nelson and Associates. She has lived in Marin for 12 years.

Other officers to serve with Mrs. Martino include Mmes. Fanniebel Beam, vice president; June Ferguson, secretary; Donna Walters, treasurer and Marjorie Salin, club representative.

Puzzle Your Kin For Pleasure

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

A family might want this week to have each member think up a puzzle for every other member. You each might put the puzzles in an envelope marked with the name of each member of the family. Give yourselves three or four days and see how many of you can figure out all the puzzles in your envelope.

When you make up your puzzles, be sure to keep a record of the answers and how you got them in order to settle any disputes.

Using these letters, form a 10-letter word meaning "annoyance": T I O R N A.

WHAT WORD, beginning with an "h" and ending with an "n", contains six words without transposing a single letter? Hint: one of the words is "in."

From the following group of letters, use each one once and only once and see how few words you can make. To repeat, the rule is that you must use all the letters. The aim is to form as few words as possible. The letters are:

A A C C E I L N O O P P R T U W.

This next puzzle is a bit of a mystery. The answer is really quite simple, whether or not you have a train set to work it out.

A man had to travel from Chicago to St. Louis by train in order to keep a business appointment. On the morning that he left home to keep his appointment, his wife drove him to the train station, waited on the platform to see him off, and waved to him as the train pulled away from the station.

THE TRAIN, with the husband on board, traveled from Chicago to St. Louis without stopping. On reaching St. Louis, the husband stepped off the train and the first person to greet him was his wife. She had not traveled by boat, road, air or train. How did she manage to get to St. Louis?

Will you get this one right away? How much dirt is there in a hole 18 inches square and 1 foot deep?

This one may take a little longer: When I am as old as my father is now I shall be five times the age my son is now. The combined ages of my father and myself total 100 years. How old is my son?

Or, try this one. I am told that Wendy is twice as old as Ellie used to be when Bill happened to be as old as Ellie is now. Ellie is now 18. How old do you think Wendy is?

Next week: a scavenger hunt.

Life In Napa Is Topic For Radio Program

"Moving North — the Good Life in the Napa Valley" is the topic on Jorie Talks, KTIM radio program, Tuesday at 9 a.m. Host Jorie Parr will interview Robert and Scarlett Dwyer on their lifestyle.

The Dwyers, formerly of Sausalito and the North Beach Section of San Francisco, now live in the wine country between St. Helena and Calistoga. Bob Dwyer is general manager of Hurd Beeswax Candles in St. Helena.

Department Eyed For Leisure Wear

A Los Angeles swimwear manufacturer advocates a total "leisure department" for stores, where a holiday-bound customer could purchase everything with one stop.

By FRANK S. SWERTLOW

NEW YORK (UPI) — When Alicia Weber peers through her camera, she sees a world filled with heroes and villains, winners and losers, clowns and fools.

Miss Weber is a news cameraawoman for the National Broadcasting Co., and the first on the staff of a major network.

"I didn't call them," she said in an interview. "They called me."

But breaking into the network wasn't as easy as a telephone call. There were years of freelancing. And doubt. And the knowledge she was entering a man's world.

"It was sort of hell looking for work. It was like walking on a tightrope. One day my emotions would be built up, and the next day they would be turned into fantasy."

Miss Weber was born in Cambridge, England 25 years ago. When she was 15, her father brought his family to the University of Illinois, at Urbana, where he has been a professor for the past 10 years.

ALTHOUGH SHE still retains a British accent, every so often she loses herself in a cowboy drawl. She occasionally rolls her own cigarettes.

Miss Weber's career in film began at Antioch College, at Yellow Springs, Ohio, where she made television documentaries and several short films, one of which, "Prelude," won an international prize.

"I started out in film because I was curious. It wasn't as if I watched movies for 10 or 15 years and that was all I did. At one point I even dropped it."

After graduation, she taught film for two summers and went on to freelance in San Francisco and later in Dayton, Ohio.

Then she came to New York and began what every freelancer has experienced.

THE PHONE calls to a friend. "Hey, did you hear of anything? Well thanks. By the way are you working this week." And the countless parties, jammed with pounding music and cigarette smoke and "I'll give you a call next week" people.

Miss Weber stretched herself out on a couch in her small East Village apartment in Manhattan and said that, at one point, she was down to $30.

Serious Meat Shortage Seen

Herrell DeGraff, president of the American Meat Institute, said there is growing evidence that American farmers are cutting back on livestock production to such an extent that the nation will have serious meat shortages in the months and years ahead.

DeGraff said that meat packing plants are now receiving unprecedented numbers of pregnant sows for slaughter as farmers liquidate breeding herds because of uncertainties caused by present price ceilings on meat.

"Unless rigid ceilings and freeze-price regulations on meat are removed immediately, the nation will face a meat shortage so serious that rationing will be inevitable in order to distribute equitably a meat supply that will be increasingly inadequate to consumer demand," he said.

"I had to get a job in an insurance company for three days."

Then she met a union cameraman who was impressed with her work and suggested she apply for membership in the television camera union. That was eight months ago.

"And at the same time I got the union application, a woman friend of mine wanted me to do the lighting for a conference on rape at Columbia University. I called NBC, and they told me to file an application. It was a two-minute conversation."

Then NBC called her. Try out for a week, they said. Try out for another week, they said. "After that, they said it was 90 per cent sure I could work," she said.

She made the staff and received a title, newsreel cameraman, and a 30-pound camera.

"YOU DON'T need big muscles. It's stamina. As long as you can stand up and not shake, you're OK." So far she has filmed fires, politicians, tennis matches and anything else her male counterparts have covered.

Michael Reitman, the supervisor of NBC camera crews, said, "We realized she was a breakthrough, but we had no thoughts, no plans either way to hire a woman. We were looking for someone capable, someone qualified. And she is both."

Of course, there has been some resentment about her.

"It's a business that was a traditionally male profession and it's expected there be some resentment. I'm taking their place," Miss Weber said. "It's very true. But it's somewhat overdue for women who want to work."

Pair Uses Own Vows In Wedding

Lindsay Joan Sansom of Saratoga and Warren James Miller of San Anselmo were wed at Saratoga Federated Church Saturday afternoon in a ceremony that included wedding vows written by the newlyweds.

Lindsay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Sansom of Saratoga and Warren is the son of Mrs. Wendall M. Miller and the late Mr. Miller of San Anselmo.

Cheryl Hart of Saratoga was the maid of honor and Ann Weatherholt and Marcia Podd of Saratoga and Beatrice Heise of Novato were bridesmaids.

Richard L. Wilson of Colorado Springs, Colo. was bestman. Ushers at the wedding were Martin A. Miller of New York City, the bridegroom's brother; Clark Wurtzberger of Sacramento and David Meyer of Fairfield.

The bride was graduated from Prospect High School in Saratoga and the University of California, Davis. She is the sister of Richard Sansom of Saratoga.

Warren was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and the University of California, Davis. He is the grandson of Mrs. Luella B. Hansen of Sacramento and the brother of Douglas Miller of San Anselmo. He is an electrical engineer at GTE Lenkurt Electronics in San Carlos.

Roomier Coats

Coats for fall and winter will be roomier than those of the last few seasons. This is so they will fit over everything new you wear in the fashion season ahead. The bulky, layered look is supposed to dominate.

PAMELA JOAN KEATING
Engagement announced

Engagement Announced By Keatings

Dr. and Mrs. George J. Keating of Claremont have announced the engagement of their daughter Pamela Joan to Terry Stempel of Greenbrae.

Pamela was graduated from Claremont High School and is presently a junior at the University of San Francisco where she is a nursing major.

Terry is the son of Mrs. Jane Stempel and the late Mr. George J. Stempel Jr. of Greenbrae. He was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and the University of San Francisco School of Business.

Mrs. Thomson Is Lambda Head

MRS. WALTER C. THOMSON
Heads Parliamentarians

Mrs. Walter C. Thomson of Sausalito is the new president of the California Lambda Unit of the National Association of Parliamentarians.

Martha Thomson has been a member of the unit for three years and has held the office of auditor. The purpose of the organization is to study and apply the principles and philosophy underlying the rules of deliberative assemblies.

"Each of the 44 parliamentary motions has evolved to serve the rights of the majority, minority, individual and absentee members of organizations. Our classes in parliamentary procedure for presiding officers, officers and members of organizations help them to make meetings more effective and to see that the rights of all are protected," Mrs. Thomson said.

This year the unit, which serves all of Marin County, will continue monthly study sessions, meeting the fourth Wednesday of each month at the Sausalito Woman's Club. The new president also hopes to initiate additional classes for current organization leaders.

Full membership is open to those already affiliated with the National Association, and to those who, upon completion of studies of parliamentary principles, pass a comprehensive examination on the subject.

The new president is also a member of the Golen Gate District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, the Sausalito Woman's Club, Sausalito Presbyterian Church, League of Women Voters of Southern Marin, Prebytery of the Redwoods, Master Plan Committee, Sausalito School District, and Bayside-King Parent-Teacher Association.

Born in San Francisco, Mrs. Thomson has lived in Marin County since 1936. She is a gradate of Tamalpais High School.

Her husband is a supervising engineer technician. They have three grown sons, Paul Alexander Thomson of Mill Valley, Capt. James H. Thomson, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., Walter Carlton Thomson Jr., of Concord, and one daughter, Martha Ann, 13, of Sausalito.

Public education is of special interest to Mrs. Thomson. Her hobbies are decoupage, knitting, crocheting, creative stitchery and dressmaking.

Others on the incoming board are Mmes. Albert Heston, Greenbrae, vice president; Chester C. Vargas, Belvedere, secretary; Edwin F. Gardiner, Woodacre, treasurer; Conrad T. Kett, Sausalito, parliamentarian, and George C. Chapman, Sausalito, auditor and publicity chairman

TALKS ON MOVIES

Richard Benjamin's Voice Stops Cracking

By LOUISE SWEENEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

ST. PAUL DE VENCE, France — Richard Benjamin is sitting at an empty restaurant table giving his probably 27th interview of the day, and you have to hand it to the guy.

He is wearing a blue-and-white-checked cotton shirt, with short sleeves, slacks, a really disarming grin, and his newest ornament: a serious, dark moustache which changes the face familiar from "Goodbye, Columbus," "Catch '22," and "Diary of A Mad Housewife."

Speaking of the moustache he says, "It does change some things in my face, doesn't it?" Not angles, but a balancing, some kind of balancing.

The moustache seems to have given the lower part of his face a more commanding appearance than his sometimes nebbishy roles in pictures have allowed. And the voice, in person, matches. It is a resonant baritone, rather than the nervous, incredulous, higher register of his best known roles. "Playing the wacks in some other pictures you got up into this," his voice cracks half an octave higher.

"Because the person is not in touch with themselves, I mean they're having these interior neurotic problems . . . I've enjoyed the other parts I've done but I thought I've gotta shape this up. I'm seeing a lot of the kind of stuff I've done (before). I want to get into other things."

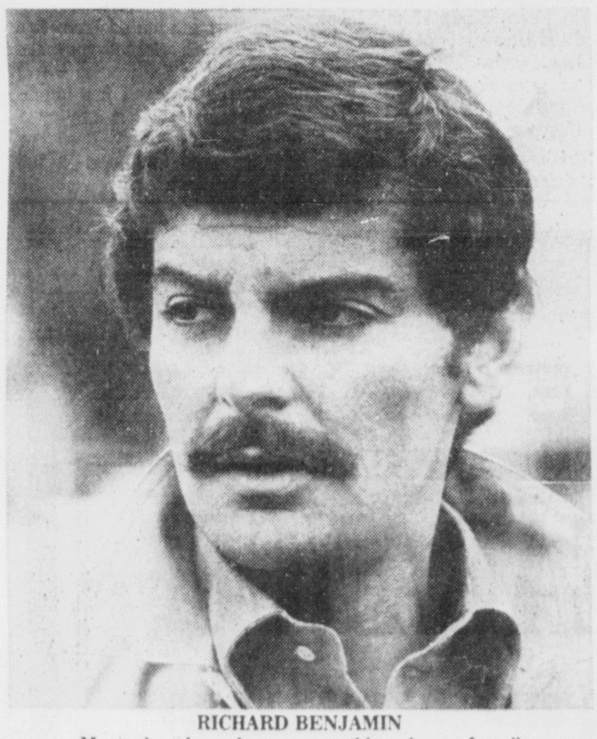
One of the other things he's gotten into is the role of a dapper, ice-cube cool villain in "The Last of Sheila," a Warner Brothers thriller shot in the south of France. He is holed up, along with the rest of the cast, in a mountaintop hotel, talking to the press about that film and his views as an actor.

Benjamin, who in private life is married to actress Paula Prentiss, says that as actors, "We start off the same way. We start out in the same place, which is always listen, real life. That's it. There isn't anything else. How can acting be anything but saying this is the way it is in real life? I see other people acting and I see how it works and I see where they get it from. With Paula, I don't see how she goes to the depths of the emotion she does. We start (with real life) and then she does some other kind of process. I say, 'What are you doing now, are you thinking about your father?'

"She used to do harmful things to get her in (acting) state, painful things, really extraordinary, which she no longer does. I mean she would do anything if a scene demanded a certain kind of emotion. She broke her ankle in Hawaii in a film called 'In Harm's Way' to get herself what she thought was ready for the scene. She certainly was ready for the scene . . . (British critic) Kenneth Tynan said in his review that 'In this picture, which is mediocre, there is just one performance, by Paula Prentiss,' and then he mentioned the very scene in which she had just done this thing to get herself up for it. But now she can get herself up without doing that kind of thing.

Paula Prentiss and he met at Northwestern University, where they were classmates. He majored in speech, although theater was his love: "You were not allowed to be a mindless theater person, so I had 80 hours of liberal arts, 100 hours of theater." That was after his first role, as Scrooge in a Christmas play at P.S. 87 in New York.

The Benjamins dual interest in acting began professionally on their honeymoon, which was spent on location in Europe where her first film was being shot. They have appeared together on television in the sitcom series "He and She." The "he" of that program feels the short-lived series would have a warmer reception now in an era when there's more sophistication possible in TV series. "You have to remember we were on at the end of the farm shows. We followed 'Green Acres,' and when we'd tune in just before our program, there was this pig dancing, a little pig was dancing! Then our show would come on. Now folks who loved the pig dancing are not going to go for our show . . . I think we would have probably had a better shot at it today!"



RICHARD BENJAMIN
Mustache "does change some things in my face."

Mr. Benjamin's career began to rocket shortly after "He and She" with his bull's-eye performance in Larry Peerce's "Goodbye, Columbus." Speaking of shooting that film he said, "It was like being at camp, we all loved each other a lot."

He also speaks warmly of his film-making experience with director Mike Nichols on "Catch-22."

I asked Benjamin how he came up with the wonderful Cheshire Cat smile he wears for his role in that film.

"Oh, that's Mike's smile. I really like him, he's one of the best to work with that there is."

Benjamin still sees life through a "Catch-22" lens sometimes. "I mean Watergate, look at it, it's all 'Catch-22' come true." He talks about the situation and the argument that bugging was done in the name of national security. He says, "Whose security? The Cambodians are going to come over here on lily pads and throw rice balls? What are they talking about?"

Benjamin followed "Catch-22" with Frank Perry's "Diary of a Mad Housewife," in which he played a status-obsessed husband. He speaks of his experience with that director: "Frank Perry was very sensitive, very tuned in to what's going on inside of you . . . He knows that actors are working when the camera's not running. A scene may take two days to do; he knows that you're in the midst of an emotional sort of area, you sort of set yourself for two days, and you sort of stay there.

Benjamin's very promising career has had a couple of stumps: "Marriage of A Young Stockbroker" and "Portnoy's Complaint." He is asked if he thinks in retrospect that accepting the starring role in the tasteless flop "Portnoy" was a mistake. He answers, "Gee, I can't look at it in retrospect because that picture was not a successful picture. I mean, I only want to be in hits. I don't want to be in any pictures that aren't hits."

Inverness Music Fete Dates Listed

Chamber, orchestral and operatic works will be featured at the ninth annual Inverness Music Festival on Aug. 8, 11, 12, 18 and 19.

Sandor Salgo, conductor of the Marin Symphony and director of the Carmel Bach Festival, will conduct the program for the second year.

The Lenox String Quartet will open the festival Aug. 8 at 8 p.m. with a recital of chamber works by Mozart at College of Marin. The program will include Quartet in D minor, and Quartet in C major.

Mozart's comic opera "The Marriage of Figaro" will be staged in English on Aug. 12 and 19 at 2:30 p.m. in St. Columba's amphitheatre, Inverness. Soloists will include Gwen Curatilo, Margery Tede and Marc Clemens.

On Aug. 12 Salgo will conduct the festival orchestra in an all Mozart program at the amphitheatre at 2:30 p.m. The program will feature Serenade in C minor for Woodwinds, Piano Concerto in E Flat major. Guest soloists will be Lois Brayndywynne and Gary Bachlund.

Also on Aug. 11, cellist Jed Barahal will perform at 8 p.m. at St. Columba's Chapel. The program will include works by Bach, Haydn and Boccherini. Barahal, 18, has received scholarships from Dominican College and the Marin Symphony Association and will enter the Julliard School of Music in the fall.

The Marin Civic Ballet will present a ballet set to Brahms waltzes and Mozart Aug. 18 at 2:30 p.m. at the amphitheatre.

The Salkind Family will perform Aug. 18 at 8 p.m. at the church in Inverness. Milton and Peggy Salkind will perform at the four-hand piano and will be joined in the program by their children, Karen and Mark.

Scholarship Contestants Are Sought

Pianists planning to compete for the $600 Maybelle Speckmann music scholarship are urged to send in their application forms as soon as possible, Mrs. Speckmann announced today, in order that auditions arrangements may be made for the proper number of applicants.

The scholarship, named for the former Independent-Journal music critic, is offered to an advanced student of piano. The winner will also have the opportunity to appear in concert as a soloist with Marin's Orchestra Piccola, which has just completed an engagement at the Festival of Two Worlds in Spoleto, Italy.

Applicants must be no older than 22 as of Jan. 1, 1974; a resident of Marin or one whose family home is in the county; prepared to perform from memory the Bach D Minor Concerto, a major Beethoven sonata and a major romantic work. The money is to be used to further music education or a career in music.

WOLFE GRADE CONSTRUCTION ACCIDENT

A massive trailer lies on its side spilling about 16 cubic yards of fill dirt on Wolfe Grade and blocking traffic. The mishap occurred at the Poplar Drive intersection yesterday where Ghilotti Brothers contractors are reconstructing the intersection. The accident happened when a connecting rod between the truck and trailer broke causing the trailer to overturn. Nobody was injured in the accident according to Ghilotti Brothers. Neither the San Rafael police nor the California Highway Patrol had a report of the accident.

Redevelopment Area Approved In Tiburon

A broadly drawn redevelopment project area, including most of the southwestern end of the Tiburon peninsula was approved last night by the Tiburon Planning Commission.

Commissioners voted 5-1, with Commissioner E. Bruce Ross abstaining to adopt the area roughly corresponding to an area suggested by the Tiburon City Council last year. Commissioner Charles E. Bassett voted no.

According to Bassett, the project area will include the downtown business area, the Hilarita area on Tiburon Boulevard, the Red Hill Slide area, a parcel of undeveloped land east of Tiburon Boulevard between Lyford Drive and Mar West Street, the southern end of Tiburon Boulevard, and the southwestern tip of the Peninsula.

He said that the only areas which were dropped from the original recommendations of the council were the portion of Corinthian Island inside Tiburon and the developed portion of Mar West Street.

The commission had debated the project area boundaries for several months and had asked the city council for advice on whether to make the area broad or narrow or to have no area at all.

According to Bassett, Mayor Branwell D. Fanning attended the meeting to give suggestions and told the commission that just because they were adopting the area did not mean the city would have to try redevelopment.

Outlines of the project area now go to the council for its consideration.

California law provides that redevelopment agencies may freeze the assessed value of land and improvements for all taxing districts in the designated area. The agency then sells bonds to finance capital improvements in the area and collects the increased property taxes attributable to the increase in the area's assessed valuation.

When the redevelopment bonds are paid off, the freeze on assessment for other taxing agencies in the community ends.

Also last night, the commission elected Bassett as its chairman for next year.

San Marin Picnic Tickets Available

The ninth annual public picnic of the San Marin Improvement Association will be held from noon on, on July 22 at Stafford Lake Park.

Steaks and hamburgers will be the main course of the meal. Liquid refreshments will also be available.

A variety of activities for children and adults will be held, including horseshoe tournaments, sack races, volleyball and egg throwing.

Tickets are available from any member of the association.

More Are Eligible For Medicare

More than 1000 disabled persons in Marin County are newly-eligible to receive Medicare payments this month, under a new program that eliminates the previous 65-year age requirement.

Disabled persons who have received social security disability payments for two years or more are now able to get help from Medicare in paying their medical bills, according to Ed Leuin, district manager of the local social security office.

Congress last fall passed the bill to eliminate age requirements for certain disabilities. 1.7 million people nationwide are affected.

Leuin said that several categories of disability are covered under the new law and specific coverage information is available at the social security office, 549 Northgate Drive, San Rafael.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

9:54 a.m., San Rafael — Fire in interior of car being junked at Valley Tow Service, 931 Second Street, probably caused by cutting torch setting off upholstery; extinguished by employees of Valley Tow using garden hose; out on arrival.

11:05 a.m., San Rafael — Spot grass fire on property of Marin Municipal Water District near 78 McNear Drive; probably caused by cigarette; no damage.

12:13 p.m., Point Reyes Station — Vehicle fire on Third Street started in bed of pickup; no damage; cause unknown; Marin County Fire Department responded.

12:13 p.m., Tiburon — Smoldering embers broke into flames at railroad pier, 1900 Paradise Drive; Coast Guard boat extinguished fire in about an hour.

12:29 p.m., San Rafael — Small grass fire at end of Del Haro Drive burned 100 square feet; cause unknown.

1:29 p.m., San Rafael — Fire on top of garbage can at home of M. L. Hersko, 775 Las Colindas Road; caused by hot ashes from fireplace put in paper bag and set on top of can; no damage.

1:36 p.m., San Rafael — Fire in bedroom waste basket at home of Mary Drolla, 1400 Lincoln Avenue, Apartment 8; probably caused by children playing with matches; estimated $200 damage to carpeting.

2:08 p.m., Ross — Accidental sprinkler alarm at Ross General Hospital set off by workmen repairing telephone lines; Kentfield Fire Department responded.

2:13 p.m., Novato — Small grass fire in city access easement at 48 San Bonito Way burned 45 square feet; put out by Lou Gorman with garden hose before fire department arrived; blamed on children playing with matches.

2:42 p.m., Kentfield — Smoke check in College of Marin area found thick smoke coming from kiln in front of fine arts building; firemen were told that smoke came from normal procedure for starting kiln by burning wood inside; college agreed to notify fire officials in future when kiln is to be started.

Hitchhikers Beat, Try To Shoot Man

A Mill Valley man was robbed and beaten today in Marin City by two hitchhikers he had picked up and he narrowly escaped being shot when a pistol held by one of the bandits misfired, sheriff's deputies reported.

The holdup was one of two apparently unrelated robberies involving hitchhikers in the Marin City area in the past 24 hours, deputies said.

John Fickbohm, 23, suffered a gash on the head that took 10 stitches to close when he struggled with the two men in the parking lot at 100 Drake Avenue at about 1:15 a.m.

Fickbohm told deputies he picked up two men in their 20s on Lombard Street in San Francisco and agreed to drive them to Marin City.

After entering Marin City, Fickbohm told police, the men demanded he give them "all your money and dope." Fickbohm attempted to flee the car and a struggle ensued, during which one of the men pointed a nickel-plated pistol at him and pulled the trigger, but the weapon misfired, Fickbohm told deputies.

Investigators said the bandits took $200 in cash and $100 in travelers checks.

In an attempt to escape his attackers, Fickbohm broke into a nearby apartment, whereupon the startled female resident telephoned police, according to officers.

Fickbohm was treated at a local hospital and released.

In the other holdup, Paul Victor Bernstom, 21, of Fairfax, told police he was robbed of $5 by four men who picked him up hitchhiking and offered him a ride to Sausalito at about 9 p.m.

On Highway 101 near Marin City, one of the men simulated a gun by placing his hand in his pocket and ordered Bernstom to hand over his money, deputies said. The men, described as between 20 and 25 years old, also took a package of cigarettes. Bernstom was unharmed.

Coast Guard School Gets New Commander

NEW LONDON (UPI) — Rear Admiral Joseph J. McClelland will become the 28th superintendent of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy at change of command ceremonies scheduled for tomorrow.

A 1940 graduate of the Academy, McClelland succeeds Rear Admiral John F. Thompson, who has been made chief of the Office of Boating Safety at the Coast Guard Headquarters in Washington.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Claims to fame! If the names of people born today look familiar, it's because each was a gifted creator. Do you know their accomplaihsments?

1. R. BUCKMINSTER FULLER, inventor and engineer, is 78 today. His genius gave the world a new kind of building — the geodesic dome — which takes into account the paths of force in atoms, molecules and crystals. This Harvard dropout is now a lifetime professor of Southern Illinois. He created the term (A) Kodak or (B) Dymaxion.

2. GEORGE EASTMAN, inventor and philanthropist, made a fortune from photography and then gave it all away. In 1884 he patented a roll film, then four years later made the first camera to use it. It put easy-to-use cameras into the hands of everybody. The wealth this earned ($75 million) he donated to academic and medical institutions. He created the term (A) Kodak or (B) Dymaxion.

3. OSCAR HAMMERSTEIN II wrote countless hit songs, providing the lyrics for somebody else's music. He had a natural gift for putting words to music, collaborating with such composers as Rudolf Friml, Jerome Kern, Sigmund Romberg, Vincent Youmans and Richard Rodgers. Did he compose lyrics for (A) "Beat Me Daddy Eight to the Bar" or (B) "Hello, Young Lovers"?

4. WILL BRADLEY, musician and composer, was born 61 years ago in New Jersey. Countless phonograph records of the 1930s feature him on the trombone, including those he made with Red Nichols, Ray Noble and Ray McKinley. His best known arrangement was (A) "Beat Me Daddy Eight to the Bar" or (B) "Hello, Young Lovers."

ANSWERS: 1-B, 2-A, 3-B, 4-A.

The Major Problem For South: How To Execute The Trump Suit

The only problem in today's hand is how to play the trump suit. How should you handle this combination if you cannot see how the missing trumps are divided?

Opening lead — ♣ Q

TACKLES TRUMPS

A leading expert tackled the trump suit by leading the ace first. He later lost two trump tricks.

"My play is as good as any other," he argued. "It loses only when East has K-J-3, or K-J-2, or all four trumps."

The proper play, however, is to lead the seven of spades from the South hand for the first round of trumps. If West plays a low spade (or shows out), South lets the seven ride for a finesse.

TO DUMMY

If the seven of spades loses to the jack, South gets to dummy as soon as possible and leads another spade to finesse through East for the king.

"How is that play better?" my expert friend asked. "You lose to the singleton jack in the East hand, and you also lose if East has J-3 or J-2, since then your second finesse will lose to West's king."

HUMAN FACTOR

This is mathematically true, but it doesn't work out that way when your opponents are made of flesh and blood.

Suppose West has K-3 or K-2 of spades. You lead the seven of spades from your hand. Does West have the nerve to play his low spade? He might do so if he thought that his partner had the blank ace, but he would think it over very carefully. If he then made up his mind to play low, you would surely know all about where the king of spades was.

For this reason, the recommended play loses only if East has the singleton jack. That's about as close as you can come to perfection.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - A 10 9 8 7
♦ - A K
♣ - A 6.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

This hand will probably produce a game in a major suit or in no-trump even if partner has a near bust.

Soviet Consulate Vandalism Protested

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Bags of red paint hurled at the Soviet Consulate by vandals who claimed responsibility in support of Russian Jews yesterday sparked a formal complaint to the U.S. government.

A spokesman at the consulate, opened recently as the first Russian diplomatic mission in the U.S. outside Washington, D.C., in 25 years, blamed city authorities "who cannot or would not" provide protection.

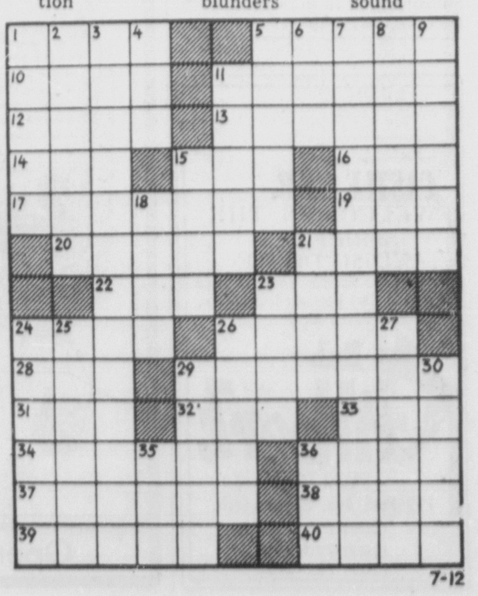
Yesterday's Answer



Smog Board Raps Auto Use Curbs

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — A federal agency's proposal that Bay Area motorists slash their mileage 84 per cent by 1977 met with mixed reactions yesterday from Air Pollution Control District directors.

Responses ranged from a challenge by San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto to the government's power to enforce such a proposal, to an appeal by Napa County Supervisor John Tuteur to stop "quibbling" about percentages of mileage to be cut.

Tuteur likened the need for clean air to the crash space program that landed America on the moon.

Alioto called cleaning up the air a commendable goal but protested what he termed "unrealistic, sensationally oriented programs" such as the mileage cut proposed last Friday by the Environmental Protection Agency.

He claimed there already has been "a drastic reduction" in air pollution in the Bay Area in the past three or four years. To cut mileage by 84 per cent, Alioto declared, "would have such a jarring effect on the Bay Area that we would have a serious economic problem."

The mayor said the EPA should concentrate on development of a clean engine. The auto industry has no economic incentive to develop one, he said, "because John Mitchell (when attorney general) made a deal with the auto industry that any smog-free engine developed by one be free to anyone else."

Sausalito City Councilman Stephen Fraser asked the district's staff for a detailed counterproposal that could be presented to the EPA when the agency holds a hearing in San Francisco on Aug. 8. The hearing will be at 9:30 a.m. in the Ceremonial Courtroom of the Federal Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue.

Fraser, urging the board to join the EPA's drive to cut auto use, said "the question is not whether we have the tools, but the will to use them."

Board chairman Gerald M. Poznanovich, a Santa Rosa city councilman, agreed with Fraser, adding the district should not simply oppose the EPA's proposal, but should suggest some other ways of meeting clean air standards.

The staff, which also challenged the EPA proposals, was asked to come up with its proposals by the board's Aug. 1 meeting.

The EPA proposals would limit gasoline distribution sharply from May to October, cut offstreet parking, improve transit, and limit the number of two-stroke motorcycles.

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors also:

OFFICERS — Unanimously elected Poznanovich chairman, Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. vice chairman, and San Francisco Supervisor Peter Tamaras, secretary. Mountain View City Councilman William R. Jelavich, who was in line to move up from secretary to vice chairman, was dropped by the nominating committee. Jelavich long has been the most persistent critic on the board of the district's top administrator, D. J. Callaghan.

LEGISLATURE — Appealed to county and city officials in the Bay Area to ask the region's state legislators to kill pending bills in Sacramento that would replace the present appointed district board with a directly elected board. Such a bill has been sought by citizen groups critical of the district's performance.

POTS — Rejected an appeal from the Associated Roofing Contractors to delay new limits on emissions from smelly tar pots, regulations in the works for two years.

VIOLATIONS — Received staff report that violation notices were issued last month by district inspectors in Marin against Shamrock Materials, Inc., D and W Auto Parts and Basalt Rock Company, Inc., all of San Rafael, and D. J. Arques of Sausalito. There were no notices issued in Sonoma County during the month.

State Employees Seek Raise Nod

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Cost of Living Council has been asked by a state employees group to approve an immediate 5.5 per cent pay raise for state workers while the council considers an appeal of an earlier salary hike suspension.

President LeRoy A. Pemberton and General Manager Walter Taylor of the California State Employees' Association (CSEA) yesterday made the request for the 5.5 per cent raise in a meeting with a council representative in Washington. The raise is within the guidelines of Phase Three of the Nixon administration's economic stabilization program.

Cotati Asks For Branch Of Library

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Cotati residents last night asked the Sonoma County-Santa Rosa Library Board to consider locating a branch library in Cotati on a temporary basis.

The Rohnert Park-Cotati branch of the Sonoma County Library must move from College View Avenue in Rohnert Park when the lease expires in November.

Ralph Jones, vice president of the Cotati Chamber, and Lee Gray, chairman of the Cotati Parks and Recreation Commission, urged the board to relocate the library in a shopping center planned by Hugh Codding on East Cotati Avenue, Cotati.

Residents opposed plans to locate the library temporarily in the former location of the TG&Y store at the Rohnert Park Shopping Center. Mrs. Gray said Cotati residents would not insist the permanent library be located in Cotati, but opposed the proposed site as inaccessible and uninviting since the storefront has few windows and would be dreary.

Mrs. Gray told the board that Codding has agreed in writing to rent library space for $450 per month while the other location will cost nearly $1,000 per month for the same amount of space.

She said the Codding center now under construction borders Rohnert Park and would be easily reached by residents of both cities.

Library board members said they would call Rohnert Park officials to the August meeting for more discussion before making a decision.

McGovern Wants Bomb Halt Now

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., today called for a cut-off of funds for U.S. bombing in Cambodia before Aug. 15, the compromise date reached between President Nixon and Congress.

After the compromise was reached, McGovern charged, that the bombing of Cambodia escalated by 50 per cent, either through design or due to poor communications between Washington and the field command.

"But it occurred, nonetheless," McGovern said. "And if that represents the effort of the administration to pursue a public obligation to the Congress, then who among us still feels obliged to stand silent in face of a policy that makes no sense.

San Rafael Doctor Named As Director

Dr. Fredric J. Phillips of San Rafael was hired yesterday as the medical director of the Ross Psychiatric Center by the Marin Mental Health Foundation board which runs the center, the foundation has announced.

Phillips, who is affiliated with the Marin Psychiatric Society, Marin General Hospital and Ross General Hospital succeeds Dr. Thomas E. McCormick to the position with the center.

Dollar Ends Advance To Start New Slump

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar today halted its three day upward climb and floundered downward on world money markets when there was no sign that government banks were intervening to prop it up.

"The Americans are trying to talk the dollar up rather than pull it up," said a bank official in Paris.

The dollar dropped to 4.0825 francs on the Paris market at midday from its overnight price of 4.17 francs. It slipped to 36.325 Belgian francs in Brussels, to 2.8425 Swiss francs in Zurich, to 2.3710 marks in Frankfurt —all lower than last night's closing prices.

"If no support comes soon for the dollar I expect it to fall back quite a bit," said a London foreign exchange dealer.

In Belgrade, the Yugoslav government announced it had revalued the dinar by 3.7 per cent upward against the dollar and devalued it by 3 per cent against the West German mark. The dollar fell from 16.62 dinars to 16.00 and the mark rose from 5.78 dinars to 5.95.

The price of gold rose as the dollar dropped. In other commodities, copper skyrocketed $145.60 per metric ton, breaking a 1968 record price to reach $2,114 per ton. Tin made a comparable leap yesterday.

"Central bank intervention has been difficult to see," said a dealer for Samuel Montagu, a London brokerage firm. "There has been no direct evidence in early trading, and no proof of dollar or sterling support either way."

"The dollar is certainly weakening all around Europe's money markets so far today, and if no support comes soon for the currency I expect it to fall back quite a bit later," another London foreign exchange dealer said.

Although the pound moved up 2.5 points at $2.54675 on the overnight level, the pound sterling's recovery came to a rapid halt just before noon. Drops came against all but the dollar, Canadian and Spanish currencies.

The free price of gold in London jumped $1.75 at the morning fixing, to $120.50.

"The market has become much more active today as gold gamblers appeared," a spokesman for gold dealer Sharps Pixley said.

Construction Site Hit By Burglars

Uniedentified burglars using a 16-inch flat iron bar as a lever broke the locking hasp on a storage shed belonging to Horst Hanf Construction Co. at a building site at 86 Belvedere Street between 4:30 p.m. Tuesday and 6:30 a.m. Wednesday, San Rafael Police reported today.

They made off with a tool box containing three jack hammer bits valued at $100.

Auto Parts Taken

Burglars using a cutting tool to bite through a padlock stole between $400 and $500 in auto parts from an exterior steel storage box at Marin Auto Parts, 425 Irwin Street between 7 and 9 p.m. Monday, San Rafael Police reported today.

American Bombs Aid Cambodians

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian helicopters with heavy American air support flew two battalions of troops to positions 12 miles south of Phnom Penh today in an offensive aimed at rooting out Communist troops menacing the capital. But they ran into stiff resistance.

Along the Mekong River and Highway 4, however, two convoys—also moving under heavy U.S. air cover—slipped into the capital unscathed.

Heavy fighting was reported in regions 10 miles south and west of Phnom Penh.

PLAYS HER FLUTE IN HOSPITAL

Music Helps Mend Broken Bones

By FRED STREBEIGH

Everyone is the prisoner of his body, it is said.

For Mindy Kay Klein that saying has special force. Her body has been shackled in traction at Marin General Hospital since May 26 when a car hit her as she walked beside the roadway of the Tiburon Boulevard overpass of Highway 101.

Yet unlike most prisoners, she has not come to loathe what confines her. Instead she has developed a deep respect for her body's resources — both the ability to repair its physical damage and the capacity to break free from the depression of captivity.

Due soon to be released from the bonds of traction that have so long immobilized her, the 21-year-old Greenbrae woman is on her way to recovery of broken bones in her neck, ribcage, shoulder, thigh and ankle, suffered when she was hit from behind and snared beneath the car which dragged her, she said, and finally pinned her to the road.

When the car hit her, Miss Klein, a music student, was returning home from a flute lesson, and it is her flutes and their music which she largely credits with enabling her to endure the suspension of movement surrounded by the unchanging pale green walls of the hospital room.

That music, she said the other day, has served to embellish the monotony of the hospital and to create a personal space both for herself and for others confined to their beds.

Each of the six roommates she says, have found her music a pleasant relief from the usual hospital fare of alternating television and silence.

She also recalls one elderly woman dozing in the next room who mistook her flute for an angelic chorus and a white-robed nurse for an angel. The woman, she said, woke up calling to the nurse "Wait for me Lord, I'm coming, I'm coming."

She said that the flute has not only helped her state of mind but has also been a factor in speeding her healing.

After the accident she found herself unable to use her left arm, immobilized by a dislocated shoulder and broken collarbone. She was told that for a long time it would be impossible to move, but the need to use her arm to play the flute gave her the determination to overcome the pain of moving it.

She tried to concentrate mentally on the progress of the healing in her arm, "to get out of the fear of the unknown, of what would happen" if she moved it.

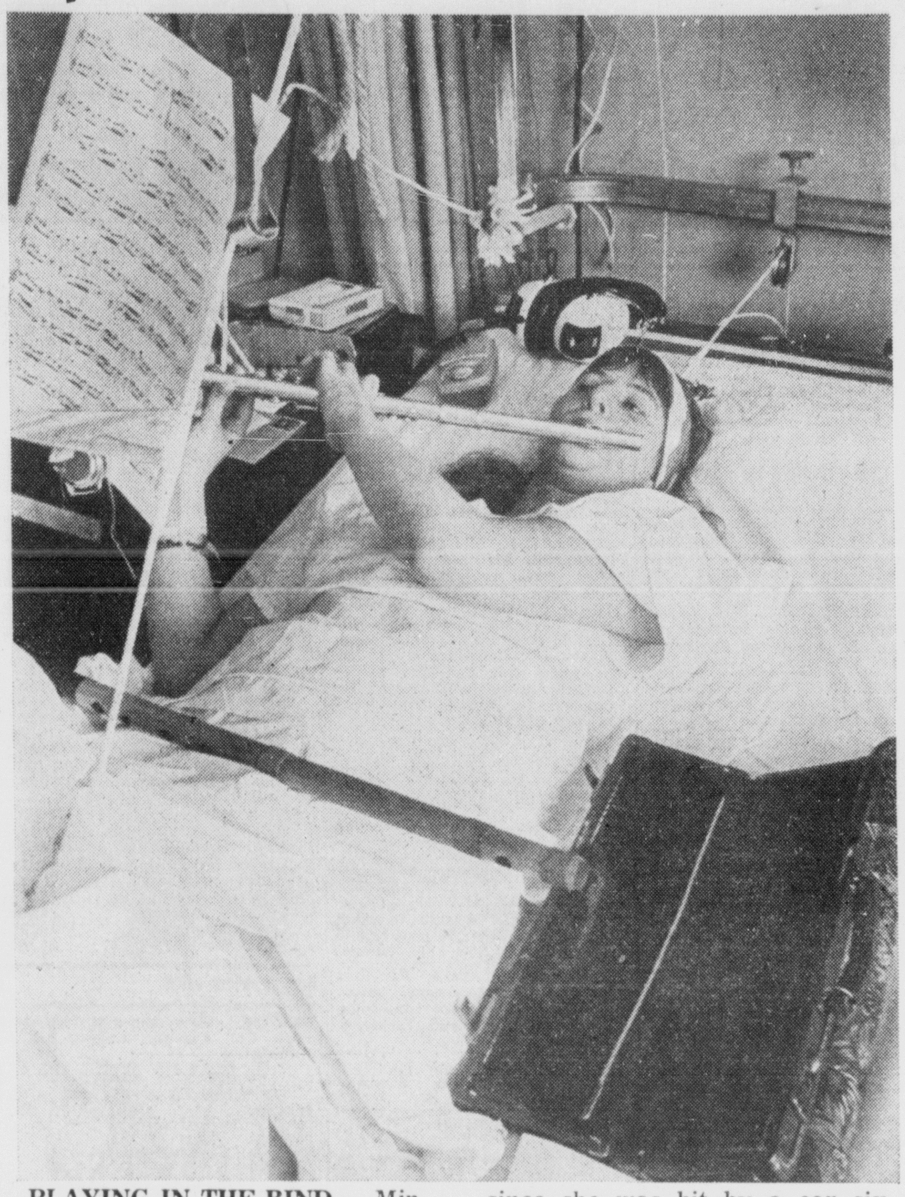
She said that it became necessary to regain confidence in her body.

That confidence was shattered by the traumatic suddenness of the accident, of being caught "under this huge piece of machinery. You can't talk with it, can't reason with it," she said.

She wanted to be able to feel her body working naturally to repair the unnatural damage it had suffered. At first the intravenous feeding tubes and the casts and traction seemed still more evidence of her body's frailty.

But she came to realize, she said, that they were only small additions to the body's own resources which she could feel at work.

In trying to find the courage to free her arm, she concentrated on "sensing the flow" of the healing, and found that suddenly she had the strength to lift it free of the bed.



PLAYING IN THE BIND — Mindy Klein plays her flute while held in traction at Marin General Hospital where she has been since she was hit by a car six weeks ago. "The flute has had a lot to do with my getting better," she said. (Independent-Journal photo)

The flute has become part of a process of exploring and experiencing the healing process, she says, of "trying to be cooperative with the internal flow" of the body's function.

Lying in bed she listens, she said, to her heart beating, a habit she acquired in intensive care so she could be conscious within herself of what the electronic monitors were recording. Listening, she believes she can sense her body repairing itself.

"It's been a good experience," she said, a chance to "get to know your body better." It has been she said, "a trip to see your body healing."

The time she has spent with her parents, who visit daily in the hospital, has been a time of "growing with each other."

She had "learned to flow" with the erratic traffic through her room. "Here there's no way to regulate who comes," she said. But when the room becomes enclosing, she can return to the flute and move into "a different space."

She hopes soon to be able to leave the hospital for a completely new space.

Her father, Albert Klein, who teaches extension courses in legal philosophy at the College of Marin and at the University of California at Davis and Berkeley, is trying to rent a house which will provide the sunshine and swimming pool which she will need for rest and water therapy.

They have been advertising for a house with a pool, but have had little luck.

Despite the fact that she will leave the hospital in a full body cast and will only gradually be able to work into walking and water therapy, she is riding high on the freedom she has gained from her time of confinement.

The weeks she has spent in the hospital have given her the chance to really relax. "Everyone should have a vacation once in a while," she says, "and I hadn't had one in a long time."

Higher Police Pay Unlikely

By NELS JOHNSON

Two Fairfax town councilmen last night offered little hope that the town will grant more than a 5 per cent pay increase for policemen, despite warnings from the Fairfax Police Officers Association that failure to do so will result in low morale and high officer turnover.

Councilmen Albert E. Gately and Robert R. Souza, citing a financial squeeze, told association negotiators that the town will be hard pressed to provide more pay to policemen than it has already offered.

Policemen, calling the matter a question of priorities, told councilmen to cull the budget to provide funds for an increase placing Fairfax police pay in line with that given officers in other Marin cities.

Currently, Fairfax policemen are tied with the Larkspur force for second-lowest pay in the county, with Ross at the bottom, according to association attorney Richard H. Breiner. "The welfare of your town police department should be paramount," he said. "Something else in the budget will have to give."

The town has offered a 5 per cent pay increase and about a 2.5 per cent increase in fringe benefits, according to Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe. The association has accepted the fringe benefit offer, but has demanded a 10 per cent salary increase.

Breiner said last night Fairfax policemen need at least an 8 per cent salary increase to put them in line with the countywide average police pay.

"The issue is simple," Breiner claimed, saying a top patrolman in Fairfax will get either $1,048 monthly as offered by the town administration — "the second lowest pay in the county" — or $1,078 monthly as requested by the association, a request he said represented the countywide average.

"Policemen have to eat. They don't drink blood," he declared.

Town councilmen told Breiner that countywide averages were not meaningful to the council because the matter boiled down to a "dollar and cents thing". Gately said any additional adjustment over 5 per cent might require a tax increase.

Councilmen also cited the town's successful bond issue for safety facilities, saying police will soon be working in better quarters, and said a 1 per cent pay increase for police will cost $1,432. The councilmen said the town has only a $4,600 "unappropriated reserve" fund to provide increases over 5 per cent to police and fire supervisors, as well as police and fire personnel.

Sgt. Paul Simpson noted the 11-man town police department has five officers with less than a year's experience on the force, saying low pay had created a high turnover of personnel. Without an additional pay boost, the town faces a continuation of the department's "cyclic employment" pattern, he said.

The Fairfax Police Department has become a training ground for other departments, said Simpson, urging councilmen to provide appropriate pay to "recruit and retain" good officers.

In response to a claim that Fairfax officers had logged a "large percentage" of overtime, Simpson declared that the department's files are filled with "countless crimes with open leads we can work on, but don't have the manpower to do it."

Councilmen listened attentively to the association demands, listed the town's gloomy financial picture, and said they will inform colleagues of police requests at a budget session scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Unsolved also are wage increases for town firemen, according to Crowe, who said the council hoped to resolve the pay issue Monday and adopt a proposed $807,453 budget for 1973-74.

Marin Firms Fight Water Moratorium

Approximately 50 Marin firms and property owners are organizing a fund drive to collect approximately $50,000 for legal challenges to the Marin Municipal Water District's moratorium on new connections.

San Rafael civil engineer Carlos E. Gonzales, a member of the Legal Water Fund steering committee, said the group plans court action on the basis that the connection ban discriminates against certain property owners.

The group will bring damage claims against Marin Municipal and seeks writs to compel the district to allow new hookups.

"We may even challenge the district on charge that it is violating civil rights, since property rights are a cornerstone of all civil rights," Gonzales said.

San Rafael attorneys Albert Bianchi and Samuel W. Gardiner, along with the law firm of Bagley, Bianchi and Sheeks, will represent the group in filing legal challenges both in state and federal courts.

Gonzales said he did not have the authority to release the names of property owners or firms involved. "It's no big secret or mystery, but I didn't ask them if their names could be made public."

Man Mugged In Marin City Lot

A San Francisco man was robbed at gunpoint today in the parking lot of a Marin City apartment building after dropping off a friend at his home, sheriff's deputies reported.

Michael Thomson, 21, told deputies he was walking from his friend's apartment to his car parked in the lot at 89 Cole Drive at 12:24 a.m. when a man brandishing a silver revolver grabbed him by the arm.

Thomson told investigators he was forced to lie face down on the seat of the auto while at least three other men went through his pockets and removed $4.

Thomson said he was held at gunpoint while the men rifled the trunk of the car, but nothing was taken.

Novato Firemen Receive 7 Per Cent Salary Hike

The Novato Fire Protection District board and Novato Firemen's Association last night signed a two-year contract covering wages and fringe benefits.

The firemen will receive a 7 per cent increase in wages this year and 7.5 per cent next year. The boost will cost $45,000 this year, more the next. Firemen now can live within 20 minutes travel time of the main fire station rather than 10 minutes as in the past. The fire district will pay all health and medical insurance not to exceed $3.90 per month, which covers the fireman and one dependent. Anything more than that will be paid by the fireman. The board is still working on the retirement phase of the contract, said Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

The board members received copies of the fire ordinances and will study revising them. These are in the fields of fire alarms in buildings, sprinkler systems, parking on private streets, locations of fires in apartment complexes, life hazards and rescue, Chief Kidder said.

The chief reported to the board that the district had received the chasis of its new $10,000 grass fire truck and had taken it to Western Fire Co. of Brisbane for installation of the compartments and pumps. The truck should be in service about Aug. 1, in time for the worst of the fire season, the chief said.

Gold Ownership Bill Voted Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate overwhelmingly adopted legislation Wednesday allowing Americans to own gold.

The legislation, offered by Sen. Peger H. Dominick, R-Colo., and approved on a 69-21 vote, would allow U.S. citizens to purchase, hold, sell or deal in gold beginning Jan. 1, 1975, or earlier—if President Nixon decrees that it would not have an adverse impact on the U.S. international monetary position.

It was the second time this year that the Senate has approved such a measure.

Public Notice

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS FOR FURNISHING TO THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, ROAD MATERIALS FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1973-1974

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that at 10:00 o'clock A.M. on Monday, the 16th day of July, 1973, in the Council Chambers, City Hall, San Rafael, California, sealed bids will be publicly opened, examined, and declared for Supplying Road Materials for the Fiscal Year 1973-74.

Plans, specifications, general provisions, instructions to bidders, and blank forms of proposals may be obtained from the office of Purchasing, Room 120, City Hall, San Rafael, California.

All proposals shall be on the forms so furnished, and shall show the total amount of the bid submitted for the furnishing, delivery and performance of all labor, transportation, materials, and services according to said specifications, general provisions and instructions to bidders.

No bid will be considered unless accompanied by cash, certified check or bidder's bond for One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), made payable to the order of the City of San Rafael, California.

All bids shall be sealed and filed with the City Clerk, City Hall, San Rafael, California, on or before 10:00 o'clock A.M. the 16th day of July, 1973.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to waive any informality in a bid.

DATED: July 2, 1973
/s/ MARION A. GRADY
City Clerk
No. 1051 July 5, 12, 1973

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Bolinas Community Public Utility District
State of California

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Bolinas Community Public Utility District will receive sealed bids at the office of
Bala & Strandgaard
271 Miller Avenue
Mill Valley, California
on or before 2 p.m. on July 18, 1973, for the furnishing of all labor, materials, and services required for the following designated project:

RESTORATION OF PUBLIC UTILITIES
PROJECT NO. 7320

Each bid shall be made in accordance with the plans, specifications and contract documents prepared therefor, now on file at the office of Bala & Strandgaard, where they may be examined, and copies thereof be obtained upon payment of $10.00 per set. Check shall be made payable to which fee will not be refunded.
Bala & Strandgaard
271 Miller Avenue
Mill Valley, California 94941

Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished by Bala & Strandgaard, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check, currency or bid bond, equal to 10 per cent of the aggregate amount of the bid, which amount shall be given as a guaranty that the bidder will enter into the contract, if awarded him, and will file the contract bonds required within 10 days after notice that his bid has been accepted.

The Board of Directors reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity in any bid received.

Bidders are notified that pursuant to law, the Board of Directors has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages and rates in the locality in which the work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract.

The prevailing rates of hourly wages applicable to the work to be performed have been determined by the Marin County Board of Supervisors and are set forth by Resolution 71-302, pursuant to Section 1773 of the Labor Code. Said rates apply to this project. Copies of the determination are on file in the office of the County Clerk, Room 315, Department of Public Works, Room 304, Civic Center, San Rafael, or in the office of Bala & Strandgaard, 271 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, California.

It shall be mandatory that all persons employed in the execution of the contract be paid not less than said specific wages and rates, and that existing labor agreements relative to overtime, holidays, and other special provisions, be recognized.

Bids received by Bala & Strandgaard will be opened and read publicly at the time, date and place above specified, and will thereafter be tabulated and submitted to the Board of Directors for consideration.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the Board of Education of the City of San Rafael, governing body of the San Rafael Elementary School District and the San Rafael High School District, hereby calls for sealed proposals to be delivered to the Secretary of said Board, San Rafael City Schools Administration Building, Third and E Streets, (P.O. Box 390) San Rafael, California, 94902, on or before FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, 1973 at 10:00 A.M., at which time and place said bids will be opened for:

BID #374 - Re-Roofing Various School Buildings in San Rafael Elementary and High School Districts:
San Rafael High School, Music Building and Industrial Arts Building
Terra Linda High School, 600 Wing and Boys' Locker Room
Hartzell School, Breezeway Roofs
Short School, Walk-way Roof
Davidson Middle School, Old Music Building and 200 Wing

Bids shall be submitted in accordance with specifications and general conditions on file in the Business Office, San Rafael City Schools Administration Building, Third and E Streets, San Rafael, California.

Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California, the Board of Education of the San Rafael Elementary and San Rafael High School Districts has ascertained the prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, which will be awarded to the successful bidder.

Eight hours shall constitute a work day unless otherwise specified in the union scale. The hourly wage rate prescribed is the per diem rate divided by the aforementioned number of hours constituting a work day.

Attention is directed to Section 4100 and through 4113 of the Government Code concerning sub-contractors.

The wage scale referred to hereinabove is on file at the District Office.

The Board of Education of the San Rafael Elementary and San Rafael High School Districts reserves the right to reject any and all bids or any alternate or unit price and/or waive any informality or irregularity in any bid received.

Frisbee Tourney Scheduled

A two-day Frisbee championship will be held in Corte Madera, Larkspur and Greenbrae playgrounds July 19 and 20 to determine the Central Marin Frisbee Champions.

Corte Madera's recreation director Jacqueline A. Branch said the contest starts July 19 at 1:30 p.m. in all the school playgrounds taking part in the joint Corte Madera-Larkspur summer recreation program.

Categories will be for four age groups from six years up, with championships for "longest sail", "best boomerang", "roller coaster" and fastest, slowest and shortest sail.

Winners from each playground will compete on July 20 at 1:30 p.m. at the Larkspur-Corte Madera school playground for the Central Marin titles.

Beach Pavilion Request Made

A permit to construct a beach pavilion on Richardson Bay at Belvedere has been requested of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Jerry Ganz of 401 Belvedere Avenue has asked for the permit for work including placement of twelve concrete columns and the construction of a wooden pavilion.

Eight of the proposed columns and most of the pavilion are bayward of the line of mean high water on the shore.

Ganz has also applied to the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission for a permit authorizing the proposal.

Anyone objecting to the permit may submit their objection in writing to the corps at 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco, not later than Aug. 9.

Pen Women Sponsor Civic Center Show

The Golden Gate Chapter of the National League of Pen Women is holding an art exhibit at the Marin County Civic Center Library throughout July.

Thirty-one paintings, weaving, wood sculpture, stained glass and books are on display. The sponsoring organization is an association of writers, artists and musicians.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Thursday, July 12, the 193rd day of 1973 with 172 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

American writer Henry Thoreau was born July 12, 1817.

On this day in history:

In 1862, the U.S. Medal of Honor was authorized by Congress.

In 1933, a new industrial code was established to fix a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour in the United States.

In 1972, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota was nominated as the Democratic candidate for president. He was badly beaten in November by Richard Nixon.

A thought for the day: "Writer Henry Thoreau said, "That man is the richest whose pleasures are the cheapest."

School Bond Vote Costly For Novato

It will cost the Novato Unified School District just as much to cancel a special election July 31 as it will to go ahead with the ballot seeking authority to increase the tax rate by $1.35 per $100 assessed valuation.

County elections officer Peter C. Meyer said today that the special election will cost the Novato district between $5,000 and $6,000. If it's called off at the trustee's meeting July 17 (as Supt. James G. Bunker yesterday reported might happen) the costs won't lessen.

In fact, said Meyer, calling off the election might cost even more, since voters would be entitled to notification of the cancellation — which could cost an extra $2,000 for the special mailing.

In the meantime, the county elections department today started mailing sample ballots to the approximately 15,000 registered voters in the Novato district.

The school district board voted Tuesday to hold the special election July 31, because it's not known whether Gov. Ronald Reagan will sign or kill Assembly Bill 1267, which would give the district an additional $550,000 to add to the $628,000 already alloted the district in the current stage budget.

Marinwood CSD Hikes Budget; Tax Rate Same

The Marinwood Community Services District has adopted a $275,664 budget for the 1973-74 fiscal year.

The budget is up about $20,000 over last year's figure, although the tax rate will remain at $1.23 per $100 assessed valuation, according to Genevieve T. Bolding, district secretary.

Tax revenue raised should be $152,954, with the rest coming from use fees and contracts.

The budget hike is due mainly to salary increases of 5 to 7.5 per cent given to all 12 district employees.

Federal Youth Job Funding Comes Through

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The federal government reversed itself and released $24 million Wednesday to spare threatened youth employment programs in California this summer, Gov. Ronald Reagan's office reported.

The announcement was made Wednesday at the same time the governor vetoed a bill by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, which would have provided an identical amount in state funds for youth job projects in the federal money did not come through.

Supported by big city mayors and lawmakers of both parties, including Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, Marks introduced the bill (SB700) when it appeared the federal government would refuse to spend funds for the support of 1,000 summer jobs in the state.

Promptness Pays

RADCLIFFE - ON-TRENT, England (UPI) — The local government council said today it was making George Kavanagh a present of 10 pounds ($26) because in 52 years of residence in a council-owned flat Kavanagh had never been a day behind with his rent.

A 'Local' Edition Of Sporting News

Gads! It's like looking at a Marin County edition of The Sporting News, the bible of baseball published out of St. Louis.

There on page 19 of the July 14 issue is a story about John Boccabella of Terra Linda: "Boc the Rock Giving Expos Solid Footing Behind Plate." And there's a picture of John taking a mighty swing.

Then, leafing through a couple of more pages, I find a story on Bill Lee, the former Terra Linda High School flash who has become the best pitcher on the Boston Red Sox staff. "Odd-Ball Lee Puts Bosox Rivals Behind 8 Ball," shouts out the headline on page 22 and there is a story, complete with picture of Lee.

BOCCABELLA, A MAN who played his high school ball at Marin Catholic and his college ball at University of Santa Clara, became the 18th man in big league history to hit two home runs in one inning last Friday when he did it against the Houston Astros. One of those homers was a grand slammer.

The Sporting News story on Boccabella made much mention about the way announcer Claude Mouton calls out Boc's name when he comes to bat at Parc Jarry, home of the Expos. If you saw last Monday night's televised game between the Expos and Reds, you not only heard Mouton call out the name, you heard guest commentator Danny Kaye have a ball with it.

"Le premier bat, the first baseman, John Baw-cah-bellllllllla," comes the announcement. It is quite a production and prompted Kaye to use some of his best Italian accent.

The story went on to say the quiet, straight arrow Boccabella wasn't charmed by the stylish flair given his name in the days he was batting .105, but now that he is getting some key hits and staying around the .265 figure he doesn't mind it so much.

EXPOS MANAGER Gene Mauch was quoted as saying about Boc: "I think he's having more fun than he's ever had playing baseball. He has a quiet leadership. He doesn't think of himself as a spiritual or intellectual leader. He lives his own life. There is no attempt to be an all-knowing leader. Yet he's doing an excellent job of handling the pitchers."

The Sporting News story about Lee said that the left-hander, now with an 11-3 win-loss record and 2.33 earned run average, isn't funny any more. He rarely talks to himself or to the fans while he is pitching, something he used to do. He's no joke to the rest of the league either as suddenly he has become a candidate for the American League All-Star team. His last victory was a splendid 2-0 shutout over the Minnesota Twins.

THE STORY POINTS out that neither Lee or Sonny Siebert were expected to remain on the Red Sox roster by the time baseball season rolled around this year. The Bosox did indeed trade Siebert to Texas but kept Lee. It was a very wise decision, since now Lee is one of the best pitchers in the American League.

In Lee, says The Sporting News article, the Red Sox have found a left-hander who can win consistently in Fenway Park, the first since Mel Parnell retired in 1956. His record at Fenway this year is 6-1 and 16-5 overall. Lee has the same kind of pitch as Parnell had, a screwball which breaks away from right-handed batters.

An Upsetting Day In Belvedere Tennis

Second-seeded Dan Tierney of Belvedere was eliminated from the 84th annual Pacific Coast Junior Tennis Championships at the Belvedere Tennis Club yesterday, falling to unseeded Les Topp, 7-6, 6-4, in Boys 18.

The only other upset among the seeded players was the eighth seed in Boys 18, Phillip Kadesch from Winchester, Mass., who lost 6-3, 6-1, to Tony Eugenio of Corpus Christi, Tex.

In Boys 18, top-seeded Peter Meade of Seattle defeated Scott MacKenzie, 6-1, 6-3, and third-seeded Steve Johnson of Reno beat Tom Duggan, 6-2, 6-2.

Other victorious top-seeds were Mike Shore of Mercer Island, Wash. with a 6-4, 7-6 win over Ricky Cowden in Boys 16, Chip Hooper of Sunnyvale, 6-3, 6-1, over Mike Jee of San Francisco in Boys 14, and Paul Crozier of Corpus Christi beat Marco Lucey, 6-1, 6-1.

In Girls competition, the Louie sisters of San Francisco all advanced. Top-seeded Marna in Girls 18 defeated Kathy Gundeling, 6-3, 6-3, fourth-seeded Marisa in Girls 16 beat Gayle Schmutz, 6-2, 6-2, and first-seeded Mareen in Girls 14 blanked Jane Otis of Ross, 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles, the top-seeded Girls 18 team of Marna Louie and Bee Kilgore of Tiburon beat Carolyn Nichols of Hanford and Jody Peterson of Fresno, 6-1, 6-1. They then went on to defeat Suzanne Collier and Annette Havens of Menlo Park, 6-2, 6-1.

Giants' Young Trio Produces

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Chances are neither Garry Maddox, Ed Goodson nor Gary Matthews will be picked to play in the All Star Game later this month, which won't bother them a bit but could cost the National Leaguers three of the best young hitters in baseball.

Maddox and Matthews had three hits apiece and Goodson drilled a pair of homers Wednesday in powering the San Francisco Giants to a 7-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs. As a result, Maddox is batting .328, Goodson 325 and Matthews .324.

"Sure, it would be nice to play in the All Star Game," said Goodson, who now has nine homers and 42 RBIs to go with his fine batting average. "But it won't be the end of the world if I'm not picked. I'm young (25) and there will be a lot of other years."

Maddox and Matthews, roommates on the road and close friends at home, expressed just about the same sentiments.

"I'll have my chances," said the 24-year-old Maddox. "I guess I could get named by the manager (Sparky Anderson of Cincinnati) but I'd like to make it to my first one by vote of the fans."

"I'm happy just to be playing in the big leagues," said Matthews, who celebrated his 23rd birthday earlier this month. "The All Star Game seems a little out of my league."

Goodson's first homer Wednesday put the Giants in front 2-1 but Paul Popovich's sacrifice fly tied it for Chicago in the seventh.

Then, with unbeaten reliever Dave LaRoche working in the bottom of the inning, the young Giants cut loose. A single by Dave Rader, a walk to pinchhitter Dave Kingman and a wild pitch put runners on second and third with none out.

After Bobby Bonds struck out, Tito Fuentes scored Rader with a sacrifice fly for a 3-2 lead. A single by Maddox, his third hit of the game, and Goodson's second homer made it 6-2 and Matthews finished with a solo homer.

Jim Barr, who left for a pinch-hitter in the seventh, gained credit for the victory after 43-year-old Don McMahon closed out the game by giving up a run on two hits. It was McMahon's second save and

Halfway Point In Transpac

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Strong 15 to 30 knot winds broke up previous days of glassy seas and slow progress yesterday, as the now 59-yacht fleet advanced past the halfway point in the Transpacific Yacht Race.

The winds were no cause for celebration among the skippers of local entrants, however, as Improbable, owned and piloted by Dave Allen of Belvedere lost its fleet overall lead. Improbabel, a 42-foot sloop representing the San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere, continued as the Class B leader, 1,072 miles from its Honolulu destination.

After relinquishing its lead in Class C yesterday, Tenacity, owned and skippered by Rolfe Croker of Belvedere and racing out of the St. Francis Yacht Club of San Francisco, remained in second place behind Kolohe of Honolulu which took over the fleet lead from Improbable.

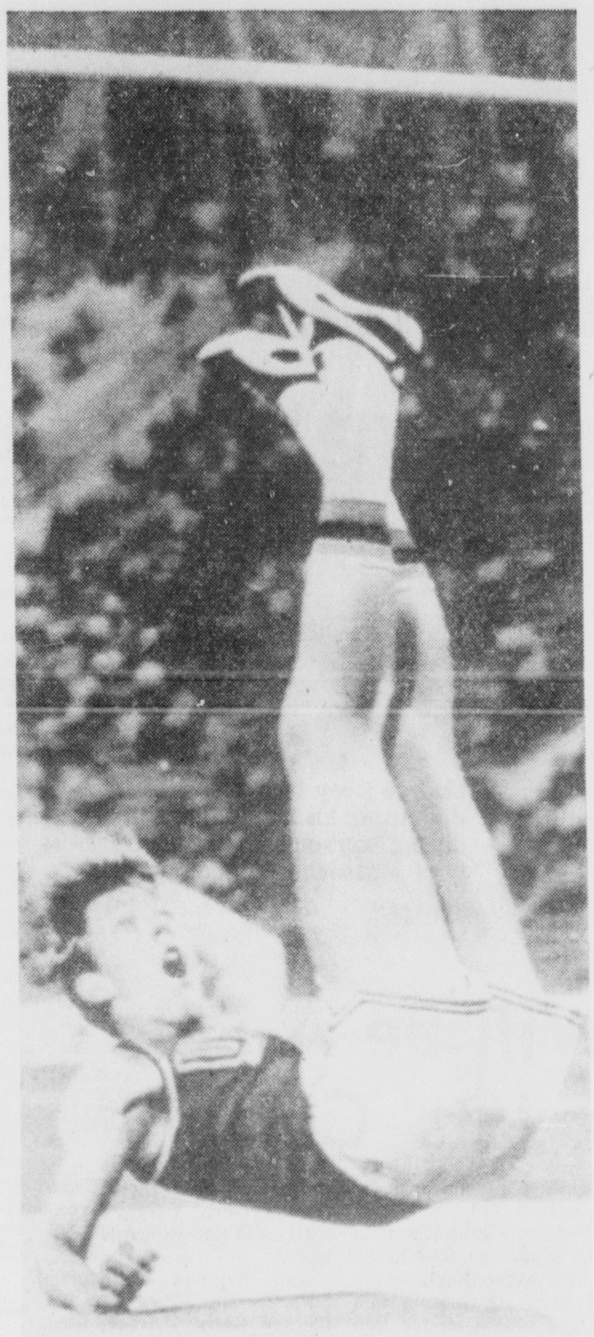
Although considerably behind its 1971 course record of 9:09.6 days due to a mass of calm air, defending champion Windward Passage protected its lead in the 2,225 mile race. The 73-foot New York ketch finished its seventh full day at sea 891 miles from Diamond Head, 11 miles ahead of second place Ragtime.

The fleet's first casualty, Defiant, dropped out of the race when it lost a rudder, reducing the field to 59-yachts. Skippered by James C. Jessie, the 36-foot sloop had to be taken under tow by an escort vessel until a substitute rudder could be juririgged.

Volkswagen Shows Its Power: 18-1

D and R Volkswagen put on an awesome display of power last night in the San Rafael Recreation Department Adult Softball League with an 18-1 victory over Moonshine at Albert Field.

In other games last night, Speciality Auto defeated Bomber in a slugfest, 16-15, and Red Hill Shell scored a run in the bottom of the eighth inning to beat No Name, 3-2.



SURPRISE! — Dwight Stones, 19, of Glendale, was all agog at the sight of bar still in place after clearing a world record jump of 7 feet, 6½ inches during a track and field meet against West Germany yesterday in Munich.

(UPI Telephoto)

Stones Predicted His Record Jump

MUNICH, West Germany (AP) — "This is my stadium, what can I say," said a gleeful Dwight Stones after he had set a world high jump record with a leap of 7 feet, 6½ inches.

Stones, a brash 19-year-old from Los Angeles, soared to his record Wednesday in the Munich Olympic Stadium — the same arena he had won a bronze medal at the 1972 Olympic Games.

When he cleared the bar on his final try, he had the stadium spotlight all to himself — he was the last competitor remaining in the track meet among the United States, West Germany and Switzerland — except for the crowd of about 20,000, which roared its approval.

Only last week, in a West German television interview, Stones predicted he would break the world mark of 7-6¼, held by Pat Matzdorf, formerly of the University of Wisconsin. He said he would do it by the 1976 Olympic Games in Montreal. But he didn't think he would do it so soon.

Stones' record-smashing effort led a 1-2-3 American sweep in the high jump, with Reynaldo Brown second at 7-4¼ and Tom Woods third at 7-0½.

It also helped the U.S. gain a 93-86 lead over West Germany in their two-day dual meet competition, which ends today. Switzerland also is competing, but the Swiss' point total only is counting against the Germans in a separate meet.

The Americans also dominated three other men's events, finishing 1-2 in the 10,000 meter run, the 400-meter hurdles and the 100-meter dash. Ted Castaneda won the 10,000 meters in 28:30.6 with Jeff Galloway second. Jim Bolding took the 400-meter hurdles in 49.3, followed by Robert Casselman. And Steve Williams sped to a 10.3 victory in the 100 meters, with Herb Washington the runnerup.

Washington and Williams, along with Marshall Dill and Ed Hammonds combined to win the 400-meter relay in 38.9 seconds.

Other American men's winners were Leonard Hilton in the 1,500 meters in 3:37.7 and Al Feuerbach in the shot put at 68-11¼.

NEWPORT, Wales (UPI) — Fourth-seeded Sharon Walsh of San Rafael dropped the opening set, but went on to gain the semi-finals of the Welsh Open Tennis Championship yesterday with a 3-6, 6-4, 6-3 win over Ceci Martinez of San Francisco.

Course Record 67 For Tom Weiskopf

Retains British Open Lead

TROON, Scotland (UPI) — Tom Weiskopf held off the fourbirdie charge of U.S. Open Champion Johnny Miller and then boosted his overnight lead to three strokes with a course record 67 today in early second round play in the $125,000 British Open golf championship.

Weiskopf had a nine-under-par 36-hole total of 135 with a five-birdie round of 33-34, while Miller had a 35-33—68 for a six-under par 138 total.

Miller, two strokes down overnight, put the pressure on Weiskopf immediately with birdies at the 7th, 10th, 11th and 16th holes but the 30-year-old Columbus, Ohio, pro who has won $117,145 in the past seven weeks, replied with birdies of his own at the 3rd, 4th, 7th, 11th and 16th holes despite a cold, driving rain which swept over the 7,064-yard Troon Old Course when he was battling the back nine.

Bert Yancey and Jack Nicklaus, one stroke behind Weiskopf overnight, were both four under par after six holes of the second round.

Arnold Palmer also shot a 67 here when he won the 1962 Open by a clear six strokes, but the course has been modified recently, giving Weiskopf the new record.

Palmer, even par at 72 after the first round, dropped four shots today when he went from bunker to bunker on the par three eighth, where Wednesday, Gene Sarazen holed in one. Palmer could have taken some lessons from the 71-year-old Sarazen again today because Sarazen, too, bunkered his tee shot only to hole out for two.

Lee Trevino, three-over-par overnight, dropped to four-over today with two bogeys and a birdie on the front nine.

Gary Player recovered from his first round 76 with a three-under-par 69 today but was still one over par for the tournament at 145.

FOUR UNDER — Tom Weiskopf holds up four fingers to indicate the number of strokes under par he shot in his opening round of the British Open Golf Championship yesterday at Troon, Scotland.

What Spitter? A's Batter Mr. Perry

CLEVELAND (UPI) — If Gaylord Perry throws an illegal pitch, as the Oakland A's claimed Wednesday afternoon, the scoreboard didn't show it.

The world champion A's battered Perry for 12 hits and nine runs enroute to an easy 9-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians at Municipal Stadium.

While the invaders from the west were taking batting practice against Perry, who lasted seven innings before giving way to Tom Hilgendorf in the eighth, Jim "Catfish" Hunter limited the Indians to four hits, including a two-run homer by George Hendrick and a solo shot by Jack Brohamer.

Hunter, now 14-4 for the season, has won nine straight games including six complete games and one shutout.

Phils' Luzinski Shows His Power

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Danny Ozark was impressed by Greg Luzinski but not suprised.

Ozark, manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, witnessed Luzinski drive in three runs with a pair of tape measure home runs Wednesday night to highlight a 6-5 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Luzinski connected after Willie Montanez' double in the seventh inning to put Philadelphia in front 6-5. The ball cleared the giant leftfield scoreboard over 415 feet from the plate and standing 80 feet high.

In the sixth inning, Luzinski hit a solo shot into the leftfield upper deck, giving him three titanic home runs in two nights and 15 for the year. Luzinski, in his second year in the majors, now has 57 runs batted in.

"Those three home runs must total 1,800 feet," Ozark said. "There have been only 12 balls hit into the upper deck of Veterans Stadium and he's hit three in the last two nights." Luzinski's second homer of the night was the longest ball ever hit at the Phils' new ballpark.

Luzinski already is ahead of last year's pace when he finished with 18 homers. He didn't hit his 15th homer last season until Sept. 15 and didn't drive in his 57th run until Sept. 13.

Hank Aaron, who returned to the Braves' lineup, contributed a double and two singles in five at-bats to pace Atlanta's offensive effort. Aaron doubled in the first inning and had singles in the third and fifth. He flied out to leftfield close to the left field foul line in the seventh inning and hit into a force play in the ninth.

In other games Los Angeles defeated St. Louis 3-1, San Francisco ripped Chicago 7-3, Pittsburgh trounced San Diego 10-2, Montreal edged Cincinnati 4-3, and Houston defeated New York 7-1.

Willie Davis hit a two-run homer off Bob Gibson with one out in the first inning and the Dodgers went on to beat St. Louis behind the seven-hit pitching of Don Sutton.

Sutton improved his record to 11-5 while Gibson, who was removed for a pinch-hitter in the seventh, was tagged with his ninth defeat against eight wins. Sutton struck out 11 to take over the National League strikeout lead with 129.

Willie Stargell cracked the 302nd home run of his career to set a Pittsburgh club record as the Pirates turned back San Diego. Stargell's fifth inning blast with the bases-empty was his 25th this year and his 12-year career figure wiped out Ralph Kiner's mark of 301 set over seven seasons with Pittsburgh.

Kiner wound up his career in the American League with a lifetime total of 369.

Hal Breeden, whose two errors contributed to two unearned Cincinnati runs, singled home the winning run in the seventh inning as the Expos edged the Reds. The game was tied 2-2 going into the seventh when Pepe Frias led off with a triple and winning pitcher Steve Renko doubled him home to give the Expos a 3-2 lead.

Breeden's single drove home Renko with what proved to be the winning run as Bobby Tolan homered for Cincinnati in the eighth inning.

Lee May hit a two-run homer and Skip Jutze drove in two runs with three singles to give Houston its victory over the Mets behind the 10-hit pitching of Dave Roberts.

TUCKERED OUT — Those first few days of training camp can be rough on any player. New England Patriots' defensive back George Hoey took a break yesterday, using his helmet for a pillow, during workouts on the University of Massachusetts campus.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The American League's Eastern Division race this season may be remembered as a battle among old and ailing designated pinch-hitters.

Most AL managers agreed before the season that Orlando Cepeda would be a key DH for the Boston Red Sox and that the Detroit Tigers were virtually a team of designated hitters. Then the New York Yankees acquired Jim Ray Hart as a DH and he promptly became a key man in their pennant fortunes.

And now come the Orioles with a star designated hitter of their own in Tommy Davis, who once upon a time (the years were 1962 and 1963) led the National League in batting twice.

Davis, who was on the roster of the Orioles' Rochester club in the International League in the spring and had gained permission to negotiate with a Japanese team, is having the type of season which can be enjoyed only in the wonderful world of DHs. He's knocking the brains out of rival pitchers and hasn't yet had to haul his aching body into a defensive situation.

Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles speculated Wednesday night—after Davis stretched his hitting streak to 11 games with three singles in a 7-1 victory over the California Angels—that Tommy might yet see action in the field. Weaver was referring to the possibility that Davis might play first base for the Orioles in the World Series.

Detroit routed Texas 14-2, the Yankees shaded Chicago 2-1, Oakland beat Cleveland 9-3, Milwaukee downed Kansas City 8-1 and Minnesota blanked Boston 3-0 in other AL games.

Davis, who previously had an 18-game hitting streak from May 22 to June 16, singled off Nolan Ryan in the second, third and fifth innings and Boog Powell hit his seventh homer off the California fireballer in the sixth inning to lead the Baltimore attack. Mike Cuellar yielded 10 hits but raised his record to 5-9 while Ryan struck out 11 but saw his record drop to 10-11.

Davis has gone 16-for-43 for a .350 average during his current 11-game hitting streak and says his goal is "to drive in 80 runs this season."

Sparky Lyle received credit for his 23rd save after halting a White Sox rally in the ninth. Ron Blomberg homered in the second inning and Horace Clarke singled home the Yankees' second run in the fourth. Steve Stone suffered his fifth defeat against four wins for the White Sox.

Darrell Porter drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a walk and Eduardo Rodriguez pitched a five-hitter for the Brewers, who dealt Ken Wright of the Royals his third loss against five wins. Don Money and Pedro Garcia contributed three hits each to Milwaukee's nine-hit attack.

Bert Blyleven pitched a six-hitter for his seventh shutout and 12th win and Tony Oliva hit a two-run double for the Twins. John Curtis lost his eighth game as the Red Sox suffered their third loss in their last 13 games.

FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Namath Will Be A Late Arrival At Jets' Camp

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The sighting of the first robin is the harbinger of spring.

The blooming of the cherry blossom is the forerunner of summer.

And the absence of Joe Namath is a signal that the New York Jets' training camp has opened.

For the fourth time in the last five years, Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank has given the quarterback permission to report late to training camp.

This year, Namath has some television commitments to fulfill, necessitating the late start for the 30-year-old quarterback.

Ewbank said he granted Namath's request willingly, considering the quarterback's previous record in pre-season drills.

"In these two-a-day practices, Joe works too hard," said Ewbank. "His arm gets sore and his legs swell up, and when they have to drain his knees, it's a mess."

So Ewbank will use the time to give a thorough look to the four other quarterbacks in the Jets' camp: Al Woodall, who spent last season on the taxi squad; Don Gault, Bill Demory and Jim Foote.

Ermal Allen, 52, a member of the Dallas Cowboys coaching staff since 1962, was reported in fair condition at a California hospital after apparently suffering a heart attack. Rookie wide receivers Mike Ames of Cal Poly and Eric Cross of Stanford, left camp voluntarily.

Gary Hrivnak, a lineman from Purdue, signed with the Chicago Bears. Hrivnak, used at defensive end and tight end for the Boilermakers, will play defensive tackle for Chicago.

The Philadelphia Eagles placed running back Larry Crowe and linemen Bill Farrell and Sid Bailey on waivers after each failed the physical.

The Buffalo Bills placed guard Jim Reilly on waivers.

Rookie Scott Lewis of Grambling was missing from the Houston Oilers camp and was waived.

Linebacker Mike Kutter quit the New England Patriots after Wednesday's practice.

Fregosi To Become A Ranger Regular

DETROIT (UPI) — Texas Manager Whitey Herzog said Wednesday Jim Fregosi, obtained earlier in the day from the New York Mets, will probably become a regular in the Rangers infield.

"I'm not bringing him over here to just sit around," Herzog said. "He'll be playing somewhere. I want to see if he can regain some of his old form."

Indications are he will play at third base until injured Toby Harrah returns to the lineup and then he'll go to shortstop.

The Rangers have had many problems this season not the least of which has been the right side of the infield. Joe Lovitto started the season at third and Harrah was at short.

But Lovitto was weakened by a cold and never regained strength. Harrah was moved over to third and Jim Mason was inserted at shortstop. Then Harrah broke a finger and Mason went into a prolonged batting slump. Centerfielder Vic Harris was asked to play third base and Pete Mackanin was called up from Spokane of the Pacific Coast League.

But Mackanin has had just two hits in 32 trips and Harris is making a lot of errors at third. Indications are Mackanin will be back at Spokane shortly with the acquisition of Fregosi.

"The addition of Fergosi doesn't mean we're planning to send anyone out just yet," Herzog said before his club took a 14-2 shellacking at the hands of the Detroit Tigers. "But when Toby does return I imagine some changes will be made. As far as Mackanin is concerned, he's probably over his head right now. All he needs is seasoning."

The Rangers obtained Fregosi and his $90,000 a year salary for a player to be named later.

Fregosi made the American League All-Star team seven times while playing for the California Angels. He went to the Mets in 1971 in the trade that gave the Angels Nolan Ryan. Last year he hit only .232 and his average in the 45 games he's played in this year is .234. He was to join the Rangers today in Boston.

"No, this deal doesn't have anything to do with our youth movement," Herzog said. "We've got Toby hurt and we need infielders. Fregosi is a veteran who could fill a big void for us because he can play third, short, first or left field.

Ousted Grid Coach Gets His Job Back

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — The school board has reinstated Ball High School football coach Joe Woolley, the man who admitted altering the transcript of Oklahoma football star Kerry Jackson.

"I feel real good and relieved," Woolley said today. "I never lost faith in the administration. I felt like they eventually would get down and get all the data."

The board voted 4-3 Wednesday night to reinstate Woolley, 35, for a one-year probationary period. Woolley had been assigned to the school district's maintenance department following his resignation last May.

The board's decision upset the school's seven assistant coaches attending the meeting and they offered their resignations. But after a discussion, assistant coach Leon Beford said the matter would be discussed with school superintendent Eli Douglas before the assistants make any definite decisions.

"I hope they step back and take a look at this because they are fine young men," Woolley said. "I hate to lose anyone."

"The board gave them the option of either resigning and staying on as classroom teachers or they also allowed them to retract their resignations as coaches if they desired," Douglas said. "They have resigned unless they back out."

The board's action overrode a motion by Douglas to rehire Woolley as a health and physical education teacher only.

Jackson, a quarterback, and Mike Phillips, a center, also from Ball, both entered Oklahoma after their transcripts were altered in violation of NCAA rules. The violations were revealed by a Big Eight Conference investigation.

Raider Rookies Open Practice; Stock Car Race At Laguna Seca

Combined AP & UPI

"The only thing we'll change in camp this year is to speed things up," said John Madden the day before he welcomed rookies and free agents to the official opening of training. "With the multiplicities and varied defenses everyone is getting into, we have to start sooner.

On Saturday, the Raiders will present their eighth annual family day. Clinics and demonstrations on various phases of offensive and defensive play will be conducted and the program is free to the public.

After the clinic, the players will be available for interviews, autographs and picture-taking with fans.

Auto Racing

MONTEREY — The first NASCAR Grand National stock car race ever scheduled by Laguna Seca Raceway will be held Aug. 25-26 this year.

The $20,000 event over 150 miles was confirmed yesterday by Robert Hugill, general manager of the raceway, and Paul Whalehon of the sponsoring Carling Brewing Company.

Basketball

Baseball

Tovar, an infielder-outfielder, was hitting .275 for the Phillies. He came to the club in an off-season deal from the Minnesota Twins. Tovar will be hospitalized for several days and is expected to miss two weeks of playing time.

KANSAS CITY — Outfielder Rick Reichardt, released by the Chicago White Sox June 26, signed with the Kansas City Royals

Football

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Cardinals traded veteran defensive back Dale Hackbart to the Denver Broncos of the National Football League for a future draft choice.

Tennis

BAASTAD, Sweden — Top-seeded Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., advanced to the second round of the $75,000 Swedish International Tennis Championships with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Joaquin Loyo-Mayo of Mexico.

Golf

FLANDERS, N.J. — Tony Marimon of Houston carded a two-under-par 69 and grabbed a one-stroke lead following the opening round of the 48th U.S. Public Links Golf Championship.

Track-Field Meet On Tap In Novato

The annual track and field meet between teams from the playgrounds in Novato will be at 10 a.m., tomorrow at the Novato High School track.

The mini-Olympic meet will include dashes, relays, baseball throws and jumping events. It is sponsored by the Novato Parks and Recreation Department.

Quite A Season For Young Giant Ontiveros In PCL

SAN MATEO (UPI) — Steve Ontiveros of Phoenix continues to lead most offensive categories in the Pacific Coast League, according to statistics released Wednesday.

The Giants' outfielder tops PCL hitters with a .348 batting average, leads in hits with 106, total bases with 179, doubles with 28 and triples with 12 and shares the RBI lead with Len Randle of Spokane, each with 65.

Riggs A Hustler— Just Ask Billie

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nobody likes a hustler, particularly one who evidently enjoys making it his whole life style, but whether you like him or not, there is something redeeming about bouncing Bobby Riggs.

True, he's skittish, even abrasively old-maidish at times, and his persistent prattle about what he can do, or will do, causes some to call him "the white Muhammad Ali" on more than one occasion, but nobody in all sports today has a better time doing what he's doing than Bobby Riggs.

Maybe nobody's more honest either.

Bobby Riggs doesn't know what it means to masquerade. He doesn't parade under false colors or pretend to be somebody he's not either.

Nor does he say things merely to be polite.

His sit-down and get-together with Wimbledon winner Billie Jean King Wednesday at the ritzy Town Tennis Club in midtown Manhattan to announce their historic $100,000 winner-take-all match is as good as example as any.

The date and site of the match have not been decided yet, but Jerry Perenchio, the dapper, affable gentleman who promoted the $5 million Ali-Joe Frazier fight, is putting on this male vs. female confrontation also. He used Wednesday's affair to point out that the 100 big ones going to the winner represent the the greatest single prize ever offered in tennis history.

Riggs was more at ease than Billie Jean. Genuinely more at ease, anyway. The 29-year-old Wimbledon champ tried to match his nonchalance, but she was working at it too hard.

Remember how he presented a bouquet of roses to Margaret Court for Mother's Day before annihilating her in their match two months ago? He was no less gallant with Billie Jean King.

"Here, lemme help you," he said to her, pulling out a chair before the news conference even started so she could sit down.

"Thank you," she said, quietly.

Then the photographers and TV cameramen wanted to record all this for posterity, and as Riggs put both his hands on the ends of the chair, it was Billie Jean who hammed it up, not him.

"C'mon, muscles, pick me up!" she commanded.

Like this:

King: "I figure I'm better than Bobby and I'll beat him. I won't take 431 vitamins either. I might take Geritol though."

King: "I'm not Margaret."

Riggs: "Yeah, but you're going to go out there and get as frustrated as she did. I think you're gonna choke the same way. Look, you're 30 years old and ... "

King: "I'm 29, not 30.

Riggs: "I think women players stink, that's all."

King: "Without us, you wouldn't have this opportunity. You never had it so good."

Riggs really had no answer for that one, so he took off on another subject.

"I made a statement that sex is over at 55," he said, quoting himself.

"It isn't over for us," Billie Jean put in somewhat indignantly.

"How do you know?" Riggs stopped her. "You're not 55 yet."

When the questions and answers were over, I asked Riggs what he honestly thought of Billie Jean King.

"It's the first time I ever met her," he said. "She says she's gonna beat the wax outta me. How can I like a person like that?"

Bobby Riggs was perfectly serious.

When I asked Billie Jean King what she thought of Riggs personally, she dismissed him this way:

"A good talker, that's all."

The two of them got out on the court and warmed up briefly, both of them on the same side hitting the ball across the net to Lornie Kuhle, pro at the Las Vegas Tennis Club.

"Do you feel any difference in the balls?" Riggs called out to Kuhle. "Notice how much harder mine come back at you?"

"He's hustling me already," Billie Jean shook her head.

Among those watching the warmup was an old friend of Riggs, advertising executive Bob Towers, who told a story which offers a penetrating insight into Bobby Riggs.

"I remember running into Bobby in one of the big Miami Beach hotels more than 15 years ago," said Towers. "He was dressed to the nines, wearing what must have been a $50 shirt, $250 sports jacket, $60 slacks and $125 alligator shoes. He was standing outside the health club pitching pennies with this 12-year-old kid who handed out the towels in the health club. I said to him, 'My God, Bobby, what are you doing with this kid?' He kept right on pitching pennies, but took a second to say to me, 'I can't help it—right now this is the only game in town.' "

Enyart Flunks His Physical

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Bill Enyart, formerly with the Oakland Raiders, was one of three men to fail the Green Bay physical Wednesday, all because of bad knees.

Enyart, 235-pound linebacker who spent two years with the Buffalo Bills before his stint with the Raiders last season, had failed the packer physical for the same knee problem at the club's spring training session at Phoenix, Ariz., in April.

The other two newcomers who failed the physical were defensive tackle Jim Anderson and running back Curtis Lewis. Anderson was a 14th round draft choice from Northwestern and Lewis a free agent from Western Michigan. Enyart was also a free agent.

Two Boxers Fined For Hair Too Long

HONOLULU (AP) — The Hawaii State Boxing Commission has fined two flyweight boxers — Carlos Rebancos of The Philippines and Alfredo Gonzales of Mexico — $20 each for defying an order to have their hair cut before a fight last week.

The commission had told the boxers twice to have their hair trimmed before their July 3 match, said Bobby Lee, executive secretary of the commission.

Padres Liable For Suit

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A Superior Court judge has ruled the San Diego Padres are liable for breach of contract and damage suits if the team's new owners go ahead with a plan to move the club to Washington, D.C. But the current parent city is still not happy.

The city attorney's office filed a motion with the Fourth Appellate District Court Wednesday, hours after Superior Court Judge Eli Levenson refused to issue a preliminary injunction to prevent the Padres from being sold.

The city, owner of San Diego Stadium and landlord of the Padres, sought the court action to keep the team in town pending a hearing on a permanent injunction against the sale.

Levenson ruled he had no power to prevent the sale, but said the city could sue the team for breach of contract.

The city had a 20-year contract with the team until 1988 and said loss of the baseball club would cause irreparable harm.

A 10-day stay on an earlier temporary restraining order blocking the sale until the appellate court rules is still in effect.

Nichols Captures Pro-Am

ROBINSON, Ill. (UPI) — With four former champions in the field of 144, picking a favorite in the sixth Shrine-Robinson Open Golf Classic was treacherous business.

The tourney at Crawford County Country Club course with a purse of $125,000 an increase of $25,000 over last year, opens today and will end Sunday.

Bobby Nichols of Akron, Ohio, picked up some backing in the pro-am Wednesday, leading the field with a 65, including an eagle deuce on the 414-yard 10th hole.

"I don't know what it will take to win it, but I'd like to have a couple more 65s and take my chances," Nichols said.

George Archer, who finished second in a sudden-death playoff to George Knudson in the 1970 Robinson tourney, believes it will take at least 15 under par to win the 72-hole grind over a par 71, 6,556-yard layout.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

The Scuff Is Rough

By LEE TREVINO

Scuffing means hitting behind the ball. It's like trying to placekick a football, then stubbing your toe behind it. Either way, the ball won't get any higher than a chigger's kneecaps.

Your stance and how you shift your weight are most responsible for scuffing. Take your stance with your feet spread about even with your shoulders. Then bang down on the ball.

A scuff happens when golfers shift their weight to the right foot on the backswing — and leave it there. They try to hit the ball without shifting their weight to the left. When they dip their right side coming down, they hit the ground.

A ball is like an airplane, which rises because of reduced pressure over the wings as the plane accelerates. A ball climbs when it's squeezed against the turf by a club, causing a backspin that makes it soar. Trying to pick the ball up with the clubface gives it overspin and causes a nosedive.

Drive the ball into the ground and there ain't any way you'll scuff it. 'Course, you may cut it. But it'll go closer to the hole.

Toby's Truckers '9' Remains Unbeaten

Toby's Truckers remained undefeated in Joe DiMaggio baseball play with a 5-4 win over Annex Motors at Novato High School yesterday.

In other league action, Rohnert Park walloped Bank of Marin, 9-2, at Terra Linda High School.

Toby's Truckers scored twice in the top of the fifth inning to take over the lead, with the winning run scoring on a bases loaded walk to Rich Speidel. Toby's hurlers Mike Haas and Tom Cronin combined for 13 strikeouts.

Rohnert Park's victory was more of an offensive display, featuring a two-run home run by Marshall Brant in the sixth inning. Brant's shot cleared the fence in left field, a 350-foot drive.

Perry, making his 23rd start of the year, was touched for a run in the first after Campaneris was hit by a pitched ball and scored on Jackson's single. Sal Bando hit his 17th homer in the third and Oakland pushed across three runs in the fourth and another in the fifth.

Jackson walked, took third on Joe Rudi's single and scored on a fielder's choice in the seventh before the A's chased Perry in with two runs in the eighth.

The A's, who moved into today's game at Milwaukee 1 ½ games ahead of runner-up Kansas City in the American League West, send Vida Blue (7-5) to the mound in the opener of the four-game set with the Brewers.

Spitz' Records Broken

Combined AP & UPI

TEL AVIV — Two American specialties headed today's events in the ninth Maccabiah Games with the Americans already holding a big lead over Israel in the over-all medals race.

The United States moved ahead of the Israelis after making a big splash in Wednesday's swimming competition and erasing Olympic star Mark Spitz' previous Maccabiah records.

American swimmers captured all three medals in the men's 100-meter butterfly, with Andrew Lehner of Caldwell, N.J., leading the pack with a time of 58.3 seconds, followed by Sam Franklin of Tustin, Calif., and Jeff Latz of Tempe, Ariz.

Wendy Paskin of Encino, Calif., won the women's 100-meter butterfly in 1:07.6, a Maccabiah record, and then anchored the victorious women's 400-meter freestyle relay team.

The U.S. had a total of 35 medals after two days competition, 16 gold. The Israelis followed with 24, including nine first place medals.

Israeli security forces were maintaining their strict surveillance of the sporting events, determined not to allow a tragedy similar to the massacre of 11 Israeli sportsmen at last September's Munich Olympics by Arab guerrillas.

The Americans suffered an unexpected setback in boxing competition late Wednesday when Terry Schwartz lost to the Dutch light welterweight Tony Waterman.

Israeli television commentators ran into one unexpected problem in covering a U.S.-Canadian preliminary basketball game. The United States started two players named Cohen and Canada played with three.

Northgate Advances In Babe Ruth

SONOMA — Northgate Marin came up with two runs in the top of the fifth inning yesterday to take a 3-1 baseball game from San Anselmo in the Babe Ruth League Tournament at Arnold's Field.

In other tournament games yesterday, Santa Rosa unleashed a 10-hit attack to wallop Central Marin, 10-1.

While being supported by nine singles and a double, Santa Rosa hurler Roy Pensati threw a three-hitter at Central Marin. He recorded eight strikeouts.

Light-Hitter Wins In Trans-Miss

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) — Opponents often are embarrassed when they lose to Frank Rose on the golf course. But their numbers are growing.

Once, after losing to the 25-year-old insurance actuary from Topeka, Kan., a foe said, "He doesn't hit the ball hard enough to make it bounce off a concrete wall."

The former University of Nebraska player, winner of the Kansas Amateur two of the last three years, is making his third appearance in the TransMississippi Amateur golf tournament. The previous two years he lost his first-round match, but he reversed that trend Wednesday with a 5 and 3 victory over Teddy Sliman of New Iberia, La.

Rose, at 125 pounds, is not a long knocker, but he's accurate and he can putt with anyone. Off the tee, though, he's often out-hit 50 yards or more.

"That really doesn't bother me too much in match play," Rose said. "I'm not built big, so I'm not going to hit the ball that far. What counts is hitting your second shot inside the other guy."

"This is an important tournament for me because I don't play in that many," said Rose. "Maybe I'm over the hump now that I've won that first match."

Rose's second-round foe will be Mike Milligan, a 20-year-old University of Houston junior who upset William Hyndman III, 2 and 1. The 57-year-old Hyndman won the medal with 69-68--137, 10 strokes better than Milligan.

Milligan admitted he'd never heard of the five-time Walker Cup player until he was paired against him. "Then all these people bombarded me with all the information about how great he is," said Milligan, one of four Houston players who made the championship flight.

Milligan broke away from Hyndman with a par on No. 15 when the latter missed the green and failed to get up and down. Then Milligan canned a 15-foot birdie putt at No. 16 to clinch the verdict.

Defending champion Ben Crenshaw opened defense of his title with a 5 and 4 victory over Warren Aune of Dallas, Tex. Crenshaw was three under par when he closed out the match with birdies on Nos. 14 and 15.

John Brown Signs Pro Cage Contract

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Atlanta Hawks have signed two of their first round draft choices, Dwight Jones from the University of Houston and John Brown from the University of Missouri.

Brown, a 6-7, 220-pound forward, set a scoring record at Missouri with 1,421 points in three years.

'Forza' Wins Yacht Race

HALIFAX, Canada (UPI) — Norman Raben of Bedford Village, N.Y., skippered La Forza del Destino through the stormy Atlantic Ocean to capture first place for A class yachts in the Marblehead-to-Halifax yacht race Tuesday.

Only five yachts, all A class boats, had finished the 360-mile race by early today and race officials said because of the poor weather they did not expect the rest of the 109 boats to sail in until late tonight.

Raben was the first of five American Yachts to sail into Halifax in the pouring rain Tuesday night.

Tournament Time In Little League

It's tournament time again in Little League, which means that two months of playing, hoping and praying come down to one week of action for some, more for a lucky few, but less for most.

There will be two Marin County tournaments starting next week and another the following week. The team championship and the Senior Division champinnship are next week followed by the All-Star competition.

The team championship will begin Monday and run through the week with the title game to be played Saturday. The team competition is a single elimination tournament which pits the winners of each of 17 Marin County leagues, with the tourney winner declared the district champion. This year, San Anselmo will be fielding a team for the first time.

The Senior, which also runs Monday through Saturday, is smaller with just four league champions competing. The senior is for boys 13-15 and the tournament will be double elimination.

The All-Star tournament is the only one in which the players will be shooting for more than a county title. Each Little League will present an All-Star squad which will compete on a single elimination basis. The winner of the tournament (July 23-28) earns the right to go on in national competition which might eventually culminate in a berth at the little league world series held annually in Williamsport, Pa.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Federal Government Guarantee On Bonds

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Could you tell me if the following bonds are guaranteed by the U.S. government: World Bank, Federal Land Bank, Federal National Mortgage Association and U.S. Postal Service? — R.V.

A. Of these four, only World Bank bonds carry a direct government guarantee as to timely payment of principal and interest. The International Bank For Reconstruction and Development — World Bank — issues bonds, which carry AAA ratings, in $1,000 minimum denominations. At this time World Bank Bonds are yeidling 7.1 per cent to 8.1 per cent to maturity. Interest is fully taxable.

FNMA, a government-sponsored enterprise oeprating in conjunction with the Dept. of Housing and Urban Development, is entirely owned by shareholders. This corporation offers three different types of debt security: debentures, which are now issued in denominations of $10,000 and up; mortgage-backed bonds, and short-term discount notes. The latter are of little interest to most individual investors since $50,000 constitutes the minimum purchase. Mortgage-backed bonds, available in $25,000 pieces, are guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association, and the full faith and credit of the United States. This guarantee, however, does not apply to FNMA debentures, which are backed solely by that enterprise.

Thus far the U.S. Postal Service — now under the exeucitve branch of the government — has only one outstanding debt obligation. This issue is not backed by the government but the Postal Service may request such a guarantee if it is considered expedient. The bond enjoys state and local but not federal tax exemption. Minimum denomination is $10,000.

The final bonds which you ask about, issued by Twelve Federal Land Bank (TFLB), may be purchased in $1,000 amounts. Interest is not exempt from federal taxation, although it is exempt from local and state taxes. This government-sponsored enterprise is under the supervision of the Farm Credit Administration. Bonds, which are the joint and several obligation of TFLB, are secured in equal amounts by notes, mortgages and government securities. The issues of all four agencies are considered second to government securities in safety.

(Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally, but will answer all questions possible in his column.)

This tent-like attachment, which fits most of the new compact runabouts coming from Detroit this year, serves as dressing room, cabana, sleeping quarters and catch-all for a weekend outing for a father and son. The Hatchback Haven is a new product being marketed by Covercraft Industries of Chatsworth, Calif. It can be set up and dismantled in a few minutes.

Stocks Vary, Dollar Drop Is Blamed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices on the New York Stock Exchange turned mixed in moderate trading around noon today. Analysts said there was some concern over the renewed decline of the dollar on foreign markets, and some profit taking after a three-day rally.

The value of the dollar, which had risen in the past three days, declined on many foreign markets. Its recovery had been considered a major factor in this week's stock market rally, analysts said.

They said investors were disturbed there was no evidence central banks were supporting the dollar, as had been indicated strongly yesterday.

Ford Motor Co., which raised its quarterly dividend, was the most active issue, off ⅛ at 56 on 110,400 shares.

Prices improved slightly on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading. American Agronomics was the most active issue, off 1 at 2 ⅛ on 224,000 shares, including a block of 194,800 shares at 1 ¾.

Greek, Israeli Import Store Will Replace Mix 'N Match

Greek Islands, a new store specializing in Greek and Israeli imports, will open tomorrow afternoon at 1208 Fourth Street in San Rafael at the former site of Mix 'N Match.

Coffee and Greek dessert called baklava will be served from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and Greek dancers will perform both inside the store and in the sidewalk area.

The new store is owned by Daniel and Irene Kazakes, who have operated Athena West in the Village Fair in Sausalito for the past five years.

Greek Islands will carry Greek and Israeli folk dancing and belly dancing records, as well as clothing, jewelry, kaftans (long, hand-woven garments with hood in the back), Greek sports shirts for men, and other gift items.

Harry N. Moen Jr. of San Rafael will manage the new store, which will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and from noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

JOE H. WOODS of Beltone of Marin, 808 Third Street in San Rafael, won a diploma for completing Beltone Electronics Corporation's national sales management training sessions in Fresno.

Woods is the local dealer for Beltone, Chicago-based firm specializing in hearing aids and electronic hearing test instruments.

Roach

CHARLES H. ROACH of San Rafael, marketing and sales manager of Foremost Foods Co., took over this month as 32nd president of the San Francisco Advertising Club. He succeeds outgoing President Keith Lanning, also of San Rafael.

Other Marin residents elected to serve with Roach are Lyman McBride of San Rafael, vice president; and directors Richard T. Clarke of Tiburon, Donald G. Dickey of Mill Valley, Jack Miller of San Rafael, Patricia A. Pope of Marinwood, and Jon T. Werolin of Mill Valley.

BUTCHER BLOCK tables will be featured in a new department to be opened next week at the Chair Place store in San Rafael at Fourth Street and Tamalpais Avenue.

Owner Karel Langer sais he will have butcher blocks of two-inch hardrock maple of various sizes, with a large assortment of bases.

HOEFER, DIETERICH & Brown Inc. of San Francisco has been appointed to handle the national corporate advertising for Dean Witter & Co., the fifth largest securities investment firm in the country. The advertising agency is headed by John H. Hoefer of Belvedere.

The appointment was announced by Thomas W. Witter, executive vice president of Dean Witter & Co.

CATHERINE WAYCOTT of Mill Valley has joined the staff of Land Investors Research in Larkspur as research associate. Mrs. Waycott will be responsible for acquisition and analysis of commercial properties.

She has worked in real estate in the Bay Area for three years, concentrating on property management, both commercial and residential.

ROSS VALLEY REPORTER, headquartered in San Anselmo, is not being sold or merged, according to owner Frank Turner.

Turner said he did have some discussions with Eric Colby of the Terra Linda News on a possible merger or sale, but nothing came of the talks.

BELL SAVINGS and Loan Association named Marjorie J. Beal of San Mateo as director of advertising and community relations.

Fred F. Enemark of San Rafael, president of Bell Savings, announced the appointment. Mrs. Beal was formerly vice president of Giulie, Smith and Beal Inc. of Sunnyvale and has 20 years of advertising experience.

ROSS STORES Inc., which has an outlet in Novato, will open its fifth and largest junior department store at the new Alamo Shopping Center in Vacaville next year.

Ross department stores are located in San Bruno, Pacifica, Novato, and Redwood City.

JOHN W. QUIMBY of Marinwood was appointed head of the U.S. Small Business Administration's community economic development division for Region 9, headquartered in San Francisco.

Quimby had been district director of the Small Business Administration office in San Diego since 1965. He served 17 years as secretary-treasurer of the Central Labor Council for San Diego and Imperial Counties.

LEAGUE OF THE FORMERLY Fat, which specializes in weight control through natural means, has changed its name to THIN (Total Health Improvement Naturally).

THIN is located at 3000 Bridgeway in Sausalito. Shirley Silliphant of Mill Valley, co-owner, said the new name is better suited to the firm's nutritional method of weight control with no painful exercises or drugs.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Bike Rider Should Use More Caution

Because of the increasing popularity of bicycling as a sport and a secondary means of transportation, automobile drivers tend to exercise more caution in the interests of their more vulnerable brethren.

At the same time, the bicyclists appear to be getting bolder, and in some instances foolhardy in the use of public streets, particularly in congested city traffic where the crawling pace of automobiles gives them courage to take chances that would be fatal on highways.

WE REFER TO the cyclists who take liberties with traffic laws, riding the wrong way on one-way streets and riding against traffic on two-way streets.

Marin County and state have taken pains to provide special lanes for exclusive use of bicycles and installing bike route signs along public streets for their convenience and protection.

IT IS TRUE that the bicycle path system in Marin has not been developed as yet to the point where a cyclist can pedal non-stop from the Golden Gate Bridge to Sonoma County on exclusive lanes. However, facilities that have been installed in the last eight years are sufficiently scattered to give most bike enthusiasts a nearby location where they can pedal to their hearts' content in relative safety.

Where public thoroughfares must be used, the cyclist cannot depend entirely on the courtesy and alertness of the automobile driver to protect him; he must also watch out for his own safety. There is little excuse for flagrant violations of traffic laws such as riding the wrong way on one-way streets or weaving in and out between cars.

MOST EXPERIENCED bicyclists and bike club members in Marin are well aware of the major cycling paths laid out for them. For the newcomer or the uninitiated, we list a few of the bike paths that have proved comparatively safe, although the element of danger is always present.

The Bear Valley Trail at Point Reyes National Seashore is an excellent 10-mile round trip for the entire family. Leave your car at the national park headquarters near Olema and follow trail maps.

The Paradise Drive loop on the Tiburon Peninsula, covering about 20 miles in all, is also a good one. From the Strawberry Shopping Center, the cyclist can take the frontage road south to Strawberry Drive and follow the lagoon to Tiburon Boulevard. Side roads enable the cyclist to avoid heavily-traveled Tiburon Boulevard most of the way into Tiburon. From Tiburon, he can take Paradise Drive past Paradise County Beach to Trestle Glen firehouse, then back to Tiburon Boulevard or straight ahead toward Corte Madera.

THERE ARE MANY other bike loops such as the Cascade Canyon loop in Mill Valley, China Camp loop in San Rafael, Angel Island for those who care to take the ferry from Tiburon, the Ross to Fairfax route, Tennessee Valley road, and others. Detailed information on these are available at major bicycle shops or through biking groups.

By exercising mutual courtesy and caution, there is no reason why bicycles and automobiles cannot maintain peaceful co-existence in Marin.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Letters for "What Our Readers Say" are welcomed. To be published, they must bear the writer's signature and address (only the city will be printed, but street or post office box address must be included.) Try to limit letters to 200 words. The editors reserve the right to cut long letters, or to reject any that may be libelous or in bad taste.

American Legion Invites Membership

San Rafael's own American Legion organization, Wilkens Post No. 37, urges all veterans who are interested in keeping up the camaraderie they knew in the armed forces, who wish to become actively involved in the building of a new home for the Post, who believe in an active Americanism, who wish to join the fight for veteran's benefits and rights and who would like to share in an ever-widening program of social activities, to take this opportunity to join its ranks today.

A call to membership chairman, Comrade Bert Miller, will accomplish what little work which is necessary to join. Members of other veterans organizations who are not Legionaires are actively encouraged to seek membership in Wilkens Post No. 37 as well.

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter. The American Legion has always found it could count on the I-J for coverage of its activities.

Marin Child Center Did Not Overspend

The Marin Child Development Center appreciates the Independent-Journal's coverage of its activities and of the center's much needed treatment role in children with emotional and developmental problems.

On July 3, 1973, you printed a story that the center was receiving funds for a staff training program to start in September. You also reported that "the center is one of three Marin facilities which supply psychiatric care and have been mentioned in recent reports of overspending beyond regular budgets."

The following statistics should be of interest to you: During fiscal year 1972-1973 the Medi-Cal amount budgeted for Marin Child Development Center was $12,000. The center billed Medi-Cal a total of $8,208.76. Incidentally, this amount was just recently paid for services rendered the entire year.

You can readily see that not only was the total amount assigned to the center relatively small in comparison to the funds in question but in contrast to what may be interpreted from the news releases, these figures show that Marin Child Development Center actually underspent its budget.

We Will Weather The Storms Of Life

Some good quotes from an American, once again, Emerson, Conduct of Life, Wealth:

"Poverty demoralizes. A man in debt is so so far a slave, and Wall Street thinks it easy for a millionaire to be a man of his word, a man of honor, but in failing circumstances no man can be relied on to keep his integrity."

"The world is full of fops who never did anything and who had persuaded beauties and men of genius to wear their fop livery: and these will deliver the fop opinion, that it is not respectable to be seen earning a living; that it is much more respectable to spend without earning a living; and this doctrine of the snake will come also from the elect sons of light; for wise men are not wise at all hours, and will speak five times from their taste or humor, to once from their reason."

Out of context, perhaps, but in light of now. I must add that we will weather the storms of life, like the curious and nervous raccoons, a few differences of behavior, one a little more likely to starve than the other.

Soybean, Cottonseed Embargo Plays Havoc On World Market

WASHINGTON — Doubts about who is minding the store come into sharp focus in the flap over imposing an export embargo on soybeans and cottonseed and the oil produced from them. Though the embargo was designed to insure against food shortages here at home, the consequences in world markets and the blow to the already battered American dollar seem scarcely to have been considered.

The decision was taken by President Nixon. Reports out of the fastness of San Clemente have it that he passed on the order to Gen. Alexander Haig who replaced H. R. Haldeman as chief of staff in the White House. Having spent his life in the military service Haig's knowledge of the economy is, to say the least, limited.

He is said to have consulted Melvin R. Laird, now personal adviser to the President on domestic affairs, who was out of the country at the time. When Haig read the proposed embargo order Laird reportedly replied that he could see nothing wrong with it.

THE EMBARGO produced a furious outcry in Western Europe and Japan where in recent years dependence has grown on imports of American soybeans and feed grains.

This had the look of a deliberate blow at the very time Washington was trying to work out an understanding with the European Common Market on agricultural prices.

In France and Germany the peasant farmer stoutly resists any interference from the outside with the high price structure of European agriculture.

Eight days after the embargo was announced it was relaxed with the approval of limited shipments of soybeans and soybean products. Still later, export controls were ordered on 41 more farm products in the category of livestock feed and edible oils.

It would be hard to imagine any course more likely to cause confusion and uncertainty at home and abroad.

WHAT MAKES THE whole business seem more self-defeating is the way it went contrary to the prime necessity if the trade imbalance is to be righted. That is the export of America's agricultural produce. With a maximum of efficiency and at remarkably low labor costs, this is far and away the best bet. Soybeans, feed grains and allied products are in increasing demand for cattle as the developed world puts more beefsteak on the table.

Food shortages in this country are imminent if one can accept the reports from commodity markets around the country. But exports have comparatively little to do with this threat. The huge grain sale to the Soviet Union last year did, it is true, run down surpluses.

But the real threat grows out of the interim price ceiling. With no ceiling on raw agricultural produce, processors are screaming to high heaven that they cannot accept prices fixed as of June 13 while their raw material costs continue to climb.

YOUNG CHICKS are being dumped. Tomatoes are likely to disappear from the supermarkets. In short, the confusion in the store, whether in San Clemente or in Washington, is compounded as pressures mount to end this uncertain interval and move up to across-the-board price controls.

Haig's new role is at striking variance with his previous government service. As deputy to Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security, he did yeoman service.

After President Nguyen Van Thieu came to an open break with Kissinger over the Vietnam peace terms Haig several times made emergency flights to Saigon to face the Vietnamese tiger in his lair.

WHILE HE KNEW about the bugging Kissinger had ordered of one or more of his staff, Haig nevertheless went out to Los Angeles to testify for the prosecution in the Pentagon Papers trial of Daniel Ellsberg. His foreknowledge was apparently his only involvement in the Watergate mess.

Having been named Deputy Chief of Staff of the Army before the Watergate crash, Haig gets marks for his willingness to surrender this post and put his military career to one side.

Nevertheless, the question of his capacity in such a wide-ranging domestic assignment remains. And the way the soybean quadrille was mismanaged adds a touch to that doubt.

Nixon Counts On Aides To Rebut Dean Charges

By EUGENE V. RISHER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has drawn his perimeter of defense in the Watergate case a little tighter.

The net effect of the President's action in refusing to allow the Senate Watergate Committee to see presidential documents is that White House aides — current or former — may testify before the committee but they cannot document their testimony from presidential papers.

THE COMMITTEE, seeking to avoid a constitutional quarrel with the President, quietly suggested that they be invited to the White House for informal talks with him and that specific documents be furnished to substantiate points in the testimony and clarify conflicts.

But Nixon rejected both of these ideas as an "erosion" of presidential prerogative.

With some of Nixon's closest personal and political associates coming before the committee, the President informed Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., that he would not "under any circumstances" testify personally before the group.

AS FOR THE presidential documents he refused to allow members to see, these cover any papers generated by the President or his aides since Jan. 20, 1969 — the day he took office.

In his letter to Ervin, Nixon said he was taking the action because of his duty to uphold the constitutional separation of powers under which each of the three, equal branches of government is not answerable to another.

HE POINTED OUT that in an earlier concession to the Senate's investigation, he had lifted the "executive privilege" of those current and former aides the committee wants to question, making them available to assist in the inquiry.

He said he would answer further questions about his own role in connection with Watergate at "an appropriate time" (in mid-August after the current phase of the hearings ends, his aides said) but gave no indication of what forum it would be in.

A NEW RUMOR floating through Washington is that Nixon would address a joint session of Congress on the Watergate case and then submit to questioning by its members.

The theory was that he preferred this more formal forum to a free-wheeling news conference with reporters who have not had a chance to question him since last March 15.

WHITE HOUSE OFFICIALS privately are leaving open the possibility of an appearance before a joint session but speculate that questions from the floor would not be tolerated.

They say the President has not yet made up his mind how he will respond to the various charges of wrong-doing leveled at him by his former counsel, John W. Dean III.

Clearly, he hopes that the testimony from John N. Mitchell and White House loyalists John D. Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman will counter some of the damage from Dean and create a better climate in which to respond.

New Regulations Would Improve Care Of Elderly

By EARL G. WATERS

The quality of care provided those in nursing homes has been examined and found wanting. As a result measures designed to tighten regulations, strengthen enforcement and provide alternatives is being moved through the legislature.

The proposals result from more than a year's study by the Joint Committee on Aging headed by Assemblyman Leo T. McCarthy. It reached its conclusions after taking the testimony of over 100 witnesses and receiving in evidence hundreds of communications.

THE McCARTHY COMMITTEE was a bi-partisan effort and the legislation is co-authored by all six committeemen. It is an excellent demonstration of legislators working together for the public good. But McCarthy has been the driving force behind the investigations and the legislation.

The committee findings are supported by Attorney General Evelle Younger who established an advisory commission which made a concurrent study. Younger assisted in the drafting of new enforcement laws.

MOST DISTURBING was the finding that a large percentage of the 80,000 Californians confined to 1300 nursing homes licensed by the state are living under "intolerable conditions". That is a serious indictment and screams for remedy.

In assessing the blame for those conditions McCarthy said "that a partnership of much of the nursing home industry and state government is responsible."

His reference was to reimbursement rates established by the state for Medi-Cal patients. But those who have had relatives or friends in convalescent homes know that poor care is not limited to Medi-Cal patients. Such care too often is the fate of those supported by private funds at maximum rates.

CAUSES FOR THE poor care were attributed to "inadequate staff-patient ratios" and "an extraordinary staff turnover." Simply stated they don't have enough help and what help they have they don't pay enough.

Also faulted was the lack of restorative programs including physical therapy and worthwhile recreational activities. And no programs to relieve the "deadening monotony of existence" by providing outside trips.

ALTHOUGH McCARTHY was unusually critical of the state's Health and Welfare Agency which he said "seems preoccupied with budget cutting rather than better care for the elderly", everyone now seems agreed to getting on with the job of legislating improvements.

The committee package of reforms would assign responsibilities for enforcement to the state health department which would carry out unannounced inspections and assess heavy fines for violations; and to the attorney general who would be empowered to take injunctive action.

Increased Medi-Cal payments along with incentive payments for upgrading services are also provided.

IN SEEKING alternative care programs the bills call for the counties to establish information and counselling services for the elderly, funds for a visiting public health nurse program for senior citizens, training programs for persons to perform housekeeping and personal services, and a special branch within the state health department to provide light 'chore services" for household maintenance tasks and shopping assistance.

"Pssst, lady. Chickens? Hogs? Eggs? Canned goods?"

WHAT OTHER EDITOR'S SAY

Something Had To Give In Federal Price Freeze

(Reprinted from Wall Street Journal)

Maybe it was too much to ask, but we wonder why government price freeze experts didn't foresee the problems their latest experiment would cause for chicken farmers and flour millers.

With grain prices not frozen and rising but with a freeze on grocery items like chicken and flour, something had to happen and there was no way it could be something good.

What's happening is that chicken producers and flour millers are making quick plans to quit raising chickens or milling flour rather than face big losses. According to an article in this paper Monday Texas chicken producer Madison Clement drowned 42,000 five-day-old chicks a few days after the freeze rather than face a loss of 20 to 30 cents per chick from feeding them until they were broilers. At least two flour millers in the central states are faced with the same kind of squeeze and are threatening to stop production. Other industries are likely to be heard from soon.

All those complaints the government was hearing about high food prices have been dealt with decisively by that vigorous action to freeze prices. We can't wait to see what sort of vigorous action will be employed when the complaints start pouring in about the absence in supermarkets of chickens, flour and who knows what else at any price.

Today's complaint is about the television guy who says "we pause for station identification" when he means "brace yourself for more commericals."

"No adjustment of your set is necessary" is TV talk meaning "We're perfectly capable of messing things up without any help from our viewers."

Technical difficulties: Oop's! The string broke.

"Circumstances beyond our control" signifies the station is about to put all the blame on the phone company.

"Filmed earlier for presentation at this more convenient time" warns of another ancient rerun.

Why Harp On Watergate Mess? What About Chappaquiddick?

WASHINGTON — These are difficult times for people who are defending the Nixon Administration. No matter where they go they are attacked by pseudo-liberals, McGovern lovers, heterosexual constitutionalists and paranoid John Dean believers.

As a public service, I am printing instant responses for loyal Nixonites when they are attacked at a party. Please cut it out and carry it in your pocket.

1 — Everyone does it.

2 — What about Chappaquiddick?

4 — The press is blowing the whole thing up.

5 — Whatever Nixon did was for national security.

7 — Are you going to believe a rat like John Dean or the President of the United States?

— — Wait till all the facts come out.

9 — What about Chappaquiddick?

10 — If you impeach Nixon, you get Agnew.

12 — What about Daniel Ellsberg stealing the Pentagon Papers?

13 — It happens in Europe all the time.

14 — People would be against Nixon no matter what he did.

17 — What's the big deal about finding out what your opposition is up to?

18 — The President was too busy running the country to know what was going on.

19 — What about Chappaquiddick?

21 — McGovern would have lost anyway.

22 — Maybe the Committee for the Re-Election of the President went a little too far, but they were just a bunch of eager kids.

23 — I'm not for breaking the law, but sometimes you have to do it to save the country.

25 — Do you realize what Watergate is doing to the dollar abroad?

26 — What about Harry Truman and the deep freeze scandal?

27 — Franklin D. Roosevelt did a lot worse things.

28 — I'm sick and tired of hearing about Watergate and so is everybody else.

29 — This thing should be tried in the courts and not on television.

30 — When Nixon gives his explanation of what happened there are going to be a lot of people in this country with egg on their faces.

31 — My country right or wrong.

32 — What about Chappaquiddick?

33 — I think the people who make all this fuss about Watergate should be shot.

34 — If the Democrats had the money they would have done the same thing.

36 — If you say one more word about Watergate I'll punch you in the nose.

A — If the person is bigger than you: "If you say one more word about Watergate I'm leaving this house."

B — If its' your own house and the person is bigger than you: "What about Chappaquiddick?"

Rohnert Park Pay Raises Remain Open

The Rohnert Park City Council has completed the initial review of its 1973-74 budget, but left open the question of salary increases for most city employees.

Robert Albright, assistant to the city manager, said the council basically left the $1.2 million budget unchanged Tuesday and said it would continue salary review with its negotiator in a closed session next Monday.

The council has already granted 5 per cent salary increases to 40 per cent of the employees represented by the Sonoma County Organization of Public Employees, but still must deal with the remaining 60 per cent.

Albright said the council agreed to add $1,000 to the promotion budget as extra funds for the 11th annual Founder's Day celebration to be held in August. Cecil Flores, celebration chairman, said inflation has increased the cost of festivities.

Councilmen said they would also consider adding $10,000 to the budget for relocation of the animal control center. Residents of apartments adjacent to the center on Southwest Boulevard have complained about noise problems.

A Burglary In Belvedere Denied

Raymond Stanley Glasser, 22, was ordered to appear in court for a preliminary hearing July 17 by Judge Gary W. Thomas.

John Anthony Sargiotto, 23, also of San Francisco, earlier had denied the burglary, and he too was told to be in court July 17 for a preliminary hearing.

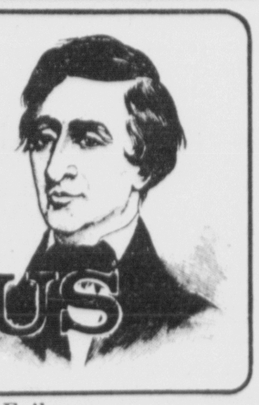
Laundry Looted

A thief who pried open a cash drawer used a key found there to loot washing machine coin boxes of $60 at Fairfax Quick Clean, 77 Broadway Avenue, last Thursday or Friday, police reported yesterday.



FOCUS

Successful Failure

Henry David Thoreau was born 156 years ago today. He is perhaps best known for Walden, or Life in the Woods, a book of essays describing his experiment in basic living at Walden Pond. Thoreau believed in every man's right to live as he wanted to live, holding that this right was part of a moral law superior to statutes and constitutions. In 1846, he went to jail for a short time for refusing to pay taxes during the Mexican War. In 1849, he wrote what later became his most famous essay, "Civil Disobedience." He supported himself by working as a teacher, surveyor, carpenter, and pencil maker. Most who knew him thought Thoreau an eccentric and a failure.

DO YOU KNOW — What part did Thoreau's writings play in India's fight for independence?

WEDNESDAY'S ANSWER — About 75 percent of forest fires are started by lightning.

VEHICLE OF THE FUTURE?

Japan Seeks To Develop Electric Car

By ELIZABETH POND
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

TOKYO — They're used for golf carts in the United States, milk trucks in the United Kingdom, and forklifts everywhere. But they're not on the road commercially because they still have too many snags.

If Osaka city and Japan's Ministry of International Trade and Industry (MITI) have anything to say about it, though, electric cars will be the vehicle of the future.

Osaka has been experimenting with two electric buses for a year, and MITI is financing a five-year, five billion yen project to develop practical electric cars, trucks, and buses. The prototypes are to be tested in October or November of this year, and the full program will extend to 1975.

Battery companies would then like to see a marketable car by 1977.

The aim, of course, is to get a nonpolluting automobile, an essential for a nation that is already clogged with the world's worst pollution. Combustion exhaust is suspected of being the major cause of Tokyo's constant photochemical smog.

The difficulties are the same ones that made the electric car lose out to the gasoline engine in the early years of this century.

Maximum speeds are still slow for today's driving, electric cars lose power rapidly on inclines, electric engines are heavy, and above all, it's a nuisance to recharge batteries every four hours.

In the case of new types of batteries like those utilizing zinc and air, furthermore, the total life of the battery is very short.

Osaka has solved the recharging problem by developing a pit-stop 2½ minute change of the whole power pack (with recharging itself taking four hours). And bus speeds in traffic on flat city streets are well within the 60 to 80 kilometers per hour ceiling of present electric vehicles.

The past year has proved that electric buses are clean, quiet, and popular with commuters. But they just aren't economical.

Hikosaburo Iwahashi, section chief of the maintenance division of the Osaka Traffic Bureau, explained that even under mass production each new electric bus would cost triple a diesel bus. He noted that the cost of pollution has to be weighed too, but the price still looks high to a city that is already running a budget deficit.

Now MITI is commissioning five battery companies to try to overcome these difficulties. In technical terms the goal is to boost performance from the present 30 to 35 watt hours per kilogram up to 50 or 60 watt hours per kilogram. This would mean a battery could run for about eight hours without recharging.

Manufacturers could push present day batteries up to 50 watt hours per kilogram already, by changing the battery structure. But this would burn out the battery in 10 months. Manufacturers are aiming instead for a total life of at least two years.

Present capability — with four-hour operation still only double that of half a century ago — is based essentially on squeezing the most power out of the old-technology lead batteries.

Japanese companies are continuing to experiment with these, but they are also exploring the possibilities of new types — zinc and air, iron and air, and sodium and sulfur. One firm, Shin Kobe Battery Company, hopes to produce up to 80 watt hours per kilogram by use of the new types.

Masayoshi Yoshioka of the research department of Nihon Battery Company, says that Japanese companies are probably ahead of the U.S. in traditional lead batteries, whereas American companies probably lead in the newer types of batteries.

The clean, noiseless, reasonably priced dream car isn't here yet. But it's at least a gleam in the eyes of Japanese engineers.

(even if you can't find the scissors)

You see, we have more services than other banks. Not that you'll use them all. You won't. But it's nice to know every banking need imaginable is covered. And under one roof. More likely, you'll be into things that make day-to-day living simpler. Like the services we describe below. Of course, of greatest importance is how we view the banking relationship. It colors everything we do.

Courteous personal service:

We feel banking is a person-to-person matter. So we value the human touch. With us, your needs are as individual as you are. That's why personal service has always been important at Bank of America.

Personal Choice Checking and Savings:

We have four checking plans to choose from. Beautiful scenic checks, too. And we offer many different savings plans. For example, our regular savings account gives you in-and-out flexibility. And our three new Investors Passbooks earn you 6½% annually for a two and one-half year account, 6% for one year, 5½% annual interest for 90 days. $500 minimum deposit.

Simplified monthly statement:

This statement simplifies balancing your checking account. We call it the Timesaver® Statement. It can even include a summary of your savings accounts and other information if you wish. You can tell at a glance where you stand.

Three ways to finance your car:

Only Bank of America gives you three different ways to finance your car. Ask your auto dealer about our Auto-Magic Financing, the rock-bottom monthly payment plan. Or about leasing.

Then there's our regular auto loan. We've made more of them than any other bank in California. See your dealer or local Bank of America.

Of course, we make loans for just about anything else you can think of, too.

Red Carpet Service:

Our own special system to serve you promptly, save you time. And nobody peers over your shoulder when you transact your business. Most of our offices have it.

Automatic Transfer Service:

Makes regular savings deposits or loan payments for you automatically, from your Bank of America checking account. Saves time, simplifies things. Especially helpful when you're ill or out of town.

More offices up and down the state:

No other bank can say that. Wherever you live or shop or work, you'll always find us close by. So you can cash a check whenever you want. Also, we can transfer your checking and savings accounts wherever you move in the state—save you time and red tape.

BankAmericard:

For everyday shopping convenience, special occasions or emergencies. Good throughout California, the United States and around the world. One monthly bill helps you keep track of expenses.

These coupons represent some real banking values.

- Big savings on Bank of America Travelers Cheques.
- A free Family Financial Planning Kit—first-rate help in planning family goals.
- Your first order of 200 scenic or other premium checks—free.

You can see why we think you should bank with us. More services mean greater scope to meet your needs. As you grow, we're with you. Every step of the way. Let's get better acquainted.
